

XXIX. The Deputy Inspector shall account to the Chief Inspector under whom they act, once in every three months, or oftener if required, for all fish inspected by them, and the fees therefor, and shall pay over to him one fifth of the same; and shall describe in their returns the different kinds and qualities of fish inspected by them.

XXX. Every chief inspector shall make a return to the Colonial Secretary, of all the pickled fish inspected by him, or his Deputies, the same to be made up to last days of March, June, September and December, in each year, and delivered within the months thereafter, under a penalty of five pounds for every month's neglect.

XXXI. When any cask of pickled fish, branded by a Deputy Inspector, shall prove unequal in quality or quantity, so that which may be indicted by the brand on the cask, or deficient in any way of the requisites prescribed by this Act, the chief inspector may cause the same to be reinspected; and if it appear that the defect arose from the condition of the fish, or the bad quality of the cask, or the bad packing or pickling of the fish at the time of the inspection, he may recover the costs and charges of such reinspection, from the deputy who branded the same.

XXXII. All actions for the recovery of penalties or damages, on account of the misconduct or neglect of any deputy inspector, may be prosecuted either against such Deputy or the Chief Inspector, under whom he acts, who shall have his remedy against the Deputy, either upon the Bond given by him or by action on the case for damages; and in every such action the judgment recovered against the chief inspector, shall be evidence of damages against such Deputy or his sureties, if the deputy shall have had due notice of the action brought against the Chief Inspector.

XXXIII. All pecuniary penalties imposed by this Act, may be recovered by and in the name of any person who shall sue for the same, and such penalties when recovered, shall be for the use and benefit of the party so suing.

XXXIV. Actions against Inspectors or their deputies, under this Act, shall be brought in the County where the offence shall have been committed, and not elsewhere.

XXXV. Every County Inspector, who may be appointed and sworn in, under the provisions of this Act, shall be furnished with six copies of the said Act.

XXXVI. That no Inspector shall be liable for any fish that may have been inspected under this Act, after twelve months, from the date of such inspection.

XXXVII. This Act shall go into operation, immediately on the passing thereof.

XXXVIII. So much and such parts of the Act of the twenty-second year of the reign of Her present Majesty, chapter eight, intituled "An Act for regulating the size and quality of fish barrels and tierces, and the weight of fish made up therein, and for the appointment of fish inspectors; also to regulate the inspection of pickled fish, for sale within this Island, and to repeal a certain Act therein mentioned," as are contrary to or inconsistent with any of the provisions of this Act, are hereby repealed.
