By-Elections Not Likely To Fill Assembly Seats

Stating that the 1965 session of the Legislative Assembly will likely begin with 28 members, Premier W. R. Shaw said yesterday he doubted that by-elections would be held to fill the two vacant seats, one in Prince and one in Kings.

Observers had suggested that an unscheduled trip to Summerside a week ago by Premier Shaw and Provincial Secretary J. David Stewart might have been for consultation with Prince County cabinet ministers on the choice of a candidate for Prince.

Premier Shaw later said the trip had no political connotations, however, and was in connection with the development of an industrial park in Summerside.

The cabinet will probably set a date for the session opening at the cabinet's weekly meeting today, the premier said.

Thursday, Feb. 25, has been suggested as the opening date in government circles, although Opposition Leader A. W. Matheson has predicted a Feb. 16 opening and gave as alternate dates Feb. 9 and Feb. 23.

Premier Shaw said the treasury board may begin its annual series of meetings this week to put final touches on the budget estimates. Government departmnts have been working on the estimates for the past two months.

He said the results of representations made to Ottawa concerning federal aid in the past year or so have been disappointing. "Possibly further investigation in the tax field may bring about a more charitable attitude on the part of Ottawa toward the province."

Premier Shaw said he "is concerned with the opting-out principle which gives provinces, able to undertake services now sharable, tremendous financial powers.

"I hope this opting-out will not affect the financial situation of the weaker provinces.

"I have always felt that a strong central government with a control of adequate finances and a recognition of the needs of all provinces, on the basis of their ability to produce revenue, is necessary. A diversion from strong central government may very well result in an unfavorable situation between federal authorities and authorities in the weaker provinces."

Premier Shaw said that at the forthcoming session an opportunity will be given for full discussion on proposals of Atlantic union. 'Members," he said, "will be given a chance to express their views freely and expressions of opinion will not be governed by politics."

The public is invited to attend.

Unemployment Down For Year In Prince Co.

SUMMERSIIDE — Even though unemployment has been relatively high in Prince County, figures released by the Summerside National Employment office show a decrease in the number of unemployed, between December of 1963 and December 1964.

This past year revealed 1,003 males and 337 females were out cf work. By the end of December 1963 the unemployed labor force was considerably higher as 1,243 males and 376 females for a total of 1,619 were idle. for the decline was due to more

Earl Cannon, manager of the NES office, said the reason for the decline was due to more winter works projects and small construction jobs.

The largest structure being built in the county is a machine shop at Curran and Briggs in St. Eleanors. It measures 150 feet by 60 feet with solid concrete blocking 20 feet high at a total cost of $70,000.

Retirement For Minister Is Most Active Time Ever

By MAUREEN DRISCOLL

"We must work to the limit while it is day for the night cometh when no man shall work."

This is the motto of a P.E.I. born Presbyterian minister, Rev. J.S. Bonnell, who is also chairman of the royal commission for the advancement of higher education on P.E.I.

Dr. Bonnell, who was brought up in Charlottetown, said "Every time I walk past old West Kent School I feel a pang of nostalgia. That doesn't necessarily mean I was a faithful attendant. I can remember absenting myself from class many times, which was a fairly safe procedure before the days of the truant officer. However I associate many happy memories with the place—memories of Ross Bethune, Flo MacKenzie (later Mrs. MacLaren) and Mary Cornfoot (Mrs. Brehaut)."

Dr. Bonnell stated that he seized upon one of his most prized possessions, an old, battered, initial-carved desk similar to the one at which he had sat through the years, when the furnishings of the school were being scrapped.

Ordained 42 years ago, Dr. Bonnell began preaching under the oversight of a presbytery exactly 50 years ago in a little church located near the Mount Pleasant airport. Since that time he has preached in many parts of the world.

ONLY COMMENT

The only comment Dr. Bonnell cared to make about the commission's report to the P.E.I. Government was, "I think it will mean a new page in the history of education in P.E.I.". He has been associated with the commission since its formation in May, when he received a cable in Australia, where he was preaching at the time, asking him to serve on it.

Dr. Bonnell, always a very active man, when questioned about his retirement, replied "I can honestly say that the three years since I left the active leadership of the 5th Avenue Presbyterian Church have been the happiest years of my life. The best way to enjoy retirement is to refuse to retire. In the past three years of "retirement "I have delivered three times as many sermons and addresses as in any similar period of my entire ministry."

During this period Dr. Bonnell was preaching missions and giving lectures in both Canada and the U.S.A. He has crossed the continent at least eight times and gone completely around the world, speaking in Hawaii, Fiji Islands, New Zealand, Australia (two months) Singapore, Thailand, India and the Holy Land where he and his wife visited such sacred places as Bethlehem, Gethsemane, Calvary and spent a night in Jerusalem. In Lebanon they visited Beruit, motored to Damascus and walked along the street called Strait which had been visited by Saint Paul. In London he preached in the City Temple, one of the most famous churches in the British Commonwealth. His departure from London was hastened by the need to get back to P.E.I. to greet Dr. Billy Graham.

