Save From the Rainfall Gov't Life May Hinge On Boost in Pensions

OTTAWA (CP) — Stanley Knowles, New Democratic Party whip in the Commons, said Wednesday the minority Liberal government may be looped in Parliament this fall if it tries to put off a $10 increase in old age pensions.

Mr. Knowles, MP for Winnipeg North Centre and the NDP's spokesman on pensions, said that unless a pension increase is proposed soon by the government, the NDP will introduce a non-confidence motion on the issue after the Parliamentary session resumes Sept. 30.

The government would stand a great chance to lose in a vote on such a motion, he said. The three opposition parties, who have a combined majority of six seats over the government, would unite to vote the government down.

The former Conservative government lost a similar vote Feb. 5 on the nuclear arms issue and was forced to call an election for April 8, which it lost.

Mr. Knowles said in a press conference that the $10 increase is proposed so that it is possible — effective retroactively in April 8 as was the $100 salary increase for members of Parliament approved a month ago.

Indians Urged To Better Role

PORT ELGIN, Ont. (CP)—One of Canada's top Indian leaders said Wednesday "the time has come when the Indians must help themselves."

Dr. Gilbert Monture, a Mohawk Indian and vice-president of explorations and development for SIRA and Limited, Montreal, said this must be done to help the Canadian Indian arrive at economic equality with the white man.

He said the fact that there were only 65 Indian students in Canadian universities while the federal government has spent $30,000,000 on Indian education showed that his people had not taken full advantage of their opportunities.

Dr. Monture is a member of the Atlantic Development Board.

Pearson Rebukes Red Ambassador

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson mildly rebuked Russian Ambassador Yevgeny Shepelov for having publicly criticized Canada's agreement to obtain American nuclear warheads.

The ambassador's remarks, said the prime minister and long-time veteran of international diplomacy, are "of very dubious propriety indeed."

Mr. Shepelov, on a weekend visit to Vancouver, was reported to have said in an interview that he was surprised at Canada's agreement to obtain nuclear warheads, because it would make Canada a target in a hot war.

Mr. Pearson said External Affairs Minister Martin is asking the ambassador for the text of his remarks. If he has a press conference, he has seen press reports of the ambassador's views.

"It is a well-established practice of diplomacy for a diplomat not to intervene in the domestic affairs of the country to which it is accredited, and I think it is of very dubious propriety indeed for a representative of a foreign government to make a statement

Pension Plan Going Ahead, PM Reports After Meeting

OTTAWA (CP)—We are going ahead," Mr. Pearson said Wednesday after a two-hour cabinet meeting Wednesday. Prime Minister Pearson declared the federal government's intention to proceed as planned with introduction of the Canada Pension Plan, despite pending provincial election contests and apparent unwillingness of some provinces to co-operate.

Mr. Pearson told a news conference that a federal-provincial conference of welfare ministers in Montreal, Sept. 9-10, will be held as scheduled. At it, Health Minister Elliot Willson will brief provincial delegates on the details of the proposed contributory retirement pensions.

"We called this conference to discuss this plan, and we will go ahead," Mr. Pearson said. "I don't think we should allow provincial elections to interfere with the federal program."

"If we would take a look at our program and at my speech, you will see that I do not think that occasionally—he would find I said the old-age pensions

LONDON (AP) — The Duke of Argyll's daughter, Lady Jeanne Campbell, reported from Washington Wednesday:

"The way is now open for your daughter, and my daughter, in a marriage with an American Negro—and hold her head high."

He said only 40 per cent of the crop was ripe when picking began Monday.

U.S. Backs Israel In Border Case

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—The United States has backed Israel's charge that Syria was responsible for the slaying of two Israeli farmers last week. Israel said the Syrian Council Wednesday to vote the charges and condemnations for "this reprehensible act of murder."

The U.S. position was revealed in the liaison council by Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson. He said the U.S. deeply deplors the slayings, which took place near the Israeli-Syrian border Aug. 19 and an earlier incident which he described as the Syrian abduction of two Israeli subjects, including two young girls.

Hanna and McKinney were found in a tunnel about 30 feet from the bottom of the shaft, which was being drilled with help from dynamite toward a high deposit of oil used in commercial fertilizer.

"Let's get the hell out of here," Hanna said.

He and McKinney were faced their eyes streaming with tears. He was charged the other with aggression and asked for UN condemnation.

200,000 Persons Take Part In Washington March

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 200,000 Negroes and whites staged a "march for jobs and freedom" Wednesday — a demonstration that broke through a historic breakthrough all along the U.S. civil rights front.

They walked from the Washington Monument to the Lincoln Memorial, a distance of less than a mile.

As they went, they chanted the familiar civil rights hymn: "Deep in my heart I do believe... some day we shall overcome."

A forest of placards moved with the march. Some placards struck a religious note: "God of wisdom, God of power, can America give freedom in this hour?"

Others were more down-to-earth: "The U.S. ought to help Jim Crow!"

The estimate of more than 200,000 participants was given by the Washington chief of police, Robert W. Murray, who added: "This was a very orderly crowd, a very orderly gathering."

Despite advance predictions by critics of possible disorder, the marchers — who numbered black and white, Protestants, Roman Catholics also put up air strikes to keep fresh air in bed air today. The blast destroyed most of the air hoses but it appeared at least one remained intact all the way to the way to the deepest layer. The explosion, apparently set off by a dynamite blast at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday, came shortly after the night shift went to work. In the early hours of Tuesday, many sections of pairs of finding anyone alive. Hugh Crawford, chief engineer for the Texas Gas Company, said: "There were an undetermined number of survivors in a cave's air for certain just how many." At least five of the miners trapped were identified as: William Smith, Yorkton, Sask.; Emile LeBlanc, Elliot Lake; W. Barber, Elliot Lake; and William J. Torony, Rene Roy, North Bay, Ont. Meanwhile, workers at the intersection of the mine and the U.S. Chemicals polish mine at Esterhazy, Sask., 120 miles east of the mine, which they were riding recognized five other names on the list of missing as those of men who had worked at Esterhazy. They were G. Borge-Land, identified here as from Spring Glen, Utah; L. Rishon and Charles Kirk, both from western Canada, and M. H. Christensen Jr. Homeowners of these men were not immediately known in Esterhazy, but it was not known whether the Christians were Canadian. 2 Men Killed In Accident Near Sydney SYDNEY (CP) — Two men were killed and three others were reported in serious condition in hospital here after the car in which they were riding left the road at Big Ridge, about 30 miles west of here Wednesday.
