

Gifted Canadian Musician Terms TV Modern Monster

"Music is not only a help but is essential to the security of the world," Dr. Leslie Bell of Toronto said in addressing the Rotary Club at their noon luncheon at the Hotel Yorkville yesterday. Dr. Bell is adjudicating at the Musical Festival being held in Charlottetown.

"We (the adjudicators) are essentially very practical people, not addicted to long hair and not living in a garret. In our venture of life, we like others like to provide for our families and make a contribution to the welfare of the community in our design for living. That is why we come away down here to listen to young children and adjudicate on their efforts and endeavour to encourage them in their musical studies. We feel that music will bring satisfaction."

"We are interested primarily in what music does to the children rather than the stage of efficiency they reach. It is the pleasure they derive and the place music takes in their lives that really counts," Dr. Bell said.

Reasoning and logic have been a great boon to mankind, and the development of gadgets electrically controlled has added materially to the sum-total of knowledge.

"I suppose I must make reference also to that modern monster, television which looms on the horizon, and diverts the youth of the country from the do-it-yourself program. The youth of today are sheltered than ever before. There are overwhelming distractions which make it hard to find out in what direction they are going. A force for good can be found in the influence of music. The do-it-yourself campaign certainly applies to music. It does my heart good to see little boys and girls get up to sing or play their piece. The important thing is what did the music do to her, not how good or bad it was. She has taken part in something that created an emotional experience. The development of a knowledge of and taste for music is insurance for the young folk and as a result they should grow up into better people. Dr. Bell said.

The speaker was introduced by chairman Dr. Giddings and thanked by the co-chairman, N. D. MacLeane.

President Frank Curtis paid tribute to the late G. F. Hutch-son, a former president of the Club and an exceptionally good citizen. A brief silence was observed by the members standing, as a token of respect to his memory.

Guests present were Sir Ernest MacMillan of Toronto, Donald MacDonald, New York and Lorne Calbeck, City.

Church Members Form Credit Union

A group of interested members and adherents of Trinity United Church, Charlottetown, met last night and formed a Credit Union which will be known as the "Fellowship Credit Union."

The committees named were as follows: Credit Committee, Robert MacKinnon, Neil Diamond, Frank Gibson; Supervisory Committee, Blanche Howatt, Russell Ewing John Smethurst, Directors named were Gordon MacDonald, David Murphy, Stanley Lancaster, S. T. Green, E. S. Coffin, Ivan Darrach, Frank Storey.

The new Credit Union got away to a good start with more than twenty becoming members. It was agreed that any member or adherent of Trinity Church or Association of such, will be eligible for membership in the organization.

Mr. Leo Corcoran, Managing Director of the Prince Edward Island Credit Union League was present to give assistance in the formation of the Union. Also present were Mr. Kier Duggan, President of the Credit Union League of Prince Edward Island along with four other past presidents of Trinity Credit Union in Summerside.

The officers of the newly formed Credit Union will be named at a meeting of the Board of Directors to be held in the near future.

Railway Employees To Hold Accident Prevention Meeting

The employees of the Canadian National Railways, Charlottetown, are looking forward to an annual event which is taking place for the fourth successive year - the Family Accident Prevention Meeting to be held in the Queen Charlotte High School Auditorium on May 10th, 1956.

The significance of safety at work, at home and in community life will be the theme stressed at this meeting and will be developed through talks by Railway officials and local speakers as well as motion pictures.

A program of entertainment has also been planned, featuring the Railway orchestra, bowling team pictures, dances and songs starting many new entertainers as well as old favorites, and refreshments will be served to conclude the social part of the program.

All employees and their families are expected to be present on May 10th at 8.30 p. m. in Queen Charlotte High School Auditorium for an entertaining and instructive evening.

This meeting is open to all interested in public safety.

works and fulfils in this respect a function similar to that of the British Council in Great Britain. But these recordings are made almost exclusively for distribution abroad through our embassies and other agencies and are not obtainable in Canada through the regular channels. Thus arises the paradoxical situation where Canadians may well know less of the music of their own composers than do people of other lands.

