J and S Variety Store Opens This Morning

This morning, the new J and S Variety Store, on the corner of Water and Summer streets will open its doors to the public, featuring infants' and children's wear and ladies' accessories.

For some time the south and west sides of the MacArthur Building, which houses the new store, have been boarded in while the work of reconstructing that portion of the building went on. When these walls were removed, the public saw a new and distinctly lovely frontage. In place of the former single door entrance there are now two doors. A new cased blue carriage glass front has been installed and on the south side a large display window gives a clear view of the interior of the store.

Within the store, the large brick vault which formerly was located at the rear has been removed, thus adding many extra feet of store space. The overall interior color scheme is something of an innovation and is very restful to the eyes. Done in various colors, the overall effect is a nice blending of all these colors.

Flaxibit combinations, something different in display fixtures, are used to show the merchandise on the east and west walls. The racks on these displays may be raised or lowered as desired and have the effect of displaying the goods to the best advantage.

The display racks are lighted by fluorescent lighting and the same type of illumination is also used overhead. Provision has been made in the basement for storage of goods by the construction of a dust proof stock room. The joint proprietors of this new and modern inventory store are Messrs Leslie Simmons and G. Franklyn Cameron, and it is managed by Miss Doris Jardine, with Mrs. Frank McInnis as her assistant. Mrs. Calais Gallant will be saleslady. — S.

Summerside United Church Group Meets

The Trinity Evening Auxiliary of the Summerside United Church held its September meeting on Tuesday evening in the church parlor with the vice-president, Mrs. Donald Lidstone in the chair. Miss Mary Geldart was in charge of the program and after the reading of the Lord's Prayer in unison and singing "Unto the Hills" with Mrs. Eric Sheen at the piano, Mrs. Allen Jenkins led in prayer. Miss Geldart conducted an interesting study based on the book "Home by the Behring Strait" by Mary Winchell who served many years in the Jesse Lee Mission which is operating in the Aleutian Islands under the American Methodist Church. Her talk was illustrated by excerpts from the book and water colour scenes of the Aleutians. A vocal solo, "Under His Wings", by Mrs. Donald Lidstone was much enjoyed. The meeting concluded with prayer and the singing of "Christ Redeem Sinful Men". A social hour followed when refreshments were served by Mrs. Donald Lidstone, Miss Mabel Linkletter and Mrs. Allan Jenkins.

innings, allowed the visitors seven hits, and struck out nine.

Cormier, brilliant reliever, also fanned nine, and gave up only two safe bingles in 2 2/3 innings. Catcher Steve was thrown out on the same by first base judge Jim Hogan for disputing too strenuously a call at the initial sack in the sixth inning.

The next game of the series will be played in Lewisville Saturday afternoon at 1:30 (A.S.T.) and the third game, if one is necessary, will take place on the same diamond on Sunday.

Church Parsonage To Be Moved

The appearance of a familiar landmark on Church Street, Alberton has become quite changed during the past week and in the near future it will be moved to a new location further west on the same street. It is the United Church parsonage. The exact year of its erection as a Methodist parsonage is not known but older residents of the community believe it to be about eighty years ago.

Some few weeks ago the United Church congregation decided to provide a more modern and comfortable residence for their minister and his family and as a result of this decision the parsonage was sold to Mr. Reginald Travers. Last week, under direction of Mr. Hunter Weeks, the kitchen was removed and also the second story of the main house. As a bungalow is now stands ready to be hauled next week to its new location on a lot purchased by Mr. Travers from Miss Shirley McArthur. Plans for a new parsonage are being studied by a committee and it is expected that construction will begin at an early date.

Contract Let For S'side Streets

A contract, which will provide water lines for Sheen Street, North Market Street and West Street and sewerage lines for the first two named has been awarded to Messrs Morrison and MacRae to the amount of $2,807.50. The contract calls for the installation of about 1500 feet of lines, to be a six foot ditch.

Commenting on the installation of water and sewerage lines in Summerside during the past year or two, members of the commission said yesterday that their committee has always received splendid co-operation from Mayor Wedge and his council in their work. Further that it was gratifying to realize that the Mayor and council realized how important it is to have water and sewerage lines extended to all sections of the town as soon as the work can be carried out.

States Wants Meeting About Korean Issue

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 — (AP) — State Secretary Dean Acheson said today the United States wants a "meeting of the minds" with friendly countries on how to deal with the Korean issue at the United Nations general assembly opening next month.

But he brushed aside as a misunderstanding reports that the U. S. Government hoped, in effect, to shift the efforts for a settlement with the Communists from Pannunjom to the U. N.

Acheson was told at his press conference that the idea of such a transfer arose from recent remarks of Ernest Gross of the U.S. delegation. U. S. officials long have taken the stand that military commanders on the spot should work out the military armistice.

Acheson said the Korean issue will be brought up automatically at the general assembly by reports of U. N. commissions.

At the moment, he said, the United States is preparing its positions on all matters expected to come up. As these are clarified, he continued, exchanges of views start with friendly delegations "to see if we can reach some kind of meeting of minds on how to deal with the situation".

Lewis Comes Up With New Work Plan

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 — (AP) — John L. Lewis is busy trying to decide the coal industry with a share-the-work plan calling for heavy penalty wages after a third day's work in any one week.

The idea, casually mentioned by the United Mine Workers' President in preliminary contract talks with coal operators, has the owners buzzing.

Lewis' miners work about 3 1-2 days a week on the average. Some work more, mostly in the north, work a full five days, and even a sixth day at overtime. But many miners,

Troops Raid Homes And Clubs

CAIRO, Sept. 10 — (Reuters) — Troops and police today raided homes and clubs of Egypt's "aristocracy", while Gen. Mohammed Naguib was reported planning to create a $550,000,000 bank to finance the breaking up of big estates among impoverished peasants.

Scores of houses and clubs in Cairo and Alexandria have been raided. Three clubs were deposited King Farouk and his favorites used to meet were ordered closed. They were the Royal Automobile Club, the Mohammed Aly and the Nile Boat Clubs.

From the Royal Automobile Club, police took club correspondence and a cash book showing the gambling losses of Farouk and other officials. From the house of Dr. Yusef Rashad, Farouk's private physician, they took a diary of the playboy king's Capri honeymoon.

Ideas To Beat Coal Shortage

LONDON, Sept. 10 — (Reuters) — A team of experts today came up with a string of ideas on how Britain can ease her chronic post-war electric power shortage.

Coal is the key, as shivering Britons are well aware each winter. It is the main source of power and heat in Britain, yet output from the mines now is even lower than before the war while fuel and power demands are growing.

Some of the ideas, drawn from a report on which the experts have been working on more than a year, are:

1. The nationalized railroads should step up trials of non-coal-burning locomotives — especially gas-turbine engines.
2. Electricity rates should be varied — with lower charges during off-peak periods than in maximum-demand hours.
3. A high-pressure publicity campaign should be waged to encourage use of new ideas in housing insulation and improved heating appliances.

mostly in the south, work only two or three days a week.

Labor contracts between Lewis and the coal operators begin expiring Sept. 20.

The new share-the-work idea, according to reports, calls for a penalty time-and-half pay rate for any work done on a fourth working day in a week, and double pay on any fifth day.

The initial reaction of the operators is that the northern owners, particularly the steel companies owning the "captive" mines, don't like it. The penalty pay might force the steel firms to quit mining coal on fourth and fifth work week days and go out and buy coal on the commercial market.

The probably would mean more business for the southern mines. So the southern owners are taking a longer look at the idea.
