Tasty Veal Stew Made With Fresh Vegetables

By IDA BAILEY ALLEN

Arguments are generally futile and destructive, but occasionally restraint is impossible. So right now I'm going to "talk back" to a complex electronic machine that supplied answers to some aspects of home food consumption recently reported in a leading advertising journal.

NOT AVERAGE FAMILY

I might go along with the "machine" statement that some families, but not the average family, serves 45 different dishes during a two-week period. I do not agree that the closer to pay day the more lavish the menu. Every homemaker knows that when the pocketbook is flat, meals tend to become economical and often dull.

Neither do I believe that 25 per cent of all family meals are prepared by male members of the family. Years of personal research negate that statement.

NATION OF FATTIES

I agree that over 60 per cent of the surveyed families probably eat during traditional meal hours, and that 30 per cent of all snacking occurs after 7.00 p.m. That's one big reason why we are becoming a nation of "fatties."

Now for the payoff!

The report continues: "A great many women don't clean the kitchen after eating. Their kitchens are a mess. They do the dishes about once a week."

Oh, no, Mr. Electronic Machine Exercise a little real-life logic.

NOT ENOUGH DISHES

Homes do not own enough dishes to go around without washing for a week. Also, no home mechanical dishwasher could hold, all at one time, the dishes used for seven days by an average family of four or more.

Furthermore, no homemaker could endure the inconvenience, unpleasant smell, and the horrific spectre of washing a heifer's mountain of sticky, dirty dishes all at one session!

TOMORROW'S DINNER

Veal stew with fresh vegetables, hot dropped biscuits, apple beefy, hard sauce, coffee, tea or milk.

All measurements are level; recipes for 4 to 6.

Salami Plates: For each person, use 2 half-slices each salami and pimento. Arrange around a mound of celery coleslaw. Top with a rolled anchovy fillet.

Veal Stew with Vegetables: Cut 2 lbs. stewing veal into 1 in. cubes. Remove any membranes and connective tissues.

Into the veal, stir 1 1/2 tsp. powdered meat tenderizer. Stand 30 min. at room temperature.

Into a 3-qt. saucepan, put 6 c. boiling water, 1 tsp. salt, 1/2 tsp. pepper, 2 beef bouillon cubes, 1 tsp. bouquet garni and cover.

Simmer-boil 45 min. Add 2 sliced scraped carrots, 6 quartered peeled potatoes and 6 quartered peeled onions. Continue to cook until vegetables are tender.

To thicken, blend 1 tbsp. flour with 1/2 cup cold water. Stir in, simmer 2 min.

Season to taste with a favorite condiment sauce.

Pass plenty of hot crisp dropped biscuits.

NEWS FROM THE CHIEF

A new bouquet garni is on sale in dried powdered form, ready to use when cooking meat, poultry, fish or vegetables. Add it to soups, to canned soups when reheating or to salad dressings.

BLACK FOX BEAUTY

BY ALICE ALDEN

TODAY'S big cover-all hats are a far cry from the tiny pill boxes of a few seasons back. Covering the hair completely, they stop just above the eyes. William J. fashioned this whimsical number of luxurious black fox. Extending his province beyond millinery, he added yards and yards of perfectly matched black fox for a boa that is this year's big fur accessory sensation.

Dear Lucy:

Just a hurried note to let you know how much I am looking forward to seeing you. I would just love to help you with your last minute shopping. As soon as you get to town we will go directly to Island Furriers to get the sweaters and skirts that you mentioned. It is by far the best store to buy them at, for one thing I am sure that they have the largest selection in town and I know the prices are reasonable. They have sweaters from $4.45 up in orlon, Banlon, wool, cashmere, etc. Audrey (Mrs. Phillips to you) told me they have over 800 in stock (48 different styles), can you imagine!

Skirts; they have lots and lots of them, sizes from 8 to 20 in all styles and materials, $8.95 to $21.95. I saw some of the reversibles you mentioned that you wanted for Jane ($19.95) and they still have a good selection of Nat Gordon and Sportcraft tartans ($21.95). Audrey (Mrs. Phillips) showed me some of the dyed to match sets and also the orlon knitted suits, reasonable too, only $21.95 I think.

You will just love the mink poodle pin I bought for only $2.95. (they are $3.50 in Halifax) and they have a few sets of mink earrings at the same price.

Aunt Margaret told me that SHE wouldn't think of shopping anywhere else — so if it is good enough for her, I guess it is good enough for us (knowing Aunt Margaret).

Well, "Sweetie" must run, forgive the jumbled note, meet me on the corner of Grafton and Queen Street, we will be practically at the Island Furriers' door. After our shopping spree I will take you to dinner at the best restaurant in town (my treat).

Love,
Jane.

P. S. — Uncle Archie told me that he had been to the Furriers and bought Aunt Doris a fur jacket — can you imagine, what a gift, won't she be thrilled.—J.

A BEAUTY GIFT

COUNTERS are piled high with a wealth of beautiful lingerie that seems made for holiday gifting. This bouduoir pair is a waltz-length gown of the same material, the designer has added a peignoir of the nylon tricot with much back interest, with a scalloped yoke of nylon lace. There is lace ruffling on the sleeves and collar, as well. A satin bow with long streamers holds the garters from the yoke. The gown has a high bodice of lace and small puffed sleeves.

Selina Jane Verral Is Young Red Cross Worker

Red Cross workers are enthusiastic but none more so than Miss Selina Jane Verral, age 16, of 20 Hedgewood, Willowdale, Ontario. Recently this teen age miss with her mother and grandmother were featured in an Ottawa paper for their length of time in voluntary service to the Red Cross.

A reference to this was made on the Woman's Page of the Guardian and a tear sheet sent to Selina Jane. The young lady came back with a letter which delighted Miss Iphigene Arsenault, the Red Cross Commissioner of Prince Edward Island. Herewith is the young person's letter published in the interest of volunteer work for the Red Cross.

I want to express my thanks for the picture which you sent to me. My mother, grandmother and I were surprised and one of my ways remember that.

It is most gratifying to me of the Red Cross work being done in Charlottetown and a most rewarding and enjoyable service.

I can only say now that I can become as dedicated to this wonderful work and to the genuine satisfaction that both my mother and grandmother have and are continuing to have.

Many, many thanks for the hope I will prove myself worthy of the honour that has recently bestowed upon me.

Sincerely,
Selina Jane Verral
