

TWO JUDITH HELEN KIRKPATRICKS

Two Families Discovered Interesting Coincidences

These two little girls are Judith Helen Kirkpatrick and Judith Helen Kirkpatrick. Yes, that is quite correct. The Judith on the left is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kirkpatrick, 29 Upper Hillsboro Street, Mr. Kirkpatrick is unit manager in Prince Edward Island of the Fuller Brush Company. He was born in Hoyt, New Brunswick.

The other Judith is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Kirkpatrick who came to the province last year. Mr. Kirkpatrick is the chief manager of the oil drilling for the Imperial Oil in Prince Edward Island.

The Charles Kirkpatrick came to Prince Edward Island eleven

ELLEN'S DIARY

Haying Is Finished On Alderlea Mother-Fields

Today, then, haying ended on these "mother-fields" at Alderlea, this morning it shifted "in the road" to Rob's—not exactly to commence it there for had not that been done yesterday when the younger farmer had moved in to the first spell of mowing?

Today then brought that saving. So brightly the sun shone for the workers; the wind whirled a ribbon of breeze about it to make it an ideal hay-day. We saw rose petals fall from the old trellis in a faded pink drift. And added them in mind to the fall of lilac bloom and apple. And wondered if a belated frog, may be one who had not yet found the perfect mate would pipe a lament for us over another lost spring, come the night.

"Land O' Goshen! What's a happenin' now? I declare with all the noise round about heah, ma heah's all a-flutter!" Mama Starling on the garage roof exclaimed nervously this morning. "Heh! don't you-all know by dis! Doan' flustericate you - sef, Deah!" Papa Starling grinned pointedly "dey's only a-movin'!"

Away down the lane, blithe as the new day went the gear of the haying; away went Gage, our lone cowboy, mounted on the horse to be used on the lift. Off along the fields to a bare hayland went James and the team

PRINTED PATTERN M 129 by Philip Hulitar

YOUR PASSPORT TO SUMMER

Philip Hulitar turns his design genius to separates—the love of a smart woman's life—and the result is a summer wardrobe to top-couture distinction. The glamorous wife of this designer traveled tested these separates, and found them a passport to fresh and fashionable dressing anywhere, anytime. An elegant dress is created by teaming the blouse with standaway collar and the skirt—both originally in white Italian silk. The gay, flowered shirt plus the white skirt total a casual effect for day. Whether you're planning a weekend

HAPPENINGS

Formal Dance Is Held At The Government House

His Honour, the Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Hyndman entertained at a formal dance Thursday evening Government House.

Again beautiful weather marked the occasion for this lovely dance held in the summer setting of old Government House. Gowns were colorful, gay and many really elegant.

At the supper hour the beautifully appointed table was decorated with a silver bowl of pink and white roses with tall matching tapers in silver candelabra. Pouring tea were Mrs. A. W. Matheson, Mrs. Mark R. MacGibbon, Mrs. George J. Tweedy and Mrs. C. St. Clair Trainor.

Assisting in the dining-room were Mrs. C.P. MacKenzie, Mrs. W.R. Brennan, Mrs. A. Walthen Gaudet, Mrs. J.C. Montgomery, Mrs. Lemuel A. McDougall, Mrs. Clive Stewart, Mrs. Fulton B. Coffin, Mrs. C.A. Coady, Mrs. F.M. Cannon, Mrs. Arthur G. Hogan, Mrs. F.L. Shannon, Miss Mary Shannon, Mrs. T.N. Rogers, Mrs. D.H. Saunders, Mrs. Roy MacGillivray, Mrs. DeBaron E. Tait, Mrs. G.G. Houston.

Husband and Wife Team Have Many Interests

One of Canada's well-known husband and wife teams Jan and Frank Chamberlain of Toronto, are dreaming of a coast-to-coast tour in their new station wagon.

"I'd like to re-visit the more than 500 towns and cities I've been in during old Chautauqua days and more recently when I've put on my one-woman shows."

The Chamberlains lead a "double" life, as town and country dwellers. Monday to Friday they live in the heart of Toronto's downtown in a 15-room Victorian house, with Willy, a cat. The house is on the once fashionable Sherbourne Street, at the corner of Bloor Street, and the Chamberlains are hoping that with the building of the new subway along Bloor Street, a one-giant office building will one day be erected on their land.

On weekends, the live in old clothes on a 50-acre farm near Orangeville, Ontario, watching their 1000 hand-planted trees grow, and occasionally swimming in the 60' by 40' swimming pool which they made it for $100." the Chamberlains explain. "We hired a bulldozer, dug a hole and diverted a little brook, and put in a pipe for the overflow. Anybody can do it."

Jan and Frank (everybody who knows them even slightly calls them by their first names) believe that if you want something badly enough and it's right for you to have it, you can get it. They bought their big house that way. They bought their farm in the same way. Every second year they travel to Europe (giving up high-prices electrical house gadgets to do it) because they love art and architecture, photography, drawing and meeting rural people, particularly in Spain and Italy, their favorite countries.

At that moment, the Chamberlains are off on a motor trip to Washington, (where they've never been, although they've been in 12 European countries). Then a couple of weeks at their farm before Frank goes to Ottawa to publicize the United Church's General Council meeting, and Jan returns to her teaching pr-to see so many tourists about: folks come home to visit with kith and kin obviously happy to be again with those to whom the heart so often in absence had turned.

The stranger... the housekeeping guests they intrigue us too as they shop for their food.

