Last Junior Championship

"The realm" was wondering if Summerside ever had an Island Junior Hockey Championship before. Well, we had to go pretty far back, but we managed to dig one up. Summerside won the Island Junior Crown in the year 1911. Some of the members of that team were: Horace Clark, Frank MacNeill, and Neddie Ferguson, all still living in Summerside; Lorne McLellan, now living at Ottawa, and a brother of his, deceased. Other who have passed on were Jimmie Tamlyn, Bob Morrison, (brother of the ex-mayor, Ernie), and Neil Durant. George Deegan was the coach. This team beat the Charlottetown Juniors, and that was the end of the trail as there was no Maritime junior play-offs in those days, but they rounded up the season by hanging a 5-0 defeat on the senior Crystals, who were also Island Champs that year. So they must have been a pretty good aggregation. Whether there was another junior champion team during those 53 intervening years, we do no know.

New Role For Coke

53 years from now hockey fans will be talking of the good old days, and maybe someone will say: "Do you remember Stonwall Grady? or will it be "Picket Fence" Grady? In a few days we'll know. Certainly Coke kept improving as that Friday night game advanced, and knowing Coke as we do, we wouldn't be too surprised if he turned out to be a real net wizard. In the first period Coke looked more like a ballet dancer than a goal-tender. We didn't think he was to blame for either of the two goals that beat him. It was the shots he stopped that almost gave us heart-failure. As exgoaler Dave Kerr said Saturday night, the worst thing that can happen a net minder is not to have enough work, and Coke was in that position Friday evening. But he looked better each period and may be just what the Combines needed to win the championship.

Intermediate Hockey

Vance Harris's boys are once again on even terms with Johnny's Hawks, statistically speaking, but their road to the championship is not paved quite as smoothly as that of the Charlotetown team. They have to defeat the Eagles at the RCAF rink, and beating those birds in their own arena can be quite a chore. The Hawks play the Eagles at the Charlottetown Forum, and a Scot would wager his kilt on the outcome of that game. Still, you never can tell. Startling results are happening in the sports world every day. We just heard about that 8-0 dubbing the Royals handed the Millionaires in Sydney. Figure that one out, you hockey experts.

There was plenty of heavy bumping in the Hawk-Combine game, but both sides were dishing it out, and we didn't hear anyone condemning the Combines for rough play. guess you have to have a "little Red Riding Hood" to emphasize by contrast the undesirable qualities of the "Big Bad Wolf." If there was a prize for improvement in hockey this year, Claude Gaudet would certainly be in line for it. Claude got off to a slow start this season, but kept getting better and better, and now is chief production agent on the Combine forward lines. His backhand is the most lethal weapon around, but he can snap the puck into the twines from the other side too.

Here's what can happen in what's left of the "round-robin" play-off. If the Hawks or Combines beat the Eagles, and the other one loses, the winner is champion. If both Hawks and Combines win, there will be a home-and-home, total goal play-off. If both lose, a three-team play off with one team drawing a bye, will be arranged. We give you this because we had it badly muddled in the account of Friday's game. Our alibi is we were at the teletype 30 minutes after midnight, and at that hour, the corner of our cerebrum devoted to mathematics puts out the cat and retires for the night.
