Rugged Playoff Series

Believe it or not, Friday night was "children's night" at Civic Stadium. Through the kind offices of the stadium management the elementary school children of the town were admitted free to the game between Borden Nationals and Junior Legionnaires. It was certainly no fault of the management that the show turned out to be " for adults only". While the majority of the boys were content to stick pretty much to hockey a minority group seemed to have only one purpose — a 'tit for tat' routine which kept the penalty bench crowded most of the time.

Here's a funny thing. Receiving 10 - minute misconducts and major penalties has a cumulative effect. Two 10-minute misconducts become a game misconduct. Two majors, a 10-misconduct, and three majors, a game misconduct. But a player can get as many minor penalties as there is playing time for, and apparently that's the end of it. Only reasonable explanation is that referees would begin to impose majors as this string of minors began to pile up, on the grounds of suspected "deliberate intent to injure."

One player received four minor penalties and spent eignt minutes in the sin bin in the third period. His playing time would be presumably about ten minutes, so he was preoccupied for the most part in tripping, high-sticking, and cross-checking during his brief stay on the ice. A referee would not have to have much prejudice against such a player to suspect "deliberate intent" on his part. He topped the list of offenders, but there was a player on the opposing team close behind him. We'd like to emphasize that neither Borden nor the Legionnaires were alone to blame for this unfortunate exhibition. Both teams, or rather players on both teams, seemed equally guilty.

We don't want to preach to these referees. They've been doing a good job under difficult conditions all winter. However, if these fights in the penalty box (forcing the official scorer to leave the game) and "summit meetings" at centre ice (which is very boring for the cash customers unless you wire the referees and players for sound) are to continue, it will have repercussions at the box office. The play-offs are here, and the big crowds will be trooping to Civic Stadium. Let's give them a fair shake.

Combines Host Eagles Tonight

Tonight's game should bring out a large crowd of fans to Civic Stadium when Alan Warren's Texaco Combines tangle with the RCAF Eagles in the first game of the double, double, round robin series for the Intermediate "A" Championship of Prince Edward Island. Eagles won a close one from the Combines at the RCAF station recently, but neither team had a full complement of players, and they'll certainly be fully staffed tonight, now that the blue chips are down.

We were sitting opposite the finish line during the Prince County ice sports on Saturday, and noticed two mistakes some of the kiddies make that someone should tell them about. When some of them are nearing the finish line, they slow up and brace themselves as if they were approaching a brick wall. We saw one little girl lose second position and a chance to be in the provincial final by doing this. Another thing, in a preliminary race a young fellow was a good second and sure to qualify for the final race, but he strained every sinew to beat the fellow ahead of him and fell, putting him out of the first three who qualified. This was all right to do in the final but not in preliminary.

Fans Off To Boston

Here's good news — a proposed trip to Boston on February 29, promoted by a Summerside group. At 9 a.m. on leap year's extra day, a DC-4 will take 62 passengers to Boston to see two hockey matches, one with Detroit on Saturday, and with Toronto on Sunday. The plane will return after Sunday's game. The fare, $45, is almost a 50 per cent reduction on the lowest economy price for this flight. If a clearance sale ever had a bargain like that, the stampede would wreck the store. Lynn Patrick, Boston Bruin executive, is reserving the required number of seats, and rooms will be reserved at the Madison Hotel. We'll see our lone Islander, Forbie Kennedy, also Gordie Howe, "the greatest", and the "Big M". Anyone know any better way to spend a week-end. For Charles Linkletter, Summerside

LAST WEEK'S BOUQUET

The feats of sports heroes we've aired,
Bouquets by the dozen we've shared,
But three boys we forgot
Who in hockey are hot:

Beliveau Gets 'Hat Trick'; Canadiens Down Wings

DETROIT (AP) — Getting three goals from Jean Beliveau, Montreal Canadiens thumped Detroit Red Wings 5-2 Sunday night in a National Hockey League contest.

The Canadians were hanging on until Claude Provost scored into an empty net at 19:23 of the third period on a setup from Beliveau, who had a fouh-point night, when Detroit pulled goalie Terry Sawchuk.

With Sawchuk back in the nets, Beliveau blistered one in at 19:32.

The Montreal victory snapped a five-game Detroit winning streak.

But it was a slap shot artist Bobby Rousseau who netted the winning goal, picking on Detroit for his 20th of the season a 13:57 of the second period. Parker MacDonald had just wiped out a 2-0 Montreal lead, furnished by Beliveau's two goals in the first period, when Rousseau scored.

Rousseau has scored 10 of his 20 goals against the Wings. Beliveau, with 22 for the season, also has hit the Wings 10 times.

OUTSKATED

Despite the closeness of the score until the final minute, the Canadiens outskated Detroit almost all the way.

The first Beliveau goal apparently was ticked by Detroit defenceman Marcel Pronovost and the second caromed in off goalie Terry Sawchuk's skate when Beliveau shot from the side of the net.

