

MR. AND MRS. HENRY DOUGLAS WOOD

Couple United In Double Ring Ceremony At Trinity Church

A reception at the Gregor Hotel, Brackley Beach, followed the marriage on Sept. 5, 1959, of Barbara Arlene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cumdore, Brackley, to Henry Douglas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wood, Bunbury, at Trinity United Church, Charlottetown. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. Frank MacLean.

Standards of gladioli on the altar and miniature gladioli on the pews formed the background as the bride entered the church on the arm of her father. She chose a traditional floor length gown of white peau de sole with princess lines and an overblouse of Chantilly lace fashioned with a scalloped bateau neckline and short sleeves. The full skirt featured front panels of matching Chantilly lace, and a bustle back. With her gown she wore wrist-length white gloves, and a shoulder length veil of tulle illusion held by a white satin bow with lace inset. She carried a crescent shaped bouquet of white gladioli. Her only ornament was pearl earrings, a gift of the groom.

Blue crystal charm styled on princess lines with short sleeves and full skirt trimmed with royal blue velvet bows and waist band was chosen by the bridesmaid, Miss Christine Phillips. Matching headdress and shoes, and a short cascade of white gladioli with blue lace bows completed the ensemble.

The best man was Mr. Maurice Wood, brother of the groom, and the ushers were Mr. George

It has been assembled by Miss Dorothy Macrone of Verdun, P.Q., who has been blind for 35 years. Cozy booties, soakers and bonnet, all skillfully made by hand, have been packed in with the basic layette. The note that accompanied the layette to the Unitarian Service Committee headquarters at Ottawa would warm the heart of any refugee mother. "This gift to the baby brings love and best wishes from Canada. It has been a pleasure to make it."

Ch'town Lady Meets Pen Pal After Long Correspondence

Two pen pals who started corresponding 24 years ago met for the first time recently. Mrs. Beatrice Bolger of Timmins, Ontario, and Mrs. Ruth Gill of Charlottetown, exchanged letters throughout the years without meeting until this year.

The two women and their husbands spent a weekend together at Tea Lake near Orillia, Ont. Many previous arrangements had been made for the two pen pals to meet but always at the last minute plans had to be cancelled.

Mrs. Bolger and Mrs. Gill started writing to each other when they were 14 years old. A pen pal column in a newspaper featured names of girls in P.E.I., who were interested in corresponding with Ontario girls. Mrs. Bolger, formerly of Fort Francis, decided to write to one of the girls whose name was listed in the column. This was the start of the 24 year letter writing friendship.

The women have exchanged letters regularly throughout the years, writing every two or three months.

UNUSUAL COINCIDENCE - An unusual coincidence in the friendship is that both women are exactly the same age. They reach the same age each year, April 6.

"It was a wonderful experience meeting my pen pal after all these years," said Mrs. Bolger. "She's exactly as I had pictured home for the Nov. meeting was accepted. Emily Newport is to have charge of the worship service."

The lunch committee will be Bessie Johnston, Edith Kent, Janie MacSween, and Dorothy MacDonald.

ELLEN'S DIARY

Visit To Neighboring Church Recalls Friends Long Gone

"And" James twinkled "was Deacon William Scott there?" With James we sometimes make believe of bringing back to life those long-gone from our neighborhood and community folks we knew well.

"... And what was Mrs. ... at today?" James may ask when a stroll has taken us to some deserted garden. Or "Did you see any sign of Mr. ... about the place? Oh, likely he was off to town—it's a market day this" he will smile. So between us we keep evergreen the memories of good folks of our young years, though long departed now from earthly paths and scenes.

How many times on just such an evening as was that of last night, cool and starry and pleasantly edged with frost, we have walked the distance with James to attend a service there. Maybe an old-time revival meeting with its bright Gospel singing, its always interesting sermon, and that witnessing, which was in many an instance quite moving, and each a complete sermon for young folks in itself.

"Of course" we smiled "he was there."

"How well he could preach" James commented. "Yes, he was exceptionally gifted, a fine man and good. Knew his farming too. Farmed up the other road. Years ago, Ellen that was, though it doesn't seem so long. How the time slips by. And 'he smiled whimsically at another thought "was his daughter, 'Aunt Jennie' and her husband, and little girl there?"

We nodded. "Could it ever be any other way for us?" we said. "And what a remarkable woman she was in her church community—always an inspiration for good to young folks. And a perfect hostess to them, entertaining and kind. Remember?"

"I wasn't too fond of some of those parlor games we played there. Oh some," he twinkled. "I didn't dislike. But I'd much rather chat. It was a happy home—nice to visit."

"And" we offered "Deacon R.A. was there. It wouldn't be Church without him—busy farmer and merchant that he was. And so faithful a churchman—none better."

"About this time of year or a bit later maybe" James remem-
