Splendid reports of Lodge activities were given by the deputy presidents of the several Lodges, and the secretary's and treasurer's reports showed continued progress and interest in the work of Rebekah Oddfellowship throughout the Province.

Dennis, Charlottetown; secretary, Mrs. Leon Johnstone, Montague; treasurer, Miss Ethel J. Sutherland, Charlottetown. (re-elected); door-keeper, Mrs. Lloyd Wilkie, Alberton.

Rotarian Speaker Stresses Organization's Philosophy

"To help others in the fullness of joy in living should be uppermost in the lives of Rotarians who have grasped the full meaning of the philosophy of organization," Leo Golden, Hartford, Conn., personal representative of the International President said at the Rotary Governor's banquet last evening in the Charlottetown Hotel. Rotary Governor Alan MacDonald, Bay of District No. 284 presided.

In his opening remarks, Mr. Golden spoke of the regard in which the Rotary Club of Charlottetown is held by public officials of the province and city as well as by citizens generally. The courtesy extended to me by Mayor Stewart in permitting me the honour of throwing the switch to illuminate our centennial birthday cake on Queen Square; the gesture of goodwill and friendship which prompted Lieutenant Governor Prowse and his gracious lady at Government House to grant Mrs. Golden and myself the honour to receive with them, the Premier and the Mayor, as guests were presented at their reception, are unforgettable incidents in our lives," Mr. Golden said.

Speaking of Rotary as the "essence of business and professions" as one of the basic principles, he explained that the classification system was designed to bring all together to exchange views. "To learn a new thing in my mind, not with a view to changing him, but rather to delve more deeply into what each holds in common which may prove beneficial to all.

"My religious convictions, my national and political convictions are my own," he said. "I differ tremendously with many others in such things, but there are big things in which we can grow and live together when we get a common desire and ambition to go ahead with them."

"I want to be respected for what I am—I did not come into Rotary to be made over to a pattern—I want to know people and avoid thoughtless planning without knowledge, which is frequently offensive."

"We must develop an awareness of people no matter where they come from and accept their contribution to our country, and give them something in return, in which they may gladly accept on terms of equality. This is not a melting pot—but a reservoir," he said. "By our deeds, day by day, we should make people among us feel that they are a part of our common interests and that we do honestly respect and admire them."

Seated at the head table in dining room "A" were: Fred McAllister, Governor Elect; Verna Ford, wife of past District Governor.

Stresses Duties Of Democracy At Rotary

"The chief enemy of democracy is an uninformed and apathetic citizenry," said Very Reverend J. H. Doney, rector of St. Joseph's Church, Kentville, speaking at a luncheon meeting of the District Conference of Rotary held at the Charlottetown Hotel yesterday. Mr. Marshall Wilson, president of the Charlottetown Rotary Club, presided.

Taking as his theme, "Are You a Canadian?" Rev. Father Durney traced the history of Canada which for a number of years entailed strife, heartaches, bloodshed and strife to be changed when cool-headed and far-sighted leaders headed by Sir John A. Macdonald to picture a Union which would be advantageous both for defence and expansion.

Father Durney reviewed the steps leading up to Confederation stating that many long hours of debating, planning and study were necessary before the constitution was drawn up and signed at Charlottetown in 1864 to be later ratified by Upper and Lower Canada on July 1, 1867.

Referring to his original question, "Are You a Canadian?" Father Durney expressed doubt whether man understood what the average citizen of life means. As an illustration he said that recently 500 students of various communities in Ontario were asked to set down during a 45 minute period what they understood by the word "democracy."

A small percentage of the students revealed that they had no conception of what democracy meant; about ninety per cent thought of it in terms of rights and privileges only and less than ten per cent made any mention of any duties or responsibilities which the average citizen must shoulder if our democratic way of life is to prevail," said Father Durney.

"To live democratically in all aspects of life, principles of co-operation and tolerance must be applied. This means tolerance of the views and opinions of others. Strikes always end in compromise and false promises and the desire to stir up strife, hold back progress."

"To live democratically in the home, we must recognize and respect the rights of other members of the family—even children. In education teachers only assist parents, they do not replace them. In clubs and societies, people must be united because of religion, race or sex are out," concluded Father Durney.

"Our system of government has its faults, because of the human element but it is still far better than life behind the Iron Curtain where the main thought is to enclose the world—let us stop it and release those already behind it."

Presbyterians In Session

TORONTO (CP)—Professor David Hay of Knox Theological College criticized Presbyterian ministers Tuesday for their "dull and tedious prayer meetings."

He said at the Presbyterian general assembly that he is not advocating application of "liturgical lipstick" to church services but more attractively presented.

"We have been moaning in this assembly that we can't tear people away from movies and television to attend week-night prayer meetings," he said. "It is mostly our own fault. We are tiring our people out with the inadequacy of our methods of prayer."

He suggested the congregation be given more part in such meetings through responsive reading and prayer and that ministers concentrate on explanations of church beliefs and doctrines.

The assembly voted an extra $75,000 to the board of missions which went $92,000 over its budget last year.

Dr. J. A. Munro, board secretary, said the mission board cannot go on assisting local congregations in perpetuity. Its job was to aid congregations to get on their feet financially.

James Dutton of Peterborough, chairman of the board of administration, said there are some congregations showing these tendencies," he said.

'Copter With Two Aboard Missing On Nfld. Coast

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—A helicopter with two persons aboard is missing in the rugged and rocky northeast coast area of Newfoundland and drizzly fog is hampering search operations.

The United Helicopters Limited craft left Springdale Sunday for a 130-mile hop to St. Anthony, on the northern tip of the province, and has not reported since. Some lumber camp employees about 20 miles northwest of Springdale said they saw the helicopter fly past and then returned towards Springdale a short while later. This was the last report received.

Company officials here said names of the pilot and engineer will not be released until next-of-kin have been notified.

First details of the missing copter were released Tuesday when the RCAF had radio stations ask residents of the area for any information they might have.

If the weather clears today, RCAF officials said several light planes and MSAF helicopter will join the hunt. An RCAF Lancaster may also fly from nearby Torbay. The missing aircraft carried a three-day ration supply, sleeping bags and an emergency kit.
