PRISONERS PENNED BEHIND BARBED WIRE

Hundreds of hungry, tired prisoners at Montreal's St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary were herded behind barbed wire and under the watchful eye of battle-equipped soldiers while firemen battled flames raging in the maximum-security institution after a savage riot. (CP Wirephoto)

Gov't Uncertainties Disturbing Business

By FORRES BRUDE
TORONTO (CP) — Business and financial spokesmen, who have been urging decisive action in regard to some of Canada's basic problems, appeared generally disturbed at the uncertainties of minority government. Particularly they were concerned about the reactions of the foreign investment community, which has been casting uneasy or speculative looks at Canada's long-continuing balance-of-payments deficits, and unchanged in New York at 91 47-64 cents (U.S.), but it is not known to what extent Bank of Canada support may have been a recent factor. Spokesmen were quick to affirm the soundness of the Canadian economy providing certain steps are taken. D. S. Beatty, newly-elected president of the Investment Dealers' Association of Canada, speaking Tuesday at the association's annual meeting at Murray Bay, Que., said: "Canada may be suffering at the moment from the effects of over-indebtedness in deficits and loss of efficiency through soft-living. Nevertheless the future of this country is tremendous if we only get ourselves into good condition." Chief immediate apprehension is that minority-government uncertainties may lead to withdrawal of investment from Canada and increasing pressure on the dollar foreign exchange rate.

Montreal Abstract Painter Wins In World Competition

OTTAWA (CP) — An exhibit of abstract art by Montreal painter and sculptor Jean-Paul Riopelle won second place in judging of world contemporary works at the 31st Venice Biennale, the National Gallery announced Wednesday. The one-man exhibition of 20 paintings and 16 sculptures by the 38-year-old artist now living in Paris was Canada's only entry in the world-famous international show. Mr. Riopelle received $1,000. He is the first Canadian to be among the prize winners in the exhibit which opened June 17 and runs to October. The major prize of $2,200 went to French artist Alfred Manessier. A gallery spokesman here said it was rumored in Venice the judges were split for a time over whether the award should go to Manessier or Riopelle. Canada has been entering exhibits at the Biennale since 1952. A permanent Canadian pavilion was opened in 1958 designed by Italian architect Enrico Peresutti. The Biennale is regarded as the world's principal showcase for modern art.

Red Star Says U.S. History Is Distorted

LONDON (Reuters) — The Russian Army newspaper Red Star said Wednesday a 100-volume official history of the Second World War nearing completion in the United States "distorts the part played by the Soviet Union in achieving victory." The Soviet news agency Tass quoted the article, by Col. V. Kozlov, as saying "sections from this big study were published as a separate book which infinitely exaggerates the importance of the second front and the naval, and particularly air, operations carried out by the American-British forces." "It was the Soviet armed forces that settled the outcome of the Second World War," the article said, adding that U.S. arms deliveries to Russia did not have a material effect.
