

Religion and Life

Some years ago Helen Keller told the story of the awakening of her mind. She had been blind, deaf, and dumb from early childhood, and had no means of communication with other minds. For a long time her teacher tried to reach that darkened mind, through the sense of touch, and used to spell into the child's hand the word for everything in which she was interested. For weeks there was no response. This is Miss Keller's own description of the awakening: "One day I was playing with my new doll, Miss Sullivan put my big rag doll into my lap also, big rag doll and tried to make me understand that d-o-l-l applied to both. Earlier in the day we had had a tussle over the words 'mug' and 'water.' Miss Sullivan had tried to impress it upon me that m-u-g is mug and that w-a-t-e-r is water but I persisted in confounding the two. In despair, she had dropped the subject for the time, only to renew it at the first opportunity. I became impatient at her repeated attempts and, seizing the new doll, I dashed it upon the floor. I was keenly delighted when I felt the fragments of the broken doll at my feet. Neither sorrow nor regret followed my passionate outburst. I had not loved the doll. In the still, dark world in which I lived, there was no strong sentiment or tenderness. I felt my teacher sweep the fragments to one side of the hearth, and I had a sense of discomfort that the cause of my dissatisfaction was removed. She brought me my hat, and I knew I was going out into the warm sunshine. This thought, if a wordless sensation, made me hop and skip with pleasure.

"We walked down the path to the well-house, attracted by the fragrance of the honeysuckle with which it was covered. Someone was drawing the water and my teacher placed my hand under the spout. As the cool stream gushed over one hand she spelled into the other the word water, slowly, then rapidly. I stood still, my whole attention fixed upon the motion of her fingers. Suddenly I felt a misty consciousness as of something forgotten—a thrill of returning thought; and somehow the mystery of language was revealed to me. I knew then that w-a-t-e-r meant the wonderful cool something that was flowing over my hand. That living word awakened my soul, gave it light, hope, joy, set it free! There were barriers still, it is true, but barriers that could in time be swept away. "I left the well-house eager to learn. Everything had a name, and each name gave birth to a new thought. As we returned to the house every object which I touched seemed to quiver with life. That was because I saw everything with the strange, new light that had come to me." This power of words to bring new life to men is recognized in Scripture. Psalm 119, the longest Psalm in the Psalter, was written

He knows too the signs to be read on the face of the pond. Is experienced also at the sawing, having been an active partner in a mill for many a year. He hails from a distant and exceedingly picturesque part of The Island—and famous. There an old Church stands at the hill-top, and in the beautiful cemetery beside sleeps many of its own, some of whom gathered at length from afar—returned to sleep last sleeps amid the scenes they had loved. A bachelor this is but "not worrying a mite" that he has made no less the happier by giving her his affection and care. "Because" he reasons "Providence above must have meant me to remain single—if not my path would eventually have joined with another." "But man, perhaps you kept your eyes fixed too closely on the road ahead and you missed the turning-off!" he laughed. "Well, if I did," he shrugged. "I'll just have to call it Fate!" "You missed a sight of care, I'm telling you!" James sighed. Then curiously "You're happy, are you? Then that's all that matters in this world. If a fellow is happy, what more can he ask of life?"

The secretary-treasurer gave a financial statement of the year's work. The members decided to go to late hour all departed after wishing "Jim" all the best of everything and a safe return home. James L. Austin (familiarily called Jim) lived on P. E. I. the greater part of his life but only moved to New Haven in Sept. 1949. He is a plaster and brick layer by trade. He also possesses great musical talent in fact, he could be termed "versatile Jim". He plays violin, guitar, cornet and horn with great skill, and his beautiful tenor voice was heard on several occasions at home at church and at social functions. He served in the last world war at the front lines in Germany, but despite this, was one of the first to join up when the call came to make up a special brigade of veterans. He left by plane on Friday Nov. 10th to join his battalion at Wainwright Alta, from where he will go to Fort Louis, thence to Korea.

