The Queen walked around the park to greet hundreds of Brownies lined up among the 4,000 to 5,000 persons.

"You have a lot of Brownies here," she remarked to Mrs. C.C. White.

"Yes," said Mrs. White, "and they have come all the way from Elliot Lake (about 100 miles) to see you."

Before the luncheon attended by 100 persons, Mayor W. Harry presented Col. S. L. Penrose, 88-year-old native of Swansea, Wales, who had been presented to her father, George VI, and her grandfather, George V. He was created a member of the Victorian Order by George V in 1918 at Buckingham Palace for his service as commander of the Canadian Forestry Corps in Britain during the First World War.

LOOKED RELAXED

The Queen looked relaxed and comfortable at the luncheon in the deep blue and white printed dress she wore throughout the day. Her small, round hat was of white silk trimmed with blue velvet and tulle. A coat she wore when outside was the same shade as the dress.

Asked later what she had talked about, Mayor Harry replied: "Chum, you'd be surprised." He said she asked questions about the 500 and its future prospects.

Negro Nobel Prize Winner Barred In N.Y. Tennis Club

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, grandson of an American slave and first Negro to win the Nobel Peace Prize, said Wednesday he and his teenage son have been barred from membership in an exclusive New York tennis club.

Both were told, he said, that the West Side tennis club of suburban Forest Hills, site of the U.S. tennis championships, excludes Negroes and Jews from membership. His son, Ralph Jr., is 16.

Bunche said the boy had been taking lessons from the club's pro, who had suggested young Bunche become a junior member. The elder Bunche then telephoned to apply for membership. Wilfred Burglund, the club secretary, told them the club was the same as a person's home, where you can invite whom you want, Bunche said.

NO COMMENT

Bunche, an undersecretary of the United Nations, said in a statement: "I deliberately revealed this experience only because I find it to be rather shocking in New York City and think citizens of the city and the country generally are entitled to know about it."

At night four officers from the Britannia through Lake Superior were guests of the Queen at dinner on the royal yacht: Commodore M. A. Medland, senior naval officer afloat Atlantic, RCN; Capt. H. L. Quinn, commanding officer HMCS Gatineau; Cmdr. J. Victorford, commanding HMCS Kootenay; and Cmdr. C. Rusby, commanding HMS Ulster.

DR. L. E. PROWSE IS SPEAKER

Hospital Insurance Plan Explained To Audience

The new Prince Edward Island Hospital Insurance Plan will only be compulsory for those residents of the province who fall into the classification of employee groups or collective groups. The members of the other classification, the pay direct group, can decide for themselves if they wish to take advantage of the plan. Dr. Lemuel E. Prowse told a small audience at Prince of Wales College last evening.

By the means of slides Dr. Prowse explained why the province should have such a plan, the benefits of the plan, the basic privileges offered, the premium, and how the plan would work.

One reason for having the plan, he pointed out, was that hospital rates have increased because hospital care is improving.

"Each year since 1946 the rates have increased six to 10 percent," he said.

The plan will go into operation Oct. 1, 1959, and is only open to residents of Prince Edward Island. Those who join will be provided basic ward-service, he pointed out.

The rates would be $2 per month for a single person and $4 per month for a married man, which would provide protection for his entire family, except children over 19 years of age.

Dr. Prowse noted that those who have Blue Cross or other such insurance policies would not have to cancel the whole policy, only the part which is covered by the new hospital plan. Doctor's rates, he said would not be covered.

It was also pointed out that if a resident of the Island should move to another province, he would still be covered for a period of three months in order that he may obtain coverage in that province.

Up to $14 a day would be paid if a person took sick while on a trip outside Canada and required hospitalization Dr. Prowse said.

Farms for the employee group and collective group classifications are in the mail and pay direct forms will be in the mail by the end of the month, he said.

Island Jersey Has Highest June Fat Test In Canada

The highest fat test in Canada during the month of June among cows of the Jersey breed was made by "Gem's Jester Joyce" a nine year-old animal owned by George MacMillan, Cornwall.

On a 305-day test, "Joyce" produced 7,748 pounds of milk containing 568 pounds of fat. Her test was 7.33. Her ROP for the period placed her in 17th position of the mature class.

Mr. MacMillan had three other cows ranking high in production for the month. Two others in the mature class had tests of over six per cent and a three year old tested 5.70. This is considered an exceptionally high test when it is realized that the average for the breed is 5.1 percent.
