Wise Prediction.

"I am thinking of going into politics," he said thoughtfully.

"What!" exclaimed his wife.

"Yes; some of the party leaders have been to me, and they assure me that I would be a very strong man and almost certain to be elected."

"John Henry," she said, "you're worth $2,000,000, aren't you?"

"Easily that."

"Well, you just assign everything over to me and then go to the party leaders and tell them you've done it, and then if they still consider you a strong man and want you to run for office I won't say a word. It is just as well for you to find out at the start in what your strength lies."—Chicago Post.

As Good as Her Word.

"Whatever became of that pretty Miss Hill who always said she would marry a man of her own name or remain single?"

"Well, she carried out her promise to all intents and purposes. She married a poor coot named Sandhill, who really hadn't a bit of sand."—Chicago Tribune.

Empire Crumble.

"I see that the German emperor says that his people will hold the Samoan islands as long as there is a German empire."

"He'd have made it much more enduring if he had said 'while limburger lasts.'"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Touching.

"What," asked the sentimental young woman, "was the most touching incident you ever witnessed?"

And after some thought Senator Sorghum answered, with emphasis: "An election."—Washington Star.

When they read about the Peasant-women of Europe who labor in the fields, Americans are prone to condemn the political conditions that cause this state of affairs, and to lavish a great deal of pity on these poor abused women. Our condemnation of some European institutions is doubtless all right, but we had better save a little of our pity and lavish it right here at home. The American wife and mother who labors morning, noon and night, in the close confinement of the home is in some respects worse off than the abused Peasant-woman. The latter enjoys fresh air, sun-light and out-door exercise and retains that most precious endowment, her health.

American women, ever busy in the close confines of the home, get delicate and soon suffer from weakness and derangement of the delicate feminine organs. Confinement to the house runs down their health and they suffer from internal ulceration and inflammation, giving rise to debilitating drains on the system. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes the important feminine organs, that are the cradle of the race, strong, healthy and vigorous. It is invaluable to nursing mothers and overworked housewives. All medicine dealers sell it.

"I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes Mrs. G. J. Pender, of No. 6 Logan Street, Pittsburg, Pa., "up until the day baby was born and it helped me so much. I had a very easy time, was only in labor a short time and suffered very little. Baby is a lovely big girl, and your wonderful medicine has made me well of all my female troubles."

Nothing so many times pays for itself as a good medical book. The very best one is Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. Now for a limited time, an edition paper-covered, will be distributed FREE. Send 31 one-cent stamps (to pay the cost of customs and mailing only), to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.; cloth-covered 50 stamps.

The SCOTCH WHISKY chosen by the Red Cross Society, London, for use by the invalided troops and hospitals in South Africa, is the famous WHITE HORSE CELLAR brand of MacKie & Co., Distillers, Limited, Islay and Glasgow, one of the oldest firms in the trade. On intimation of this, Messrs MacKie, with usual generosity, presented 200 cases free of charge, and shipped them by first steamer to the Cape.

One of the family is a volunteer in the Imperial Yeomanry, and on his way now to the Cape. It is hoped that he may give a good account of himself.

PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

undivided settlement in Quebec as elsewhere, that the honor and interest of Canada alike required that the entire expenditure in this matter should be borne by Canada. (cheers.) He hoped it was not too late for the government to reconsider the question. The press of the conservative party was unanimous in support of the view he had put forth and ministerial papers like the Montreal Witness, Montreal Herald and Globe also supported the proposal.

STILL SPEAKING AFTER RECESS.

Sir Charles, resuming after recess, spoke again to the grave constitutional scandal presented by Mr. Bourassa's resignation, as a protest against the course of the government that had not opposed his resignation.

With the paragraph in the speech, commenting on Lord Strathcona's splendid offer of a third contingent, he heartily agreed and in this connection he would gain refer to the magnificent action of the gentlemen, a friend of his, in insuring the lives and limbs of 1,000 of the first Canadian contingent.

INSURANCE OF VOLUNTEERS.

Mr. Tarte had decided that offer (hear, hear.) He would read its terms (laughter from the government benches.)

There, exclaimed the opposition leader indignantly, is the evidence that the friends of the minister of public works are not in union with the patriotic sentiments of the people. "The claqueurs of the ministry are ready to jeer at the provision made by a private citizen for the lives and limbs of the brave volunteers who are in the field in South Africa (hear, hear.)"

GOVERNMENT'S ACTION CONTRASTED.

How strongly in contrast to the gentleman's generosity was the action of the government. The Globe led the volunteers to believe that the government would place similar insurance for their benefit. But when the government found what it was going the cost, it backed down and "this black, this deepest tragedy" of misleading the brave volunteers had gone un-atoned for.

THE PROTECTION OF THE FLAG.

Canadians not only enjoyed complete independence, but were in the position of having had the protection of the British army and navy without a penny of cost. How then could Canada shrink from doing her duty by the mother country in this hour of trial? Talk of taxation without representation. If the British parliament imposed a dollar of taxation upon us to sustain this great navy, there might be something in the cry, but what was being done in regard to sending troops to aid the imperial cause, was with the consent of the free parliament of Canada.

CONSTITUTION PROVIDED FOR IT.

The constitution provided that in cases of unforeseen necessity the Government had the power to take sufficient to meet it from the public treasury and submit its action to parliament afterwards. There could be only one doubt as to the attitude of the people towards the Government's policy in that regard, and the issue of it depended on the Government's acting on a broad and liberal spirit. (cheers.)

It was well that Lord Strathcona's splendid offer had been referred to in eulogistic terms, but the 2,500 brave volunteers had done more than even Lord Strathcona in taking service for the flag, and their sacrifice should not have been unrecognized in the speech.

DANGER ON THE PRAIRIES.

Alkali in Great Source of Trouble in Northwest.

OAK LAKE, Man., Feb. 5.—One of the great drawbacks to life in the great Canadian wheat belt, is the presence of alkali in the water. This is a prolific source of kidney and bladder trouble and it is for this reason that Dodd's Kidney Pills are becoming indispensable in this district.

Frank Colleaux, of Oak Lake writes: "It gives me great pleasure to testify to the excellent curative qualities of Dodd's Kidney Pills. About two years ago I was attacked with kidney disease and severe pain in the back. A friend of mine advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I did so and six boxes cured me. My back has not troubled me since."
