

Kitchener-Waterloo Team Is Facing Trouble Galore

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen named 15 hockey players from 15 teams as their Olympic Games draft choices Monday but they're going to have troubles picking up the 10 they finally decide upon. The Dutchmen, who played in the Ontario Hockey Association's Senior A League last season, will represent Canada in the 1960 Winter Olympic Games at Squaw Valley, Calif.

To bolster the club, the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association ruled it can draft one player from each of 15 teams and pick up 10 of these without a release before Nov. 15. Two of those named were goalie Marv Edwards of North Bay, Ont., Trappers and Bill Hryciuk, playing coach of Kamloops, B.C., Elks. Neither will join Kitchener.

CONTRACT SOLD
Peter Palangio North Bay manager, said Monday Edwards' contract has been sold to Milwaukee Falcons of the International League.

Hryciuk said he is honored but wouldn't consider leaving his home.

Players drafted must agree to it personally.

John Horeck, manager-coach of Chatham, Ont., Maroons, said he was undecided whether to allow centre Mike Elik to join the Dutchmen, adding he'd hate to lose such a valuable player.

SOME AGREE
Clubs in Peterborough, Ont., and Vernon, B.C., showed more signs of willingness. Ron Budell, president of Waterloo Siskins—a Junior B team—said he is pleased that forward Pat Adair was drafted.

Any team would hate to lose its leading scorer," he said, "but I'm nationally-minded enough to want to see Canada win at the Olympics."

Doug Cochrane, president of the OHA Junior A Peterborough Petes, mourned the possible loss of winger Wayne Connely—the club's leading scorer last season—but said he will not interfere with the draft.

In Vernon, coach George Agar of the Canadians said he viewed the choice of defenceman Tom Steycyk as an honor to the player, to the club and to the city.

In Regina, defenceman Terry Harper of Regina Pats of the Saskatchewan Junior Hockey League said, "It would be a great experience for me."

Manager Rudy Pilous of the OHA Junior A St. Catharines Teepees said he would be pleased to have Stan Mikita play with the Dutchmen but "not for the entire season." He added that Mikita might turn professional with Chicago Black Hawks this season.

Solly Hemus Draws Fine

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Solly Hemus, just one shy of the record for the number of ejections from ball games in one season, was fined $150 Wednesday for his eighth such run-in with the umpires.

Warren Giles, the National League boss, notified the fiery little manager of St. Louis Cardinals the fine was for his remarks to umpire Al Barlick Tuesday night. The unofficial record of nine ejections is held by Leo Durocher.

Barlick thumbed out Hemus in the first inning when he heatedly disagreed with a called fourth ball to Duke Snider.

THE NIGHT IT ENDED

Mathews, Aaron, Crandall Are Braves' Powerful Trio

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
PITTSBURGH (AP) — If you had your pick, which Milwaukee Brave would you call the club's most valuable player? Henry Aaron? Eddie Mathews? Del Crandall?

Let's go to manager Fred Hacy, the man who should be the best authority on the subject. "I'm glad you fellows (sports writers) have to pick the most valuable, not me," said Hacy, neatly slipping the punch. Pressed for something a bit more helpful, Hacy finally narrowed it down to three men. He purposely eliminated pitchers, confining himself to the men who play every day.

"Three men have done a terrific job for us," he said. "Aaron, Mathews and Crandall. And I don't mean that I am skipping over (Warren) Spahn and (Lew) Burdette. I'm talking just about the men who play every day. WHICH BEST?

"If we finally win this thing, we wouldn't have done it without Aaron, Mathews and Crandall. How can you say one is more valuable to you than the other? Let me put it this way.

"Where would we be without Aaron's hitting? You might get along for a few days, like we did when he was out, as long as somebody took up the slack. But we couldn't do it for long.

"Where would we be without Mathews' home runs? (he had 43 up to Tuesday). It's the same with Eddie as with Aaron. You might sneak by a few games without him but not many.

"Now you come to Crandall. If something happened to him, where would you get a catcher? They just don't have any like him. He was out for a few games and we used Del Rice (now a coach) early in the season. Later we had to call on Stan Lopata.

LONG BATTER
Crandall's batting statistics through Tuesday's game shows he is more dangerous than his .253 average would indicate. The 29-year-old veteran has 19 doubles, one triple, 21 homers and 73 runs batted in.

Aaron, the National League batting leader, will draw strong support in the most valuable player race. So will Mathews who is fighting with Chicago's Ernie Banks for the home run title and the new Mel Ott memorial award to be presented by the league.

Crandall may not get the votes but Milwaukee wouldn't be up there without him. He is the sparkplug of this club that is springing toward a third straight pennant.

League Champs Taking Breather

By JERRY LISKA
CHICAGO (AP) — While this baseball-delirious city began to calm down a bit Wednesday, the American League White Sox rested for an anti-climactic series with the Tigers in Detroit this weekend.

Manager Al Lopez, scouting an Francisco Giants in their game with Chicago Cubs, turned over the Sox to coach Tony Cuccinello.

Lopez said that although a few Sox players may be rested in the three-set finale at Detroit, his club would not just be going through the motions.

"We may bench little Looie (shortstop Luis Aparicio) and a few others who need rest," said Lopez. "But Nellie Fox stays in there—he's working on a consecutive game string, you know." Fox played his 666th straight game Tuesday night in Cleveland when the White Sox clinched the pennant with a thrilling 4-2 conquest of the second-place Indians.

Catcher Sherm Lollar, nursing a bruised right hand, also will be rested.

Lopez said his two ace pitchers, Early Wynn and Bob Shaw, will pitch briefly in Detroit, with Wynn working on Saturday. This indicated that Wynn, the 39-year-old star with a 21-10 record, will be Chicago's world series starter, with Shaw pitching the second series game.

Lopez declined to say which National League club he would prefer to face in the post-season classic. "I'd just have to name one I thought we could handle and they would proceed to clobber us," said Lopez.

Plante Inks His Contract

MONTREAL (CP) — Jacques Plante, National Hockey League all-star goalie and Vezina trophy winner, signed his new contract Wednesday with Montreal Canadiens. Terms weren't announced.

Plante spent only five minutes managing director Frank Luke's office and came out smiling broadly.

Mighty Lee Leads Field

HALIFAX (CP) — Mighty Lee, champion of horse-rich Prince Edward Island, will lead a field of six free-for-allers in the $2,000 A. MacKinnon free-for-all Saturday at nearby Sackville Downs.

Downs race secretary Jack Cruickshank said today the harness racing event, held in honor of M. D. A. MacKinnon, veteran land race driver, will be an annual event.

Mighty Lee holds the track record at Sackville Downs with a time of 2:04.

Other entries include Convoir, owned by Francis Breaux of Moncton, Rainbow Clegg, Roberdale, Ira Good Pick and Newport Tisco.