The Wings' pair by MacDonald came on power plays in the second period, although in three first-period gang attacks, Detroit could hardly get the puck over centre ice.

MacDonald's first came from the side of the net after Charlie Hodge blocked a Norn Ullman defelection and his second came during a wild scramble after Alex Delvecchio had slapped the puck into the tangle from the blue line.

Rousseau put Montreal in front less than three minutes later and the Habs, with Hodge outstanding in the third period when the Wings just failed to score a number of times, rode it out until Provost put in the empty-net clincher and Beliveau added the frosting.

New York Downs Slipping Leafs

NEW YORK (AP)—Little Camille Henry's 25th goal of the season snapped a 2-2 tie early in the final period and powered New York Rangers to a 4-2 National Hockey League victory over Toronto Maple Leafs Sunday night.

Henry tipped a cross-ice pass by linemate Rod Gilbert past Maple Leafs goalie Johnny Bower at 5:42 of the third stanza. The goal held up until, with 18 seconds left and Bower removed for a sixth skater, Earl Ingarfield hit an open net to earn New York's first victory in six games.

Henry's goal came less than a minute after Dave Keon tied the score for Toronto. Keon's 30-foot blazer from the left side struck Ranger goalie Jacques Plante's pads and trickled into the New York cage. It was the Toronto centre's 16th season tally.

The Leafs' other goal, scored by rookie Jim Pappin midway in the second period, also went in off Plante's pads.

The Islanders captured a 6-0 win in hockey and win a curling match 8-7 in an extra end, but lost both of their basketball games to the Kinsmen. The boys lost 66-55 and the girls 21-14.

Hawks Down RCAF Eagles

Johnny's Flying Hawks scored a 10-4 win over the RCAF Eagles in an exhibition hockey contest at RCAF station Summerside Sunday afternoon.

The Eagles outplayed the Hawks in the first period but failed to take advantage of several good scoring chances as the session ended in a 2-2 tie. The Charlottetown crew opened up after the first 20 minutes and led 7-3 after two periods.

Willie Dunn collected four goals for the Hawks while Billy Sherry, Joe Arsenault and Lloyd Sheppard each scored twice.

Bob Slade fired the "hat trick" for the RCAF and Phillips scored the other goal.

Canadian Curling Ch'ships Entries Are Announced

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Four former provincial champions, including the famed Richardsons from Regina who have won the world curling title four times, will be among 11 rinks competing for the Canadian curling championship at Charlottetown March 2-6.

Regina skip Ernie Richardson with his brother Garnet, second, and cousins Arnold, third, and Wes, Lead, last year became the only rink ever to win the Canadian curling championship four times.

They have won the world curling championship four times during its five-year existence and are current defending champions.

Harold Mabey of Moncton, N.B., twice winner of the New Brunswick title; Art Burke of Charlottetown, 1962 Prince Edward Island titlist; and Bob Mann, 1963 southern Ontario champion, are the other three skips with previous Canadian championship experience.

Elmer Black of Montreal, at 25 the youngest skip ever to win the Quebec title, was runner-up to the 1953 Canadian schoolboy curling champion.

THE SKIPS

Other provincial representatives are skipped by Dave Pedley of St. John's for Newfoundland, Ian Baird of Kentville for Nova Scotia, Jack Polyblank of Kirkland Lake for northern Ontario, Ron Northcott of Calgary for Alberta., Bruce Hudson of Winnipeg for Manitoba and Lyall Dagg of Vancouver for British Columbia.

The 11 rinks will play a 10-game round-robin which concludes March 6. The winner advances to the world championships at Perth, Scotland, later in March.

Maybey, who skips the New Brunswick rink but throws lead rocks, won the provincial title in 1960 and 1962. His son Hap Mabey throws the final two stones.

The Quebec quartet comprises three of the same curlers who finished in the runner-up spot in the schoolboy finals in 1953. The other two members of the 1953 rink are Bill Ness, lead, and John Logan, third. Oakley McCrae, second, is the fourth member of the Quebec champions.

The Manitoba rink is a five-time runner-up in the provincial finals. Hudson, who skips the team, is the son of the late Gordon Hudson, Canadian curling champion in 1928-29.

The Northcott Alberta foursome has three members with previous Canadian championship experience. Northcott played, along with Ron Baker and Fred Storey, for last year's provincial champions, skipped by Jimmy Shields of Calgary. Storey is lead on this year's rink and Baker is second. Mike Chernoff is third.

The Charlottetown rink, with Bruke, skip, Allan Smith, third; Bobby Dillon, second, and Stu Lavers, lead, is another youthful entry with 27 their average age. They won one game in the 1962 championships at Kitchener, Ont.

The Dagg quartet from Vancouver were runners-up to the provincial champions in 1960, runners-up to the Pacific Coast finalists in 1961, West Coast semi-finalists in 1962 and runners-up to the West Coast finalists in 1963.

The eleven rinks listing skip, third, second and lead in that order are:
