

10,000 Enjoy Kiwani's Pool

Approximately 10,000 children enjoyed the facilities of the Kiwanis pool at Brighton Beach during the summer months.

The swimming pool is operated jointly by the Kiwanis Club and the P.E.I. Red Cross Society under the leadership of Mrs. Harry W. Cudmore, director of the Red Cross swimming and water safety program.

Swimming and water safety classes were carried out each morning by the instructional staff.

The chief instructor was Mr. Kent Ellis assisted by Miss Mabel Saunders and Mr. Pius McInnis. Approximately 600 children enrolled for these periods of instruction.

Swings, slides and other playground equipment have been erected in the field adjacent to the pool by the Charlottetown Playground Commission. These added attractions in the park area have not only been very popular with the children but also provided a safe playing area under supervision.

Home And School Executive Meets

A meeting of the executive of the Prince Edward Island Home and School Federation was held in Charlottetown on Monday, Sept. 27. It was announced that Mrs. Basil MacDonald, Tracadie Cross, had been appointed the Provincial Home and School representative on the Prince Edward Island Council of Education.

Mr. K. A. Parker, Mrs. W. E. Scantlebury and Rev. Father Robin of Rustico, were appointed representatives on the National Home and School Board.

It was felt that the Community Leaders' Workshop, which is to be held in Winloe in October, should through its promotion of leadership, prove very beneficial to this organization, and it was suggested that members be encouraged to attend.

In answer to a request for information re the P. E. I. Home and School Federation, material on this subject was forwarded to the Canadian Homes and Gardens Magazine.

Plans for the semi-annual meeting to be held in November will be made at the next meeting.

Fine Performance By R.C.A.F. Band

"It oversadows any Band that I have ever heard," were the words from a veteran bandman and conductor at the performance last night by the Central Band of the R.C.A.F. at the Prince of Wales College Hall, under direction of S/L E. Kirkwood.

The 54-piece Band, playing without any superfluous instruments, gave a performance that will long be remembered by music lovers in this City. The only regret heard was that they had to leave so soon.

The Band rendered the following programme: "Benvenuto Elini"; Pianoforte, (Gilbert and Sullivan) Voices of Spring (Strauss); Concerto for Trombone; Mardi Gras; El Relicario; Tribute to Sousa; Tribute to Richard Rodgers; Path of Victory (French March); Two songs "All the Things You Are" and "Secret Love" by Sgt. Richardson. God Save The Queen.

People will long be talking about the trombone soloist and the vocalist who gave the audience something to remember. The Band is the R.C.A.F. Confederation Wing of the R.C.A.F. Association will move next to the Royal, N.S. This band does not take them west of Ottawa.

Local Firm Pays With Silver Dollars

"More than four thousand silver dollars have been put into circulation in the city through recent payrolls of J. and T. Morris Limited, and many thousands more in the payment of accounts by the firm," J. F. Morris, President of the Company said yesterday. "We have been watching the circulation of these silver dollars and have traced hundreds of them to various places of business, indicating how payroll money gets around locally and adds to the economy of the country. Many of the silver pieces have also been retained as pocket pieces 'and souvenirs'."

J. and T. Morris Limited, along with the City of Charlottetown, next year crashes the barrier of one hundred years in business and starts the second century of its existence as a going concern in the city. Mr. J. F. Morris, who has been president of the Company since 1934, has as his associate his son Mr. John Morris, representing a fourth generation of succession of the Morris family in conducting the business. In the manufacture of "Peerless" beverages, the firm caters exclusively to the home market.

Gives Report On Swimming, Water Safety

Dr. George Fisher who shared with Rev. M. D. Dunbar the responsibilities of chairman of the Swimming and Water Safety Committee of the Red Cross in his recent report of the summer activities said that 3361 young people enrolled in classes in 70 different courses in the Province.

Thirty-six instructors qualified from two instructor schools conducted in Charlottetown, 22 advanced swimmers qualified for Royal Life Saving Awards and four young men merited the Life Guard Proficiency Awards. 47 local swimming and water safety committees were actively engaged in sponsoring the work throughout the Island.

The chairman of these committees along with the other members have carried out a remarkable amount of volunteer service. Each of the committees supplied daily supervision on the beach each day during the swimming period. This type of assistance is a vital necessity where large groups of children assemble as it is impossible for the swimming and water safety instructor to teach a class and control other groups at the same time.