MEMORIAM MR. FRANK DEACON The funeral of the late Frank Deacon was held on Friday, November 17th, 1950, from his home at Freetown. The service was conducted by the Rev. Kenneth Campbell, North Bedouque, assisted by the Rev. C. A. Brittain, who led in prayer, and the Rev. James Cross, who gave the address. Mr. Cross spoke on the text, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant... enter thou into the joy of thy Lord." He pointed out that Mr. Deacon had been good and faithful in his home, church and community, and the sacrificial service he had given in these had brought joy. The hymns were: "The Lord's My Shepherd" and "Lead Kindly Light". The interment was in the United Church Cemetery, Freetown. The pallbearers were: Messrs. Robert Auld, Louis Cairns, John Lewis, Roy Burns, Charles Taylor and Everett Schurman. He leaves to mourn his wife: two sons: Morris Deacon, Charlottetown and Dr. Allison Deacon, Shediac, N. B.; two daughters: Grace (Mrs. John Hickox, Springfield, P. E. I.) and Hilda (Mrs. Geo. Lewis, Freetown); two brothers, George Deacon, Freetown and Fred Deacon, Nelson, B. C.; also four sisters, Mrs. Joseph Lewis, Tryon; Mrs. George Jardine, Freetown; Mrs. W. B. Found, Winnipeg, Man. and Miss Lottie Deacon, Vancouver.

MEMORIAM MRS. JOSEPH LECLAIR The people of Hope River and surrounding districts were shocked and saddened to hear of the sudden passing of an aged and respected lady in the person of Mrs. Joseph Leclair on Oct. 20th in her 83rd year. A faithful member all her life of St. Ann's Church and from which she received the last rites from the hands of her pastor the Rev. E. J. Dalton. To know her was to love her. A faithful mother and a true Christian, was always home to welcome anyone who called; she made many friends from far and near who regret her passing, but those who will miss her most are her family. They are as follows: (Mrs. Austin Walsh), Lauriaty (Mrs. Anthony Martin), Frank of Charlottetown, Ida (Mrs. Jeremiah Peters) Mayfield, Leo, U. S. A., Clarence, Alberta, Gertrude (Mrs. Louis George) U. S. A., and Florent, with whom she lived and Peter who predeceased her by 5 years, also thirty-nine grandchildren and fifty great-grandchildren. Her funeral under the direction of Harold Hennessey was largely attended, and was held from her late residence to St. Ann's church where the funeral mass was sung by the Rev. E. J. Dalton. Her remains were laid to rest in the family plot besides those of her husband who predeceased her by 30 years. The pall bearers were six grandsons, Carl, Martin, Elmer, Alban and Raymond Peters, and Arthur and Urban Walsh.

POPULAR COURSE VANCOUVER — (CP) — Russia's weight in world affairs is responsible for twice the normal number of University of British Columbia students taking the course in Slavonic studies this year. Five hundred have enrolled under Prof. St. Clair Sobell. WINNIPEG, Nov. 19 — (CP) — Attorney-General C. Rhodes Smith Saturday announced the appointment of Lt.-Col. Alfred Charles Delaney, 49, as Manitoba's coordinator of civil defence. He has been employed by the Manitoba Government as an instructor of game guardians.

A faithful mother and a true Christian, was always home to welcome anyone who called; she made many friends from far and near who regret her passing, but those who will miss her most are her family. They are as follows: (Mrs. Austin Walsh), Lauriaty (Mrs. Anthony Martin), Frank of Charlottetown, Ida (Mrs. Jeremiah Peters) Mayfield, Leo, U. S. A., Clarence, Alberta, Gertrude (Mrs. Louis George) U. S. A., and Florent, with whom she lived and Peter who predeceased her by 5 years, also thirty-nine grandchildren and fifty great-grandchildren. Her funeral under the direction of Harold Hennessey was largely attended, and was held from her late residence to St. Ann's church where the funeral mass was sung by the Rev. E. J. Dalton. Her remains were laid to rest in the family plot besides those of her husband who predeceased her by 30 years. The pall bearers were six grandsons, Carl, Martin, Elmer, Alban and Raymond Peters, and Arthur and Urban Walsh.