Recently established Canadian companies, such as Beaver and Hallmark, have rendered a valuable service in recording Canadian performing artists; so far as our composers are concerned, Hallmark has at least tried out the temperature of the water, so to speak, by putting in a toe or two but financial restrictions have not allowed its directors to venture far.

Two new possible sources of substantial income have in our day arisen and namely film music and television shows. I say "substantial" only in relation to the income of the more serious composer; a successful lawyer or stockbroker would probably regard it as a miserable pittance. In both cases the composer is questioned very great extent on publicly subsidised bodies - the National Film Board and the CBC. The former has on its regular staff some three or four composers and occasionally commissions background music from a few others. The CBC engages composers to provide background music as occasion offers and, in some cases, this may be fairly frequent. Yet even so, a composer who stands in this field as Lucio Agostini has recently gone to Hollywood. In any case the number of lucrative openings for writers of background music in this country is bound to be small.

Another field in which the Canadian composer may look for at least a moderate return is that of short plays frequently, yet in schools and competitive festivals. Even here he is limited by the provision of our Copyright Law which prohibits the collection of performing fees from churches and educational institutions. However, if he writes well, he stands a pretty good chance of finding a publisher and, if he is lucky, of collecting something worthwhile in royalties. It is not likely that, if we had a chance of looking over his incometax returns, we would be impressed by the amounts recorded, but at least it is something. Sales of dramatic songs - one or two - have, of course, been dropped almost out of sight since music in the home became largely a matter of twisting knobs: in fact very few such works are published nowadays.

FOLK MUSIC

I have intentionally refrained from taking as my examples works strongly influenced by national folk-songs or the rhythms of national dances, to which so much Spanish, Czech and Hungarian music owes its distinctive flavour. How can we in Canada expect to develop a similarly national style based on folk material? Even that of French Canada - the most extensive and the best preserved that we have - is largely European in origin, although the words have in some cases been adapted to the Canadian scene.

Although many works by both French and English speaking Canadians and based on this material have been written and performed, collectors like the indefatigable Marius Barbeau express disappointment that so little use is made of it and that dust is gathering on the recordings of several thousand songs lying in the National Museum.

Doubtless other collectors like Helen Creighton and Louise Manny have felt similarly disappointed. Most of our younger composers

RIGHT TO BE HEARD

In the case of music as in many other lines of activity, this attitude is our patriotic duty to love the music written by our composers; such an attitude would spell defeat in advance. Music is neither better nor worse for being written by Canadians; it should and in the end will be judged on its merits. We in Canada have the reason to boast of our vast natural resources; it is by sheer luck that we have fallen heir to them, although we can take legitimate pride in the energy and effort put into their development. In the realm of the arts however, we are entitled to suffer from a national inferiority complex: "Can any good come out of Nazareth?"

Big Tanker Due Here Thursday

It was learned yesterday from Mr. Bill Connolly, manager for the Irving Oil Company that the flagship of the Irving Fleet is due to arrive in Charlottetown Thursday morning. The 18,400 ton tanker "Irvingbrook," Captain Otto Ottman is scheduled to come in to port on the 10:00 a.m. tide and anchor at Three Tides where two smaller tankers the Irvinglake and Seekonk will take off part of her cargo before it is attempted to berth the huge ship at the end of the Railway Wharf.

The tanker "Irvinglake" arrived in Charlottetown at about midnight last night and as yet the time of arrival of the Seekonk is not known.

Trinity Afternoon Auxiliary Holds Regular Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Trinity Auxiliary of the W. M. S. of Trinity United Church was held in the Social Hall on Thursday afternoon with a good attendance.

Mrs. Saunders led the devotional period which opened with the hymn "Come Let us sing of a Wonderful Love". She bared her meditations on Dr. Frank Laubach's book on prayer with members reading portions of Scripture pertaining to prayer. Mrs. Saunders read passages from the book stressing the power of prayer and different ways we may engage in Prayer.

Mrs. Gillespie closed this part of the meeting with prayer.

The business part of the meeting was led by the president, Mrs. A. B. Bagnall. She read a most interesting letter from Dr. Helen Houston a missionary in China.

The reports of the secretaries were then received.

The supply secretary asked members to bring good used clothing to the next meeting to be sent to Korea.

The community friendship secretary reported 69 visits to homes and hospital.

