

The Island has a goodly number of salt marshes large and small just waiting to be explored. So on a warm summer's day (best choose one with a breeze to blow away the mosquitoes), for a pleasant change from the beach, why not get out your rubber boots and Muskol and visit a marsh. There's guaranteed to be lots to be discovered there.

- A sea lavender
 B sedge
 C rush
 D salt water cord grass
 E salt marsh hay
 F samphire

FEEDER REPORT. Mrs. Lowell Clark of Indian River keeps her feeder going year round. On May 20 she sent in the following list of recent visitors: 1 pair American Black Duck, 1 pair Blue-winged Teal (May 6), 1 pair American Wigeon (May 10), 1 m Belted Kingfisher, 4 Common Flicker, 8 Blue Jay, 2 pair American Crow, Black-capped Chickadees, Boreal Chickadees, 6 American Robin (Apr. 4), 8 Yellow-rumped Warbler (May 8), 8 pair Red-winged Blackbird, 2 m Rose-breasted Grosbeak (May 17), 12 pair Evening Grosbeak, 12 pair Purple Finch (May 9), 6 Pine Siskin (May 6), 1 m American Goldfinch (May 9), several Dark-eyed Junco. She also has a couple of chipmunks and about 6 red squirrels coming to the door for peanuts.