REBELS SLAUGHTERED.

Killed Them Off by Hundreds in China.

London, August 21.—The Hong Kong correspondent of the Times says: "The slaughter of rebels in southern China continues. Corpses float past Wacbau daily. Two hundred rebels who had entered Tai-Wong-Kong, were defeated by General Mawho, who killed 100 of the rebels and took forty of them prisoners. The gentry in the districts of Paklan and Wungun daily send to the magistrates between ten and twenty rebels for execution."

QUESTION FOR MR. BUCHANAN.

SIR.—Would Mr. Buchanan, prohibition lecturer, tell us what is the practical good of the coming vote on prohibition? Is he not aware that Mr. Tarte, the Minister of Public Works, and one of the most influential, if not the most influential, member of the present ministry, has expressly stated, in his paper, that nothing will result from the present voting. He very fairly and candidly puts the situation as follows: It is known that a prohibition bill cannot be carried in the present House of Commons because the majority of the House, as now constituted, are opposed to prohibition. Therefore prohibitionists must make prohibition a question at the next general election, and get the country to return a majority in favor of prohibition. Mr Tarte very justly says that the question will thus be finally mixed with other questions of parties and politics of more absorbing interest, and will eventually have to be dealt with at the next general election when it was not likely or probable prohibitionists will work together or sacrifice their party likes and dislikes for prohibition to the exclusion of every other question. The result is, and will be, that all the fuss and expense of the present vote will count for nothing. Mr Tarte is a shrewd politician whose forecast is entitled to consideration. Unbiased minds who may deplore the evil results of strong drink may well weigh Mr. Tarte's words against the "eloquence" of imported lecturers. It is well for lecturers and others to note that while Mr. Tarte discommends the prohibition movement, no other member of the present ministry and no prominent leader of the opposition to the ministry, has publicly promised or advocated any specific, practical legislation as the result of the coming vote, though favorable to prohibition.
 The politicians will humbug and absorb the prohibitionists as they have the grangers. This prediction will be found, four years hence, to be an accomplished prophecy. Yours,
 ELECTOR.

Spilled the Rescue.

Major Tom Williams some time ago told me the story of one of Colonel Gib Wright's adventures in South Carolina in the closing months of the war.
 It seems that General Kilpatrick, the Federal cavalry commander, had captured a number of Confederates, and Wright was anxious to rescue them. He called for volunteers to go with him into the enemy's camp at night and picked out the men he needed from those who responded.
 The Federal troopers were snoozing quietly in their camp and on both sides of the road leading to it, and their prisoners dozed by a fire near the center.
 Just how they got there would be hard to explain, but shortly after midnight Gib Wright, at the head of a few men, rode at a gentle pace into the camp.
 The drowsy Federals took them for a party of their own men returning from a scout, and paid no attention to them. Everything was working smoothly until one of the prisoners caught a glimpse of the newcomers. The fellow lost his head and ruined the whole business. He leaped to his feet and looked into the faces of the advancing Confederates.
 "Horray, boys!" he shouted in his delirious delight. "Hang me, if there ain't old Gib Wright and his crowd. Durned if the whole Confederate army ain't right behind him!"
 The prisoners all rushed forward with the regular rebel yell, and the sleeping Federals suddenly became very wide awake. From every side they showered bullets on their visitors, and Wright and his men had almost a miraculous deliverance. Several were killed and wounded, but the leader and the majority of the party managed to get away.—Atlanta Constitution.

OUR INTEREST IN CHINA.

Lord Beresford on the Subject.

SAYS THE DOMINION IS VITALLY INTERESTED.

He is Going to China in Interest of British Trade.

[SPECIAL TO THE EXAMINER.]
 MONTREAL, Aug. 23.—The Star's London correspondent cables that Lord Charles Beresford, when interviewed respecting his mission to China in the interest of British trade stated that he was going east via Marseilles and Hong Kong, but very possibly he would return via Canada though he is not settled about it.
 Lord Beresford puts great emphasis on the interest of Canada in the future of China and holds that no part of the Empire is more vitally interested than the Dominion in preserving British trade and commerce in this vast and undeveloped country.

Inland Revenue.

OTTAWA, Aug. 21.—The statement of inland revenue collected for the month of July shows a large advance upon the receipts of the department for the same month last year. There was collected in excise duties $619,733, and from the subsidiary services performed by the department, $8,289, making a grand total revenue for the month of $727,922, as against $303,657 for July, 1897, an increase of $424,271. The collections on spirits yielded $317,372; malt, $47,525; tobacco, $260,356, and cigars, $71,827.

A Hidden Murder.

OTTAWA, Aug. 20.—Henry Gray, a watchman employed at the woollen mill at Almont, was murdered on the night of June 29th last, by some person who was attempting to commit a burglary. The efforts of the detectives to discover the perpetrators of the crime have been unsuccessful. In the hope of bringing the murderer to justice, the Government have decided to offer a pardon to any one other than the actual murderer who furnishes such information as will lead to a conviction.

PROHIBITION.

Loss of Revenue and How it will be Made up.

MR. BUCHANAN addressed a good audience in the Opera House last evening. He argued that the loss of revenue from liquors would be made up by means of the increased trade of a more prosperous people, and that higher duties or direct taxation would not be necessary. He referred to the Father Matthew reform in Ireland, pointing out the loss of Irish revenue resulting at that time was $2,000,000, which was more than made up from other sources, while the physical and moral condition of the people was improved. The people will spend the money saved by not drinking liquors in some other way, keep the money moving, and so add to the revenue by their increased trade that every dollar lost to the revenue in respect to spirits will be recouped. The cost of the liquor, $46,000,000 a year, will greatly stimulate the legitimate trade of the country. Arguments drawn from the results of partial prohibition, the lecturer pointed out, are all irrelevant—the prohibition sought, will, if obtained, cover the whole of Canada, and drunkenness be reduced to the minimum.
