

400 Attend Lobster Supper

The annual lobster supper, Stewart Memorial Hospital was held in the Ellerslie Hall Wednesday afternoon and evening. A wonderful supper was served to 400 people and a grand sum of money received.

The Legion Brotherhood staged a dance for the hospital and everyone went home happy. A nice donation of money was received from Miss May MacQuarrie, Newton, Mass. for a plaque in memory of the late Dr. Stewart.

Guiders Met In Alberton

A meeting of local Guiders was held on August 30 in the Women's Institute Hall, Alberton with five Guiders present. The meeting opened with introductions, followed immediately by an informative talk by the National Guide Trainer, Miss Nichols on the benefits of Guiding to the child and the community.

She described it as a system of voluntary self-education in character, service to others, handicrafts and health. Service for others is held before the Guide at every turn, commencing with the tiny Brownie whose motto is "Lend a Hand" to the Guide whose motto is "Be prepared".

This was followed by films on England, Scotland, and the International World Camp nestled in the Alps in Switzerland. Finally, Miss Nichols demonstrated several games for the benefit of the Brownie leaders.

The meeting came to a close with expressions of gratitude to Miss Nichols for a most informative and entertaining evening.

youngful exhibitors who had put on a tremendous show could mean a great future for this exhibition and the means of its future success, especially in the cattle class.

The leaders of these two clubs, Cyrus Gallant and Leo Arsenault received high praise from Mr. Allan Palmer, Prince County fieldman for the Department of Agriculture who said that the demonstration of showmanship by the two clubs under the leadership of Cyrus Gallant and Leo Arsenault indicated a great community spirit and was a comforting assurance of the future success of the exhibition in the cattle class at least.

Fine warm weather prevailed throughout the day adding in a great measure to the success of the exhibition and to the comfort of the spectators.

BEGIN PROBE IN S'S IDE DWELLING FIRE

Four locations in the home of Robert T. Holman in Summerside indicate the determined but crude preparations made by an unknown person or persons in attempting to burn down the house while the Holman family was visiting for a few days with relatives in Sydney, N.S.

In an obvious attempt to burn down the home, several other points from basement to attic were prepared for fire in some what similar manner, but the plans for arson were revealed through the efficiency of the Summerside Fire Department whose prompt and effective efforts were warmly commended yesterday by Mr. Herb McCabe of Moncton, investigator for Fire Underwriters Investigation Bureau. Mr. Earl T. MacLeod, provincial fire marshal, and Summerside Chief of Police, Peter R. White, who began an investigation yesterday into the incident in which the home was wrecked by an explosion which touched off an extensive fire within the home on Monday night.

UPPER LEFT, shows the stairway leading to the attic on which small bundles of gas sprinkled kindling wood was piled on each of the lower steps in a manner to lead the fire into the attic from the upstairs section of the house. UPPER RIGHT, is one of several points in the attic where fire traps were prepared on both the north and south sides of the home. The one above contains paper and kindling, while others close by were given a slight variation by including straw.

LOWER LEFT, the wall of a large upstairs bedroom on the west side of the home reveals a large area from which the gyp-rock finish has been chopped, with holes cut in the wall and filled with gas-soaked kindling while another pile of kindling is heaped on a chair cushion and placed beside one of the apartments chopped in the wall. Also on the floor in the foreground is plaster debris and rock wool insulation material which had been removed from between the walls.

LOWER RIGHT, is seen one of the most elaborate fire traps which failed to ignite. In a bedroom on the second floor on the east end of the home, two or three armloads of kindling is seen piled on and around a quantity of straw which covered a large chair cushion, while towels and clothing are seen stuffed into several holes chopped into the wall.

Stout, he is a heavy smoker and seldom is seen on informal occasions without a pipe or cigaret. He is a witty speaker whose presidential addresses have gained wide recognition, and is also noted for his administrative ability in directing Canada's largest university.

He is married and has three children.

FINED $50 FOR Hit And Run

A light docket faced Magistrate R.S. Hinton at Alberton Court Wednesday morning, an O'Leary resident was fined $50, and costs under the Criminal Code for failing to stop at the scene of an accident. An additional fine of $50, and costs was imposed under the Highway Traffic Act for operating a motor vehicle when his license was suspended.

A resident of Tignish was fined $20.00 and costs for possession of undersized lobsters and an Alberton South fisherman pleaded to retaining a quantity of undersized lobsters and was fined $5.00 and costs.

DECLINED TWICE
The prime minister, who already has in his cabinet two men who ran against him for the party leadership at national conventions—Finance Minister Fleming and Justice Minister Fulton—adds in Dr. Smith a man who twice declined to be a leadership candidate at conventions contested by Mr. Diefenbaker.

A First World War veteran, first a gunner and then a member of the Royal Flying Corps, Dr. Smith was an undergraduate at 14 in King's College, Windsor, N.S. He subsequently attended Dalhousie University, Halifax, and Harvard, and was called to the Nova Scotia bar in 1921.

After teaching law at Osgoode Hall, Toronto, he returned to Dalhousie's law school as dean. In 1934, at 37, he became Canada's youngest university president, at Manitoba.

In 1944 he became assistant to Dr. H. J. Cody, then president of the University of Toronto, and took over on Dr. Cody's retirement the next year.

Under Dr. Smith's guidance the university has become a $15,000,000-a-year enterprise.

RESUME TRADITION
Appointment of Mr. Balcer would resume for the Conservatives a tradition that has been broken off in recent years. This is that the government party's Quebec strong man under an English-speaking prime minister has been minister of justice. Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe was in this position while right-hand man of former prime minister Mackenzie King, and so was Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent before he became prime minister.

Who might succeed Mr. Balcer as solicitor-general was problematical. A possibility was that it might be Hon. James Macdonnell, minister without portfolio, who may go to the Senate to open his Toronto Greenwood riding for Dr. Smith. Mr. Macdonnell is 72.

Both Mr. Fulton and Mr. Balcer are lawyers. Mr. Fulton sitting for Kamloops, B.C., and Mr. Balcer for Trois-Rivieres, Que.

Mr. Fulton, it has been reported, was initially offered the office of Speaker—presiding officer—of the Commons by the new prime minister but turned it down in favor of a portfolio. The Speaker now is expected to be Dr. R. Michener of Toronto St. Paul's.

Should Mr. Fulton drop his justice position, it would leave just one regular minister holding a second portfolio. This is Works Minister Howard Green, who has been doubling as defence production minister. Reports are that the defence production department may be folded up.

Will Be 5th

The prime minister had been accused in some quarters of reducing the external affairs ministry to a secondary role by attempting to carry it in addition to his other heavy responsibilities, after the world prominence it had gained when headed by Liberal Lester (Mike) Pearson.

WORK PILES UP
There has been a certain pileup of work within the department, but senior officials said the period of "coasting" could have lasted another two months before the situation would have become more demanding.

While Dr. Smith would lead the U.N. delegation, it is expected that Mr. Diefenbaker will also visit the U.N. early in his session to deliver a major policy speech. Before Wednesday's word of Dr. Smith's projected entry into the
