One-Act Plays Presented At High School In Kensington

On Friday evening, March 7th, the recently completed new auditorium at Kensington High School provided the setting for three one-act plays presented by the pupils of Kensington High School under the direction of Mr. Elmer Power, B. A., B. E. I. The plays presented were "The Rector", "The Price of Coal", and "Suppressed Desires". The cast of "The Rector" were: Garth Caseley, Elizabeth Ramsey, Sheila Caseley, Joyce Meek, Sandra Jardine, Katherine Poole and Lena MacKay. The cast of "The Price of Coal" were: Marjory MacArthur, Gerald MacLeod, Sally Rayner and Laurnetta Mill. The cast of "Suppressed Desires" were: Earle Lockerby, Margaret Murray and Ann Ramsey.

After the presentation of the plays Rev. Adrien Arsenault, Director of Dramatics at Saint Dunstan's University, gave an address of commendation. Father Arsenault congratulated the people of Kensington and vicinity on their fine record and active interest in dramatics in the past, and on the beautiful and fully equipped auditorium which they have provided for their children that they may carry on this tradition. He then congratulated the casts of the three plays on their performance, especially on their participation in the play was very important, and therefore the fact that the audience was very small made the task of the actors a very difficult one. These plays had been presented twice previously to large audiences. He praised especially the cast of "Suppressed Desires" whom he said were always good at times very good. These three plays are entered in the High School Class of Junior Drama competition. The leading plays in each class will be decided at the end of April and will be presented in the Prince Edward Island Drama Festival, which is being held this year on the third week of May. Entries for the Junior Drama close April 15th and must be presented on or before April 31st.
