Scrofula

Infests the blood of humanity. It appears in varied forms, but is forced to yield to Hood's Sarsaparilla, which purifies and vitalizes the blood and cures all such diseases. Read this:—
 "In September, 1914, I made a mistake and injured my ankle. Very soon afterwards,

A Sore

two inches across formed and in walking to favor it I sprained my ankle. The sore became worse; I could not put my boot on and I thought I should have to give up at every step. I could not get any relief and had to stop work. I read of a cure of a similar case by Hood's Sarsaparilla and concluded to try it. Before I had taken all of two bottles the sore had healed and the swelling had gone down. My is now well and I have been greatly benefited otherwise. I have increased in weight and am in better health. I cannot say enough in praise of Hood's Sarsaparilla." MRS. H. BLAKE, So. Berwick, Me.

Foot

 This and other similar cures prove that

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists, $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Talleyrand and Hamilton.
 In 1794 Talleyrand, ordered to leave England and unable to return to France, visited the United States. His impressions of the country and government were given in a long letter printed in France some years ago and were interesting as the views of a shrewd observer and a keen judge of men. It has never been supposed that he took any part in the course of events in America at that time, or that his relations with Hamilton—a man quite as individual as himself—were of any but a social and friendly nature. A manuscript among the Hamilton papers, however, connects Talleyrand with one of the incidents of Washington's administration, an incident as puzzling as it was interesting—the removal of Edmund Randolph.
 Mr. Conway has given the layman's view of the matter, and guided partly by sentiment and his opinion, the result was a statement or critique in Talleyrand's own handwriting. It is this opinion reached Washington, it is not strange that he should have cut loose from Randolph, and certainly the Frenchman's opinion makes short work with the skillfully worded but unimpassioned defense of Randolph made by Mr. Conway.

ANCIENT WRITING ON A ROCK.
 Remarkable discovery in the 15th Columbia A. Victoria, B. C., special says: During a recent hazardous journey to the unexplored interior of Vancouver Island, the Royal Geographical Society of London, made a remarkable discovery, a discovery which is certain to excite the curiosity of students and scientists throughout all the civilized world. The explorers were crossing Great Central Lake, the largest body of fresh water on the island, with a length of thirty miles, when the curious markings on the face of a giant rock attracted Mr. Laing's attention. The canoes were stopped and investigation disclosed that a message had been left by some primitive dwellers of the lake deep traced in the imperishable rock. The hieroglyphs forming the inscription were arranged in five parallel lines, somewhat similar to a musical staff, while above what appeared to be intended for a log of wood and a growing tree. A third figure placed at the right hand resembled nothing so much as a seven-branched candlestick. The impression, despite the fact that centuries must have passed since it was chiseled by some one whose race is now a forgotten people, remains clear and distinct. Photographs were taken of the rock and sketches made of the interesting inscription. They have been sent, among others, to Dr. Franz Cosca of the Smithsonian Institute, who is now studying them.

A Rat Portage, Ontario, special says: There are gold mines at the bottom of the Lake of the Woods. Recently a six-wheeled motor on the surface of the lake water and took a number of water logs in the neighborhood of Sault Ste. Marie. Water tight cribs were sunk to the bottom of the lake and then mining operations were begun. That was some days ago, but after some great secrecy has been maintained concerning the progress of the work. It has now leaked out, however, that the first day down the miners struck the famous Sault vein, running true and strong beneath the water. The same vein is also reported to have been struck on the island.

GRIDLING THE GLOBE.
 The Canadian-Australian S. S. Aorangi's Maiden Voyage—Around the World Trip.

The addition during the coming spring of a new steampship to the Canadian-Australian line plying between Vancouver, B. C., and Australia offers an excellent opportunity for making a round the world trip cheaply and expeditiously. The line which now consists of the magnificent steamers Miowera and Warrimoo, is to be strengthened by the Aorangi, an ocean greyhound, now being rebuilt—a vessel of 4,250 tons register and 5,000 horse power, which is to be commanded by Captain Heppelwhite, B. N. R., formerly of the Warrimoo. The Aorangi, which is nearing completion, is expected to leave England about the 17th of March, and after touching at Tenerife and Cape Town, will cross the Indian Ocean to Melbourne and Sydney, Australia, thence calling on the east up the Pacific to Suva, Fiji; Honolulu, Hawaii; Victoria, B. C., and Vancouver, where connection is made with the Canadian Pacific across the continent. The Aorangi is expected to reach Vancouver about the 16th of June, and the whole trip from start to finish will occupy less than four months. Those from the Provinces who intend taking advantage of this chance to grip the Globe, can take the Atlantic from either St. John, Halifax or the American Ports and join the excursionists in the Old Country.

