NOT ALL the debating was of a serious vein at St. Dunstan's University last night, when a team from NU tangled with their counterparts from Acadia University, Wolfville, N.S., in the Maritime Inter-Collegiate championships.

SDU Debaters Cop Split Decision Over Acadia

St. Dunstan's University debating team was awarded a split decision over Acadia University in the contest held in the university gymnasium last night before a large audience. This gives the local university two split decision wins and one unanimous and they are now tied for the Maritime inter-collegiate debating championship with Memorial University, St. John's, Nfld.

The SDU team of Vibert Rosemary, Georgetown, British Columbia, and George Chaisson, Miramichi, N.B., debated the affirmative side on the subject of "Resolved that military preparedness is the best guarantee for world peace."

The judges were Professor J. Frank MacMillan, Prince of Wales College; Charles R. McQuinn, Saint John's University; and Dr. J.C. Simpson, Miramichi. Officials of the SDU debating society said last night that to break the tie between themselves and Memorial the two will have to meet again in a neutral location, which will probably be Halifax, N.S., before March 2, the date on which the national debating championships will be held in Ottawa.

Spring Valley Limestone Said Out

Limestone deposits at Spring Valley are not good enough to proceed with a plan to use them for the province's crushed limestone requirements. It was learned yesterday from Agriculture Minister Andrew MacRae.

The consistency of the quality was found not good enough to make the proposed operation economically sound, the minister revealed. Mr. MacRae added, though, that experiments are being carried out in an effort to find suitable limestone sources elsewhere in the province.

Sea Pelts Ownership Case Opens in Court

The Supreme Court hearing in the case of Dr. Marc Arsenault, Magdalen Islands and Louis Decker Inc. New York, U. S. A., charged with possession of 5,000 seal pelts which are said to have been obtained illegally by Dr. Arsenault or his agents opened yesterday morning and after a full session was adjourned to this morning at 10.30.

The plaintiffs in the case are the officers, crew and owner Martin Karlsen of MV Polar Star; the officers, crew and owner North Star Shipping Co. of MV North Star 6; the officers, crew and owner William A. Shaw of MV Arctic Sealer.

The case arose during last year's sealing season when 5,000 pelts were alleged to have been illegally removed from the ice floe by the agents of the accused, Dr. Arsenault.

Counsel for the plaintiffs, Alexander B. Campbell, Summerside and Gordon Black of Dalry, Black, Moreira and Piercey of Halifax, N.S. called as their first witness, Captain William Moss, master of the North Star 6 whose home port is Charlottetown to testify the owner of the company, of his findings.

On returning to his ship, he and sent two crew members armed with rifles out to protect his property.

He testified on a normal year approximately five per cent of the pelts are lost due to storms and the breaking up of the ice. Last year he estimated he lost 5,000 pelts and it was in his words excellent weather. The ships sealing at the time were not on a joint operation he said.

Plaintiff counsel next called the North Star 6 who testified he had been sent out with another man by his captain to protect the property of the ship.

After reaching the pelts, at a distance of two to four miles from the ship, he stated one pile of pelts had been strapped for moving with straps other than those belonging to the North Star 6.

FIGHT BEGAN In his testimony, he said a helicopter landed and he spoke with the pilot, the helicopter left and a half-hour later, three more helicopters appeared and a fight began over ownership of the pelts. The witness and the other man were disarmed he stated.

On the stand at the time of adjournment, Michael Dwyer, third mate on the North Star 6, testified he was with Mr. Prince at the time of the fight. Dr. Arsenault is represented by Gordon R. Foster, QC and Louis Decker Inc., is being defended by John P. Nicholson. The case is being heard before Mr. Justice George J. Tweedy.