Twelve camps were supplied with trained swimming and water safety instructors during the camping season. Red Cross swimming and water safety equipment was available to these camps and Red Cross and Royal Life Saving Society tests were conducted and awards presented.

Presentation To Royal Children Of Island Author's Classic Tales

Canada has few literary classics which will rank for craftsmanship and permanent value, with the late Hon. Dr. Cyrus Macmillan's "Canadian Wonder Tales." The first edition of this work, in a beautifully illustrated quarto volume, appeared in 1918, and is now extremely difficult to procure. The final proofs were corrected by Dr. Macmillan while he was serving overseas as commander of the 6th Canadian Seige Battery, during the height of the Passchendaele operations. The book has since been translated into several languages, and reprints in English have appeared.

It was the late Prime Minister Mackenzie King's intention to present a limited copy of the original edition to their Majesties King George VI and Queen Elizabeth during the royal tour which preceded the outbreak of the Second World War, but this was not possible at the time. However, a copy has recently been presented by Mrs. Cyrus Macmillan through His Excellency the Governor General, to their present Majesties' children. The copy is inscribed as follows: "To The Duke of Cornwall and The Princess Anne."

P. E. I. Potato Growers' Association Shows Trading Profit of Over $5,000

The annual meeting of the P. E. I. Potato Growers' Association was held at the Company's offices on Wednesday afternoon, September 29. The president, Mr. L. T. Beaton, acted as chairman of the minutes of the last annual meeting and the minutes of the directors' meetings held throughout the year, there developed a lengthy discussion on the question of the disposal of debentures issued by this Association in 1947. It was decided to continue a policy adopted at a previous directors' meeting.

Secretary's Report

The secretary, Mr. James P. Callahan, then submitted the financial report of the year's transactions. He explained that during the year two audits of the accounts were made by H. R. Doane & Co. The first was on November 30, 1953, at which time Mr. Callahan became manager, the next one being the regular audit at the end of the year's business, June 30, 1954. During that period, although handicapped in many ways, the P.E.I. Potato Growers' Association showed a net trading profit of $5086.85.

In moving the adoption of the secretary's financial report, Mr. W. B. McLellan, warmly complimented the management on having successfully terminated a difficult year's business. Mr. E. C. Holmes seconded the motion and spoke briefly supporting Mr. McLellan's remarks.

The meeting then elected Mr. James Allan, Covehead, as director for Queen's County, Mr. Brent Clark, Augustine Cove, as director for Prince County and Mr. Leith Townshend, Souris, as director for Kings County.

At the conclusion of the annual meeting a short directors' meeting was held at which Mr. L. T. Beaton was re-elected as president and Mr. E. Howatt of North Wiltshire as vice-president. The directors then engaged Mr. James P. Callahan as secretary-manager.

Perfection Only Thing Acceptable In Canada Guards

CAMP PETAWAWA, Ont., (CP) "Perfection," said Maj-Gen. John Rockingham, "is the only thing acceptable in the Canadian Guards."

The general officer commanding the 1st Canadian Infantry Division, was addressing No. 1 platoon, 4th Company, 2nd Battalion, the Regiment of Canadian Guards.

The platoon had just completed its passing-out parade after 20 weeks of initial training. The boys in it—most are only 17—no longer are called recruits but carry the title Guardsmen.

Gen. Rockingham and Lt.-Col. M. F. (Tony) MacLachlan, MC, 36, of Great Village, N. S., commander of the 2nd Battalion, were obviously pleased with the showing.

It would be an exaggeration to say the boys of his platoon had reached perfection in such a short time, but, as Gen. Rockingham said later in an interview, it was remarkable that each boy took an obvious pride in himself and his unit and had such a good grasp of soldiering.

This is even more surprising because the Regiment of Canadian Guards was formed only last October. The 2nd Battalion is still below half strength. Recruits are allocated to battalions by army headquarters at Ottawa—a unit does not enlist men on its own hook.

The 2nd Battalion was formed in January and 50 per cent of its officers and men came from the old 3rd Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry.

Col. MacLachlan said that though it is still too early for an accurate survey, up to 75 per cent of the men are signing on for further periods of service with the battalion. Former defence minister Claxton said in June the re-engagement figure for the army as a whole is about 60 per cent.

"Our figure is surprising since many of the men came to us from other units," said the combat

The Week at S. D. U.