There will not be many days en route, but at several interesting points, stoppage will be made of sufficient duration to enable the tourists to see what there is to be seen and acquire an insight into the manners and customs of far-away people. Not the least interesting stage of the journey will be the crossing of the Canadian Continent at a delightful season of the year. The ride of six hundred miles through the Mountain Ranges of British Columbia and the trip across the great plains and prairies of the Canadian Northwest in June, is a delightful experience and enables the tourist to compare his impressions of our own country with those formed of other and strange countries which have been visited.

The Aorangi's trip up the coast will be a pleasant one and it is more than likely that many Canadians will be included in the passenger list.

—Mail and Empire: The order that is shown by Mr. Laurier's party in prosecuting cases of alleged corrupt or unlawful practices is greatly to be commended. But we must remind Mr. Tarte that his friend, Mr. Pettit, lately a candidate for the house of commons, has not been prosecuted for the corrupt offer made in the "business in America" letter. The only protection that has grown out of it is Mr. Tarte's criminal action against the man who made the case public. And in this case all the efforts of the defendant to force the case to trial have not been successful.

ON THE PRAIRIE.
 Bare, low, tawny hills,
 With bluer heights beyond,
 And the air is sweet with spring,
 But when will the earth respond?
 Prairies that roll for leagues,
 Dusky and golden pale,
 Like a stress of sea waves,
 Unbroken by ship or sail.
 The hollows are dark with brush
 And ragged with bleaching brook
 Of the ranks of the tall sunflowers.
 No cloud in the blue, no stir
 Save the shrill of the wind in the grass,
 And the maddening lark's note, and the call
 Of the wind borne crows that pass.
 Bare, low, tawny hills,
 With bluer heights beyond,
 And the air is sweet with spring,
 But when will the earth respond?
 —Herbert Hotes in New York Tribune.

TREES IN THE STREETS.
 A Society in New York City to Beautify the Avenues.
 Without doubt the Tree Planting Association of New York has undertaken a most effective work. So far as it proves to be practicable, it will contribute as much as any other scheme that could be projected for the embellishment of the city. The incorporators are to a considerable extent the same as the incorporators of the Botanic gardens—men well known for public spirit and intelligence. Thus the society begins under the most favorable auspices, for caution and discrimination as well as for enterprise.
 Of course its work will be largely experimental. There are streets, even residential streets, in New York in which it may not be wise to attempt tree planting at all, for the reason that the space cannot be spared, either from the sidewalk or the roadway, for the boxes that must protect the young trees or for the trunks of such trees as are already in the streets. The boulevard is a place where the trees there are many places in which no trees can thrive by reason of the lack of sunshine, and, indeed, there are scarcely any streets in New York where the park in which trees can be expected to do so well as in a place like Washington, where the streets are so wide and the buildings so low as to give all trees that may be planted a fair chance for life. Almost the only streets in New York that are as favorably situated are the Broadway boulevard and the Riverside Drive. The boulevard has been until within the past few months a dismal monument to municipal neglect. Now it is kept in order, but time is required to replace the trees that have been allowed to die, and the double row of trees that were meant "high overhanging" to overshadow the boulevard at all, but presents upon the whole a scraggy and dismal spectacle.
 This, of course, comes mainly from neglect, for there is no reason why trees in this thoroughfare should not thrive if they can be made to thrive anywhere in New York. The general introduction of electric lighting will do much for the trees unless gas is still carried through the ground for fuel. It is given out that uncuttimed earth will be used for the setting of the new trees, but, judging from what we have experienced in the opening of Fifth Avenue for a sewer and the previous openings of other avenues for laying cables, the percolation of the gas through the fresh soil would be a matter of only weeks at the longest. The new association is plainly destined to encounter many obstacles. If it succeeds in gaining even a partial victory over them, it will entitle itself to the gratitude of all New Yorkers.—New York Times.

Musical Reiteration.
 Although the Quakers, as a sect, do not favor music, regarding it as a profane amusement indulged in by the world's people, there are occasionally stories told which show that the love of music is gaining even a partial victory over them; it will entitle itself to the gratitude of all New Yorkers.—New York Times.