A solo "Love of God," pleasingly rendered by Mrs. Leigh Warren accompanied by Mrs. Hiram Howatt at the piano, was greatly enjoyed by the members.

Mrs. Saunders, assisted by Mrs. Houle and Miss Taylor, gave an interesting resume of our study book "The Vanishing Indian" and told us many things about the Indian people.

The church has a large part in the development of the Indians. The hymn "How Sweet the Name of Jesus sounds" and the Mizpah Benediction brought the meeting to a close.

The preliminary hearing of Harold Clement Lee, charged with theft and public mischief, was continued yesterday morning before Magistrate K.M. Martin, J.P. Nicholson is representing the crown and J.O.C. Campbell, Q.C., the defendant.

The first witness called was Mr. Auguste Savoy, superintendent for Anglin-Norcross at the Federal Building. Mr. Nicholson produced the bill for $527 and asked witness, "Did you and the accused talk over the bill?" to which he received the reply "Not sure". When queried as to where the shortage was that he spoke of, witness said "I couldn't tell where there shortage was - I can't answer that question." He then said that a search of the records gave no indication that the bill for $527 had been paid Doyle and that he was generally paid out of the petty cash.

Mr. Savoy stated that the two cancelled cheques cashed by Lee April 20 in the amounts of $753.22 and $200 had never come back to the company. He said he issued and cashed a second cheque to cover the payroll at about 3:00 p.m. that day.

HAILED BY ACCUSED

Reginald Denning, R.R. 6, Charlottetown, testified that he was driving along the highway near Hampton towards Borden when he was hailed by the accused who was standing by the driver's side of his car which was also headed toward Borden. When he stopped the car, saying he had been hit over the head and robbed and wanted to get to a phone". He then drove Lee to the home of Mr. Cameron, where accused slipped to a couch.

When questioned regarding the condition of Lee, witness said "He did not appear to be in a very good condition," he staggered when approaching the car and also when he got into the Cameron home. Witness said he and Mr. Cameron then drove to the store at Hampton, after obtaining Lee's car and Mr. Cameron drove the car to Hampton. Before continuing along the road for the car they had stopped at the Cameron home and Lee was still lying on the couch.

On being shown a number of wallets, witness identified one of them as the one which he believed was found in Lee's car and was given to the accused by Mr. Cameron.

OTHER WITNESSES

The next witness, Ralph Cameron, DeSable, farmer, stated that both Lee and Denning came to his home, and Lee appeared to be in great pain and was staggering some and laid on the couch as soon as he had entered the house.

Witness confirmed going to the Charles Dunsford's store at Hampton and of driving Lee's car from where it had been left at Hampton.

BUSY LINES

The underground railways in London, England, have 1,500,000 customers every day.

He said that he had picked up the light brown wallet off the rear floor of Lee's car and of handing to the accused who remarked "It's none looking in it - there's nothing in it now". He said the R.C.M.P. were the first to arrive in the area.

The final witness for the session was Dr. Peter MacDonald of C. apaud, who was asked by Mr. Nicholson if he had examined the accused, to which he replied he had, in Mr. Dunsford's home at about 12:15 p.m. He said that Lee was obviously in distress and complained of pain in right side of head. The doctor said there was no scar, goosegrip or blood. The accused told witness what had happened. When asked if he had found anything on Lee's head, witness said the accused complained of tenderness on pressure near the right temple - there was no swelling. Dr. MacDonald said he located the tender spot by the use of thumb pressure. Witness then administered a mild sedative and called Charlottetown for an ambulance. The doctor said from the symptoms "Lee must have received a blow on the head".

The witness was then questioned by Mr. Campbell who said he believed a bruise on the scalp is sometimes hard to find, to which witness replied "yes", Mr. Campbell further asked a blow on the head may not cause a wound, but it could cause death and if it were possible to have a brain concussion without contusion or laceration? He again received a reply on the area complained of would be covered by the hat of the accused.

The hearing was then adjourned until this morning.

Of the four drunk and incapable appearing on the docket, two were fined five dollars and costs or two days one ten dollars and costs or five days and the fourth was remanded until the ninth. A drunk and disorderly was fined twenty dollars and costs or ten days as was another charged with disorderly conduct.
