

News headlines make the news

LOS ANGELES (AP)—United States governors indicated by applause Thursday they would be happy if newspapers would abolish headlines.

Members of the 58th governors' conference fired questions at a panel of newspapermen headed by Erwin D. Canham, editor-in-chief of The Christian Science Monitor.

During a discussion of complaints that newspapers sometimes present the news in the wrong way, Canham's observation that "I sometimes think headlines ought to be abolished" drew vigorous applause.

Gov. John A. Love of Colorado, followed this up with the observation that headline writing seems to him "more responsible than any other part of press operations."

Gov. Carl E. Sanders of Georgia said he thinks the "unimpeachable source" who is not quoted by name in stories ought to be discarded.

Canham agreed that it was "a widely-abused phrase" but contended that newspapermen must protect the sources of their information.

DANCES FOR RAIN

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—Chief Red Fox, 96-year-old Ogalala Sioux Indian, performed a rain dance in downtown Columbia Thursday trying to bring some moisture to the area, which has had no appreciable rain for three weeks. Wednesday the chief danced near Boonville, Mo., which later received a half inch of rain.

SUMMERSIDE—The 11th annual Summerside Lobster Carnival and Livestock Exhibition gets underway this coming Monday and under the capable direction of W. Chester S. MacDonald, 1966 president, it is expected to be bigger and better than ever before.

Since its inception eleven years ago the spotlight is on the lobster suppers served daily throughout the six-day event. The suppers are served between 4 and 8 p.m. at Civic Stadium and for the minority who find that lobsters disagree with their taste buds, chicken suppers are available.

Mr. MacDonald did a fantastic job organizing this year's annual carnival festivities and in his Lobster Carnival message gave a large amount of credit to Lobster Carnival Manager Charles Hogan for the extensive work carried out in the preparations for the annual affair. Mr. MacDonald in his message states: "It is often difficult to distinguish in passing out 'thank you's' but I know that I'd be remiss in my duties if I did not single out our manager, Mr. Charles Hogan, for special thanks. He has been the foundation upon which this Carnival is built and a strong foundation it is."

Extending a cordial welcome to visitors to this year's carnival on behalf of himself and his executive, Mr. MacDonald stated: "We sincerely trust that your visit with us will be enjoyable. I can assure you that this annual event is only made possible by the accumulated efforts of a number of our citizens who work in the benefit of our community and we trust, your enjoyment."

On behalf of the town Mayor George Key extended the following welcome: "On the occasion of this, the 11th annual Summerside Lobster Carnival and Livestock Exhibition, I am privileged, on behalf of the town of Summerside, to extend greetings and a friendly welcome to all our visitors."

I wish, also at this time to congratulate all persons and organizations who contributed so much of their time and efforts toward the success of this and past annual carnivals.

"My best wishes to all for a most pleasant visit to the 'Cradle of Confederation' and may you take back home with you pleasant memories of Summerside."

"Will Ye No' Come Back Again?"

Other messages of welcome were extended by the president of the Summerside Board of Trade, Roy Johnston, Premier Walter Shaw, Hon. David MacDonald, M.P. and Miss P.E.I. 1965, Elaine Tanton.

Electronic eye keeps watch

CLEAR, Alaska (AP)—A huge new ultra-sensitive electronic eye has been focused on Eurasian air space as another defence against a sneak missile attack on the United States. The U.S. air force disclosed Thursday.

A rotating 84-foot parabolic radar dish antenna began operating at the Clear Ballistic Missile Early Warning system site "within the last few weeks," the air force said.

The radar unit, weighing 183 tons, can detect and track a 16-inch piece of wire 1-32nd of an inch in diameter at a distance of 2,500 miles, the air force said.

It is one of five in operation at the three BMEWS sites operated by the Western allies. One is at Thule, Greenland, and three at Fylingdales Moor, Yorkshire, England.

The tracking radar dishes are housed in plastic domes which resemble mammoth golf balls, 140 feet in diameter and 10 stories high.

The electronic dishes, each costing $19,000,000, can scan the skies from horizon to horizon.

They are operated in conjunction with fixed-detection radar screens, three at Clear, two at Fylingdales Moor and four at Thule.

Bowater plans new pulp mill

HOUSTON, B.C. (CP)—J. Martin Ritchie, managing director of England's Bowater Paper Co., confirmed Thursday a start would be made in late 1968 on a pulp mill here costing between $75,000,000 and $85,000,000.

The mill will have a daily production of 750 to 1,000 tons, he said.

Plans for the mill, one in a series of new mills either under construction or planned in British Columbia, had been announced some time ago but a definite construction start date had not been determined.

