

Class of 1980 off to great start

ORIENTATION WEEK began this year on Sept. 7, with orientation registration for the freshmen in the gym beginning at 2 p.m. Bill Chandler, this year's chairman, had his troops out in full force to register the 240 freshmen. New students to this campus also had guided tours and course information available at this time. The freshmen banquet was served in the cafeteria that night, followed by a mixer dance in the gym. The latter proved to be a terrific success due to the class of enthusiastic freshmen (and upperclassmen) and great music from CIMN. Since course registration took up the early part of Wednesday, activities did not begin until late afternoon with potato bag races and other assorted mayhem in our usual damp football field. Klondike night was held in the gym on Wednesday night, and was a big success complete with pretty Klondike girls and a dastardly bank robber. Early Thursday evening was the time set aside for Kangaroo Court but there was a poor turnout. The Orientation Committee suspected that someone has been spreading vicious rumours about this, one of our most pleasant events. Tequilla was the Barn later that night, the first Pig N Whistle of the season. Shinerama of course is always one of the biggest events during Orientation Week and Friday night a pep rally for this worthy cause was held in Duffy followed by a party in Maria Hall. This proved to be quite a lot of fun as the freshmen got to make fools of themselves and gave the upperclassmen a rest. And yes, if you passed by the Day Student's Lounge in Madeline Hall you may have
