SPEAKS AT NOON—Mr. J. Watson MacNaught, Q.C., federal Liberal candidate, will speak over radio station CJRW, Summerside, during the noon hour at 12:35 o'clock.

CYLISTS TOUR—Bill Johnston, son of Dr. and Mrs. C. H. Johnson, and his friend, Fred Allo, left Bathurst, N.B. on Monday morning at 7 o'clock and cycled all the way to Summerside to the home of the former's grandmother Mrs. Hammond Johnson arriving on Wednesday at noon. After two days rest these 14-year-old boys left by bicycle for Charlottetown and other points of interest in the Province before returning to their homes.—S

VISITING S'IDE—Among the mainland visitors temporarily in the Summerside area are Mr. and Mrs. James Edwards of Mouth of Keswick (near Fredericton) New Brunswick, and children, Joan and Philip. Mr. Edwards is engaged in the lumber and logging business. Although it is not their first visit, they still enjoy the beautiful scenery and some of what they term the "Maritime Garden". Being avid readers of the "Anne" books, Green Gables was the principal attraction, which they explored to the limit. K.

since his retirement, referring to him as "the elder statesman of Canada on the judicial arm of the constitution." He is now a member of the War Crimes Commission of which Chief Justice Campbell is chairman.

Mr. Justice J. D. Hyndman expressed his thanks and recalled that when he was called to the Bar in that courtroom over 54 years ago he immediately undertook to handle a jury case and won it, recovering $58 damages, and is still one of the finest that he has seen, having a judicial atmosphere which is all too often lacking in much more ornate ones. He recalled various Island barristers and judges whom he had known as a young lawyer particularly the brilliant Frederick Peters of whom he was said that no rewards of the Bar of England were beyond his reach, but he could not give up goose shooting.

stopped truck and paused at the Morrisburg police office to report the hazard. Minutes later, another transport driver, also unidentified, careened dangerously past the little truck, braked, and raced back with flares.

He and the provincial police are reported to have been hearing the scene when the bus reached it. The accident happened at 4:05 a.m. EDT. Frantically, sleep-dazed passengers smashed windows in the darkness and scrambled through the water to shore. Both doors of the bus apparently were buckled shut by the impact.

It was the worst bus tragedy of its kind in Canadian history. On Aug. 15, 1936, 22 were killed in a collision between a truck and train at Louisville, Que.

The 17 passengers who escaped were unhurt, indicating that the bus cleared the steep embankment mostly through the air. The bus driver, Lorne Chesbrough, 30, of Kingston, Ont., and the truck driver, Max Roodman, 40, of Toronto, were taken to Cornwall General Hospital in a state of deep shock.

Police declined to issue an official statement before interviewing the drivers. Neither was in condition at present to be interviewed.

Activities At Experimental Farm
The application of some liquid fertilizer as a foliage spray has been done again this week for the third successive year at the Experimental Farm. Officials are not overly impressed with the result, but are continuing the experiment each year to finally determine the efficacy of the method.

The weather this week was not conducive to having operations, but most of that work has been finished and a good crop harvested. Mr. R. C. Parent noted that throughout the country there is a great deal of hay still out and believes that having should be started earlier. He said that many farmers have a tendency to wait until the hay is full grown but they lose a lot by not starting sooner as frequently much of the hay has gone to seed on the long job and thus loses much of its value.

All harvesting has been completed on the experimental plots at the Farm so far as hay and clover is concerned. This is also true of the various Illustration Stations throughout the Province and on the plots used in soil fertility experiments.

Field Day Plans
At present Farm officials are busily engaged in plans for the field days to be held on the stations next week. These will be on the farms of T. Albert Hicken, Ailston; William E. Johnstone and Son, Long River; and Zenon Gallant, Urbanville. At these meetings Farm officials will discuss with the gatherings the various types of work being undertaken on the Stations and assist in any way in problems being encountered by local farmers. Hon. C. C. Baker, Minister of Agriculture, and Mr. W. E. Shaw, Deputy Minister, will also briefly speak at the second and third meetings.

Mr. Parent noted that general crops have had excellent growing weather and said there was a remarkable pickup in potato fields in the past two weeks. He also remarked that this year the grain has a luxuriant appearance. Two visitors are expected to arrive at the Farm next week. They are Dr. T. M. Stevenson, head of the Division of Forage Plants, Federal Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, and Dr. R. R. McKibbin, Research Officer of the Department at Ottawa. Dr. McKibbin is coming to discuss with local officials various reports and technical papers included in the Farm's five year report now under preparation.

from the provinces could be served. They expected 250,000 today and a like number Sunday. The mass confiscations of food by the Communist police were carried out in Potsdam, Oranienburg, Fuerstenwalde, Zeesen, and Michendorf—all way stations on inter-province railway lines to Berlin.

West Berlin welfare officials prepared to supply a record-breaking throng of East German workers during the week-end. In nearly every industrial plant where anti-Communist strikes and riots flared last June 17, defiant workers were organizing expeditions to West Berlin. Premier Otto Grotewohl has admitted that the revolt engulfed 272 East German towns and a least 300,000 employees in nationalized plants. Actually, at least 2,000,000 East Germans took part in the uprising.

The socialist underground took the lead in organizing the week-end food rush. The summons stirred East Germans who have been waging a guerrilla war against Communist oppression with sit-downs and slow-downs in basic industries since the Soviet Army crushed the June 17 uprising.

West Berlin authorities, who have been passing out the food to Soviet zone dwellers and East Berliners alike, asked East Berliners to hold off during the week-end in order that all coming in gave up a year ago after President Eisenhower defeated him on the first convention ballot. Taft was three times senator from his native Ohio. He was one of the sponsors of the controversial Taft-Hartley labor law.

His greatest area of influence was in the Senate, where six months ago he became majority leader under the first Republican president in 20 years. His illness forced him to turn over the duties several weeks ago to Senator William Knowland (Rep-Calif), now acting majority leader.

Taft had been counted on to guide President Eisenhower's program through a Senate where the margin of Republican control was never more than one vote. Also, he was counted on to help keep a precarious balance in a Republican party that, but for might, was the party of party loyalty. Eisenhower's 1952 nomination.

At the end, Taft had risen to a position of great party power if not command. An acknowledged Republican spokesman in the Senate on domestic affairs, he took over foreign policy leadership in the Upper House when Senator Arthur Vandenberg (Rep.-Mich), died in 1951.

To The Electors Of Prince County

This election finds me busy, not only with regular farm work but with major improvements on my buildings only partly completed. In spite of this I agreed at the last moment to let my name go before the electorate as C.C.F. candidate. I did this to give the people of Prince County an opportunity to support this party's definite proposals for expanding markets and establishing adequate prices for farm and fish products and to back its plans for improving the lot of the average citizen. I felt that, win or lose, some real support for the C.C.F. on August 10 would do far more good than votes cast for other parties. I wish to give the voters an opportunity to provide this support.

Under the circumstances, I really have no time for campaigning. My supporters are busy too. I trust that all the busy people in the county will understand this and will seriously consider giving their support to the party I have the honor to represent.
