

house of correction, at the discretion of the Court, for any term not exceeding twenty-one years.

IV. Whenever, hereafter, a crime shall have been committed, or charged to have been committed, which shall be punishable with death, it shall be lawful for a Judge of the Supreme Court, on application of any Crown officer or Justice of the Peace, to cause by Summons or Warrant, any material witness in the case, in the opinion of said Judge to be brought before him, and if said Judge deem necessary to require him or her to enter into recognizance with sufficient surety or sureties to appear, in the Supreme Court, and testify and give evidence in the cause, and in default of giving or entering into such recognizance, the Judge may convict the witness to jail, if he think fit, until the trial of the cause shall be finally ended, and the cause itself finally determined.

An Act in further amendment of the Act incorporating the Summerside Bank.

[Passed April 19, 1869.]

WHEREAS, by the Act of the Thirty-first year of Her present Majesty's reign, Chapter Seventeen, intituled "An Act to amend the Act incorporating the Summerside Bank," the time for payment of the last instalment, or third part of the Capital Stock of said Bank, was extended until the first day of January, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-nine; and, whereas, a small proportion of the said last instalment, or third part of the said Capital Stock, was not paid within the time limited by the said Act, and it is necessary to authorize the said Bank, or the President and Directors thereof, to call in and enforce payment of such part of the said Capital Stock, as may still remain unpaid within a further limited period:

Be it therefore enacted by the Administrator of the Government, Council and Assembly:—That the said Bank, or the President and Directors thereof, shall have power, and they are hereby authorized when and so soon as they may deem it expedient so to do, to call for, require, and enforce payment of any balance or portion of the last instalment, or third part of the Capital Stock of the said Bank, which shall remain due or unpaid at the time of the passing of this Act; provided that the whole of the monies or balance of the last instalment, or third part of the said Capital Stock, shall be paid on or before the first day of January, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-one.

II. And, whereas, doubts have been entertained as to legality of the acts and proceedings of the said Bank, and the contracts and engagements made by and with the same, or with the President and Directors thereof, in consequence of the non-payment of the full amount of the Capital Stock of the said Bank, within the time limited by the said recited Act of the 31st Victoria, Chapter 17.

III. Be it therefore further enacted and declared, that no act or proceeding whatsoever, of the said Bank, or the President and Directors thereof, or the officers or Stockholders thereof, nor any contract, deed, agreement, engagement, promise, matter or thing, made, done, entered into or executed, by or between any person or persons, or body or bodies, politic or corporate, and the said Bank, or the President and Directors, or the President, Directors and company of the said Bank, shall or may in any manner or wise be impeached, invalidated, or affected, by reason of the non-payment of the whole amount of the Capital Stock of the said Bank, within the time limited by the said recited Act; but that all such acts, proceedings, contracts, deeds, agreements, engagements, promises, matters and things whatsoever, so made, done, entered into, had or executed, shall be and the same are hereby declared to be as good, valid, operative, binding, and effectual in all respects, and to all intents and purposes, as if the whole amount or balance of the Capital Stock of said Bank had been paid before the first day of January, one thousand eight hundred and sixty nine—anything in the said recited Act to the contrary notwithstanding.