Mr. Ritchie said a precise site for the mill would be determined shortly. It would definitely be located in the surrounding Bulkley Valley in northwestern B.C.

Jews immigrate

Only 38.5 per cent of the Jewish population of Israel are native-born; the rest have immigrated.

STOLE CUP, JAILED

LONDON (Reuters)—Edward Walter Betchley, 47, who pleaded guilty to helping steal the World Cup, symbol of world soccer supremacy, from a London showcase in March was sentenced Friday to two years' imprisonment. Betchley, who appeared in court three days before the World Cup series opens here Monday, also pleaded guilty to demanding a £15,000 ($45,000) ransom for the cup's return.

Directors are Leonce Arsenault, Vernon Maxwell, Dr. John Robertson, Errol Laughlin, Jack Mugridge, Wes Gamlin, Reginald MacDonald, Peter Schurman, John Hopkirk, George Smallman, Ben Champion and Frank Randall.

"The carnival is sponsored by the various clubs and organizations in the town including Lions Club, Y's Men's Club, Rotary, Royal Canadian Legion, Kinsmen and Board of Trade."

BIGGER AND BETTER

As mentioned earlier, this year's carnival is bigger and better than ever before and if you are looking for a week's enjoyment come to Summerside and visit the carnival.

Also, lobster is the theme and the carnival selected a quote from the Department of Fisheries to emphasize this point: "Berried Lobsters build your business."

Short ones do the same. So if you're careful of your future...

You'll be sure to play the game. Throw them back and wait a while.

And sure enough you'll see. Next year they'll be bigger. With a lot more company."

LAST YEAR'S Miss P. E. I. was UREEN Mrs. Archibald MacLeod (above). E Elaine Tanton of St. Eleanors, now this year's activities but her place will be most capably filled by one of her princesses, Carol Salter.

Queen contest featured event

SUMMERSIDE—Since its inception twelve years ago the Lobster Carnival has featured the crowning of a carnival queen in the Miss P. E. I. contest. Entries in this feature must be sponsored by a Club, service organization or business.

As with other activities the chairman of these committees change and this year, Mrs. Margaret Ann Craig, is the chairman.

"This competition is open to entries from across the Island but almost without exception there haven't been any entrants from either Queens or Kings County. The committee members have expressed hope that this year the contestants would not be confined to Prince County but would range across the province."

Mrs. Craig anticipates at least 12 entries in this year's competition but she stated that entry forms were slow coming in.

To be eligible for this competition contestants must have been residents of the province for one year prior to January 1st of this year and have completed a minimum of 2 years high school prior to this carnival. Also, all contestants must be over 16 years of age and not more than 20 on or before January 1, 1966.

Mrs. Craig pointed out that over $250 in cash and merchandise prizes can be won in the competition. She added that contestants can be selected for the Miss Canada pageant which is held annually in Toronto.

One of last year's Miss P.E.I. contestants, Patricia Cooper, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert W. Cooper, Schurman Avenue, left on Sunday, June 26 to participate in this year's edition of the pageant.

A bank employee here, Miss Cooper was extended a special invitation to represent the province by a member of the Miss Canada Pageant board.

The contestants in the Miss P. E. I. event begin their carnival duties by participating in the opening day parade, being transported in convertibles. Monday evening they attend a carnival ball where they will be presented.

Wednesday afternoon of carnival week the girls are guests at a tea and nightly throughout the week judging continues at the Stadium by a panel of three judges. Selection of the 1966 queen takes place one night earlier than previous years, on Thursday rather than Friday.

A coronation parade is held Saturday afternoon after which Miss P. E. I. is taken to the stadium and crowned.

BASED ON NOVEL The TV comedy-drama Mister Roberts is based on a novel of that name by Thomas O. Heggen.

Featuring rock-n-roll jamboree

SUMMERSIDE—A feature attraction for those young at heart in this year's Lobster Carnival will be the Teenage Rock and Roll Jamboree.

On Tuesday and Thursday night at 8:30 during Carnival week, Civic Stadium will be the center of attraction with teenagers from far and wide dancing to music supplied by a number of Island bands.

Peter Schurman, chairman for the competition has announced that each of the six bands taking part will be judged and the winner will play at the Teenage Coronation Dance to be held on Saturday, July 16 at the Civic Auditorium at 8:30 p.m.

The Lobster Carnival Royal Family will be in attendance. Dress is semi-formal, with teenagers from far and wide dancing to music supplied by a number of Island bands.

An event that should prove interesting to all will be the All Star Bonanza to be held at 8:00 p.m. on Saturday, July 16 at Civic Stadium.

This event will feature winners in the Irish, Scottish, Acadian and Rock and Roll competitions.