A regrettable fact about present-day Education is that spiritual development is not keeping pace with material advancement. This is especially regrettable in view of the possibilities of some of the more recent Scientific discoveries. The general trend today seems to favour the acquisition of knowledge insofar as it is useful; while the acquisition of knowledge for the sake of developing the mind and broadening the outlook seems to be generally frowned upon.

One of the most important phases of our education here at St. Dunstan's is our spiritual education. Each day begins on a spiritual note as the students rush to the Chapel, in answer to the rising bell, to hear Mass. Religious exercises participated in during the day give a touch of spiritual flavour to the day's work. Classes and studies account for most of the remaining time during the day. However, "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy," is considered a pretty sound slogan, and there is ample time allowed for recreation. Even those who are not the athletic type may participate in some of the mild sports such as handball, ping-pong, pool, etc. Thus, studies, spiritual exercises, meals and recreation constitute a well-balanced day in the life of a student at St. Dunstan's.

Since last week the Presidents of the various classes have been elected. They are as follows: Senator, Alton Craig; Junior, Earl Handrahan; Sophomore, George Mullyally; Freshman, Kenneth Macdonald; Grade XII, John R. Macdonald; Grade XI, Jack Ascoli; Grade X, Desmond Irving.

Each president acts as the representative of his class in the Students' Union executive. His duty is to voice the opinions of his classmates and present their problems at meetings of this executive. Thus, all students, whether in High School or College, have a voice in the Student government.

During the past week the nominating committee have appointed officers for the various organizations. These are: M. I. C. L.: President, Alton Craig; Vice-President, Leo McGinn; Secretary-Treasurer, Alred McKinnon. Dramatic Society: President, Richard A. Wedge; Vice-President, Edward Baird; Secretary-Treasurer, Arthur Seaman. Glee Club: President, Thomas Kane; Vice-President, William Cameron; Secretary-Treasurer, Henry Gaudet. W. U. S. C.: President, Richard H. Wedge; Vice-President, George Mullyally; Secretary-Treasurer, Corinne Duffy.

In the field of sports football is, of course, in the limelight. The coaches are holding practice sessions daily for the first and second teams. The boys are really working hard and this year's football season promises to be a good one for St. Dunstan's. A team is beginning to shape up which may be as good as, or better than, any Red and White squad that ever took to the field. Be that as it may, a team of eager, hard-working boys will be ready to give their all for the honour of their college, when the Saints play host to the St. John Mariners this afternoon. We cannot predict the outcome of today's game, but regardless of how it ends, this game with the St. John Mariners will give the Saints a chance to test their strength and to get tougher.

"You think we were trying to become some snob outfit or something special," one officer said. "All we want to be is a good regiment. Of course, every regiment wants to be the first in the army. Otherwise, what would happen to morale?"

Col. MacLachlan said the recruits are a better calibre than those of the Second World War, have a higher educational standard and seem better able to assimilate training.

ABILITY RECOGNIZED
The 2nd Battalion has introduced a "badgen" system under which promising recruits are given some responsibility and earmarked as NCOs. There was one badgenman in the graduating platoon—David Hallworth, 22, of Hallybury, Ont. "I'd never leave the infantry," he said. He has been in the army 5 1/2 months.

Chats with the recruits showed that they have few, if any complaints. They liked the work—8 a.m. to 5 p.m., every other Saturday off—and the food.

A 12-man unit is expected back from Britain soon with information on just how the British Brigade of Guards performs on the parade square. The drill will be incorporated into procedure of the Canadian Guards.

Recruits must concentrate so heavily on drill and other training

WHERE THE NEW SILVER DOLLARS ARE COMING FROM

A view of the cashier's table at the offices of J. & T. Morris Ltd., makers of Peerless Beverages, showing the new silver dollars which go in payment of wages to the firm's employees. This unique gesture of Messrs. Morris was made some time ago and will be continued. Envelopes could not be used so the bright coins are contained in cotton bags supplied by H. M. Simpson, Ltd. ed up for their first big inter-collegiate encounter next Saturday. For the poorer physical specimens among us intramural football provides an opportunity to keep our puny muscles in shape. A great deal of interest is taken in intramural games and competition is keen among the different classes. Several exhibition games have already been played. The captains of the intramural teams have been chosen, and are busy organizing their followers, each with strong hopes of winning this year's laurels. The following have been chosen captains of their respective teams: Junior, Earl Handrahan; Sophomore, Elmer Hamdram; Freshman, Reginald Peters; Grade XII, Neil Gillis; Grade XI, Jack Ascoli.