"Would you like watermelon for dessert, dear?" we chanced to overhear a wife query a little anxiously to her husband ingenuously taxed doubtless over the meal she was planning to prepare.

As at home, ours is being challenged now, with our cupboard almost bare and a hungry husband at the door in this moonlit luncheon at hand!

Until tomorrow — — Diary Good-night.

ST. ANDREW'S C.W.L.

The regular monthly meeting of the St. Andrew's sub-division of the Catholic Women's League was held in the parish hall, Mt. Stewart, on Sunday, July 27.

The president, Mrs. James MacDonalld presided and the spiritual director, Rev. George MacCormac, opened the meeting with prayer.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. The treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Romauld MacDonalld. The membership convener, Mrs. Clarence Murphy, reported 148 paid up members.

The ladies of Cherry Hill are asked to clean up the church for the month of August. A report was given by Mrs. Ernest MacEachern.

A thank-you letter from Mrs. Raoul MacCormac was read. The letter expressed her appreciation for the delicious dinner given by the C.W.L. for Father Ivan MacCormac and for the reception given in his honor.

Rev. Father George MacCormac expressed his thanks and appreciation to the members of the C.W.L. for the excellent service given by them at the dinner and reception for Father Ivan MacCormac.

It was decided to hold the annual turkey dinner during the latter part of August.

The meeting closed with prayer.

HOUSEHOLD HINT

If you'd like a glossy finish on whitewashed walls simply add soap.

For the right proportions, dissolve a pound of soap in a gallon of hot water; then add it to five gallons of whitewash.

MR. AND MRS. R. G. VANDERSTINE

Island Man Is Wed At St. Paul's, Halifax

On June 21st, St. Paul's Anglican Church, Halifax, was the scene of a summer wedding when (Madge) Marion Anne, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George B. O'Brien, Windsor Forks, N.S., was united in marriage to Robert Gerald Vanderstine, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar H. Vanderstine, Peter's Road, P. E.I.

Rev. H. St. Clair Hilchey officiated at the double ring ceremony. The bride given in marriage by her brother, Walter O'Brien, wore a floor length gown of embroidered silk organza with Irish lace trimming on the round neckline and the sleeves. She wore matching mitts. Her chapel length veil of tulle illusion was held in place by a hat, which featured orange blossoms. She carried a white prayer book, gift of the groom, with a cascade of pink sweetheart roses and streamers of white Stephanotis.

Mrs. Elizabeth Horne, a sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and Miss Louise Turner was bridesmaid. They wore aqua and pink nylon chiffon waltz-length gowns respectively, with match-

Summer Camera Care Will Help Insure Good Photos

A camera is a carefully designed optical instrument—made to give years of reliable service but not to tolerate abuse. To insure wonderful pictures of your summer's activities, follow these simple suggestions and the camera will serve you long and well.

Heat can be dangerous to a camera—especially in a glove compartment of an automobile or on the beach. Be careful where you keep your camera when not using it. When loading the camera at a beach or in dusty places, make sure that the grit and sand don't get inside. From time to time, brush out the interior of the camera carefully. An artist's water color brush is useful.

You can't see through your glasses when the lenses are dirty. A camera can't "see" through smudged lenses either. Gentle wiping with soft lens tissue will leave it crystal bright. Inspect the lens for dust sand, or fingerprints before you take a picture. Though film comes tightly packed, dust or sand can creep in.

When life is not so busy, they will set out on their tour of the Dominion, P.E.I. included.

ROUGH RIDES

Although pneumatic tires were invented before automobiles, solid rubber was used at first on wheels.

Balanced Diet Legend Must Be Taken Seriously

By IDA BAILEY ALLEN

The reasons why we should eat a balance of varied foods have been stressed so often they may seem legendary.

But I can assure you that the need for balanced meals is a very lively legend. Failure to heed it, and the result is sure and certain deterioration of some phase of good health.

SLUGGISH MENTALITY

One well-known physician recently stated that "deficient diets lead to sluggishness, moroseness and downright cussedness."

Overeating in general causes a sluggish mentality; so does the overstuffing of starches and fats. Lack of the right amounts of the mineral and vitamin-rich foods can cause that tired feeling and a tendency to catch colds.

Combinations of foods that are not compatible can cause indigestion.

Remember how a baby frets and cries when it has colic? Adults feel the same way when they have indigestion. They complain, and often show so much irritability that the doctor's term "cussedness" sometimes seems merited.

Steam-Fried Onions: Peel and thin-slice enough onions to make 3 heaping cups.

Melt 1 tbs. fat in a frying pan. Put in the onions; add water to cover. Sprinkle with 1 tsp. salt. Slow-cook until the water evaporates and the onions are translucent and browned slightly in the fat added in the beginning. Season with a few grains nutmeg.

Glazed Pear Compote: Open 1 (No. 2½) can pears. Drain off the syrup. Add 6 cloves and ¼ c. currant or nary-colored jelly. Simmer-10 min.

Strain over the pear halves and chill to become glazed.

Nice plain or combined with sliced bananas.

From the Chef:

Green Goddess Salad: This popular Hollywood salad is made from shredded crisp iceberg lettuce, thoroughly tossed with Green Goddess salad dressing. The dressing is made as follows:

Into R c dairy sour cream, 1 tbs. lemon juice and 1-3 c. salad dressing, 1 tbs. anchovy paste, 1 tbs. garlic vinegar, 1 tbs. scallion vinegar and ¼ c. each chopped scallions and parsley. Stir gently until thoroughly mixed.