Dr. Bonnell is married to the daughter of the late Dr. George Carruthers, a well known physician and surgeon in Charlottetown in earlier years. At the time of their marriage 41 years ago, Mrs. Bonnell was the supervisor of the Women's Institutes in P.E.I.

HOLIDAY HERE

Dr. Bonnell said, "In the 41 years of our marriage during which time we have lived in Winnipeg and New York we have missed only one summer holiday in P.E.I." Mrs. Bonnell accompanied him on all his long trips.

This meeting of the commission bringing Dr. Bonnell to the Island enabled him to see his summer residence in Georgetown "The Highlands" in its winter garb for the first time in 25 years. He said, "I was thrilled at the beautiful sight of giant firs and spruces covered with a mantle of spotless snow three or four inches deep on every branch. It occurred to me with the present craze for skiing that a genuine tourist attraction could be made by the erection of ski slides in the vicinity of Tea Hill."

To Dr. Bonnell who has been absent for so many winters, P.E.I. is truly beautiful in this season. He said, "perhaps if I were gazing at the landscape for months on end some of my present excitement might be abated."

In connection with the ecumenical spirit Dr. Bonnell told of preaching a retreat for ministers in Princetown, New Jersey at a Presbyterian seminary centre dedicated to "Continued Education" and chiefly attended by pastors. The significant changes that are occurring in interfaith relations was shown at that time by the fact that one of the pastors who attended throughout and "made a splended contribution "was a Roman Catholic parish priest.

FIVE MINISTERS

Dr. Bonnell said, "In our own family we have somewhat of an ecumenical movement—our son is a minister and all three daughters are married to ministers. When we five ministers get together we have an interesting time. One belongs to the United Church of Canada, another to the Northern Baptist Church and three are Presbyterians."

In reference to the books he has written Dr. Bonnell said, "I have published ten books and I have eleven grandchildren. For the last 10 years it has been a race between my books and my grandchildren. At the moment the grandchildren are leading but I hope to have a book published before another year passes. At this stage it is yet undetermined as to who will win the race—the grandchildren or the books."

Since he has been preaching for nearly 50 years, the question of age has been asked of him a number of times. In regard to this Dr. Bonnell said, "Well, suffice it to say that I have now passed the limit mentioned in the scripture for the average run of mortals—three score years and ten. I am under no illusion as to how long I shall be remembered when life's brief day comes to an end. All of us are quickly forgotten save in the hearts of closest friends and dear ones."

When Dr. Bonnell returns to New York, where he had been Pastor of Riverside Church for many years, he has a number of writing obligations for several magazines to fulfill along with mission and lecture appointments in San Antonio, Tex., San Francisco, as well as 16 addresses to give in Sacramento, in a period of eight days. Following that he has a preaching engagement in Tucson, Arizona, a speaking engagement in Phoenix, Arizona; a mission in Plainfield, N.J. and another Sunday service in Riverside Church, New York. This will be followed by a heavy speaking engagement in Talahassee, Florida from where he will go to Montreal for a mission in St. James United Church following a rest at Miami Beach. In May he and his wife will return to their summer home in Georgetown but their vacation will be interrupted by speaking engagements in Virginia and North Carolina at Bible Conferences.

Dr. Bonnell who already has quite a few speaking appointments booked for 1966 said, "The deadliest peril that besets the "retired" person is the rocking chair and days spent in living on past memories. As people grow old it is my deep conviction that they should constantly make new friends among younger people as their old friends constantly disappear from the scene. It is an evil day for any person who wakes up in the morning and finds himself with no duties to be performed and with no obligation pressing upon him. Everyone should prepare during the last 10 years before retirement in preparation and planning for a new and at least somewhat different vacation during the "retirement" years."

As a final tribute to the Island Dr. Bonnell said, "I have boundless admiration for the splendid youth of P.E.I. today. It augurs well for the future of the province to have a generation rising up with the qualities of P.E.I. youth."

Dr. Bonnell left recently to rejoin his wife in their Riverside Drive apartment "which has five windows looking out on the Hudson River with its constant traffic of ships from all over the world" before starting off on another speaking journey.

AFTER SPECTACULAR PARACHUTE STUNT

Rod Pack (left), 26, a Hollywood stunt man, talks with his wife Nancy and Bob Allen, a parachutist and carpenter, at Pack's North Hollywood home after telling of performing a spectacular parachute jump in which Pack jumped from a plane without a parachute. They told newsmen Allen handed Pack his chute in a deliberate stunt, with both then landing safely. Pack said he did it for publicity. (AP Wirephoto)
