Storm of Protest Over Licensing Move in Alberta

EDMONTON, Nov. 21 —(CP) — A storm of protest from doctors, lawyers and others was reported gathering momentum today in the wake of the announced Alberta Government scheme to adopt a general licensing system for all professions.

Meetings were called by various groups to study the week-end announcement and draft representations to Provincial Secretary C. E. Gerhart.

A. M. Dechene, president of the Edmonton Bar Association, said the profession would fight any proposal that might look like "state or political interference."

Dr. J. W. Richardson of Calgary, president of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Alberta, said Mr. Gerhart had been informed of the fear that the proposed step might tend to lower the standard of medical practice.

A resolution from the College of Physicians and Surgeons, submitted to Mr. Gerhart, expressed the belief that the licensing by Governmental bodies "will curtail the inflow of top calibre professional men who will regard this as control by government regimentation, thereby limiting private enterprise in the field of medicine."

The resolution expressed the deside of the college to: Continue the present administrative organization; revise the Medical Profession Act; ask the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council to appoint a representative to sit as a member of the council of the College of Physicians and Surgeons.

Mr. Dechene said the government announcement came as a "shock" to the legal profession which from time immemorial had conducted its own affairs and established the requirements for admission to the legal profession.

Mr. Gerhart said it is not the intention to make any change in registration boards. Applicants still would go to the General Faculty Council at the university.

"If they are approved by the Faculty Council, they will be given a provincial licence," he said. "The government will not reject anyone who has been approved by the General Faculty Council."

Under consideration is possible abolition of the present requirement that all applications to the General Faculty Council write examinations, said the Minister. If this step is taken, it would mean that the Faculty Council would have the right to decide whether an applicant should write an examination before receiving a certificate.

S'side Kinsmen Club Meeting

Mr. Norman Hogg was chairman of the regular meeting of the Kinsmen Club of Summerside held at the Olympia last evening and which was devoted to the consideration of important club projects. It was decided that the club will again conduct its Christmas tree project whereby gifts of food, toys and clothing will be solicited at a Christmas tree and on Christmas eve will be delivered to needy families of the Town.

Bill Fridgen reported that the net receipts of the dance held in October were $194.04. Secretary Alec MacRae gave a very comprehensive report of the district council meeting which was held in Bridgewater, N. S., over the past week end.

Gus Gallant spoke on the value of the club being incorporated with reference to the operation of the outdoor rink and suggested that as an alternative insurance might be carried. He was appointed to look into the matter further.

Bill Fridgen reported that the caretaker appointed for the outdoor rink has been at work repairing the fence and building. The policy for operating the rink was then brought up and there was a lengthy discussion. The gist of the matter is that this rink provides the children of the Town with an opportunity to skate and play hockey free of charge and is therefore an important project. It was decided to put as much effort as necessary on the project to see that it does the job it was built for. The matter of building a second dressing room was not settled, the stumbling block being the cost. However, this is to be considered again.

Gus Gallant acted as finesmaster and Mr. Fred Butler of Toronto was a guest.—S.

Churchill Hats Feminine Fashion

PARIS, Nov. 21 — Churchill hats — a feminine version of the headgear habitually worn by the statesman — were displayed last night at a fashion showing staged by French courturier Pierre Palmain.

The hats look like a cross between a derby and a homburg, have three-inch-high crowns dented slightly through the centre, and narrow brims sharply furled at each side.

Balmain makes them of anything from gay paisley wool to scarlet breast feather and crimson chip straw. Decorations cover a wide field, too.

The inevitable cigar — Churchillian size — adorns a number called "Winston" which is made of navy-blue breast feathers. It has cobweb-fine, coffee-colored veiling shrouding the face and hat and ending in streamers down the rear.

Forerunner for spring is "Chequers," a hat named after the famous home of Britain's prime minister. It is in brilliant red chip straw and accompanies a new spring dress in checked navy-blue wool featured by tiny red buttons and wide collars and cuffs of glaze linen.

The question of the branch furnishing a room in the new hospital was discussed by the members. It was decided to leave the matter in abeyance for the time being.

The president gave a most interesting report on his attendance at the convention held at Winnipeg, touching on the following points in particular, Legion dress, Legion Sunday, how do you vote, tribute to the late Jack Moore, children's programme, community affairs, etc.

Dr. H.E. Clark gave an interim report on the wreath and poppy committee which showed a profit of $950.00. A full report will be given at the next general meeting. Comrade Clark, in a few fitting remarks, thanked those who had worked with him on the committee.

The president extended thanks to the chairmen of the following committees for a job well done, wreath and poppy, parade and programme, and banquet. He stated that it was perhaps the best organized Remembrance Day programme the branch ever had and sincerely thanked all who assisted in any way.

After much discussion on ways and means the branch decided to put on a drive to obtain new members. All members were urged to go out and canvass those who were eligible and did not belong. — S

Ottawa Clarifies Action Regarding N.S. Apple Board

OTTAWA, Nov. 21— (CP)—The Government, after legal grounds were questioned, has edged out of a wartime commitment to a provincial marketing board to make it the sole marketing agency in that area for apples.

An informed source today disclosed that the reason the Government backed out of a grading and inspection concession granted to the Nova Scotia Apple Marketing Board is because the Government questioned authority to extend into peace what it had done in war.

Another reason is that now that provincial marketing boards have been established in other Provinces, demands have been growing that the same concession be granted to boards dealing with potatoes and other agricultural commodities.

The Government decided to wash its hands of the whole thing. But in doing so, says the Nova Scotia Board, it now is doubtful whether the apple board will be able to continue to operate effectively.

The concession, granted under the War Measures Act, dealt with grading certificates. Though the Federal Government always has had power to grant such certificates to shippers dealing in interprovincial and export trade, it handed this power to the Nova Scotia board during the war, to cover all apple shipments from that Province.

Thus, when an apple exporter from Nova Scotia applied to the Federal Agricultural Department during the war for a grading certificate—showing that his product has met inspection and grading standards—the government declined to grant such an application. It referred the shipper back to the Provincial Marketing Board, which in effect had exclusive power to grant such certificates.

Now the Government in effect has stated that it will not be able to refuse to extend such certificates in future whenever application is made—either from Nova Scotia or any other Province.

However, the Government recalls that Parliament last year passed legislation which allowed Provincial Marketing Boards to deal in inter-provincial and export trade and says now it is up to the provinces to seek their own means of enforcing this control.

Sept. Iles Busy Place Now

SEPT ILES, Que., Nov. 21 — (CP)—The build-up is going on apace at this lower St. Lawrence River port for the projected railway-building push northward which is the next step in the program to tap the vast iron ore riches of Ungava.

Sept Iles, some 360 miles northeast of Quebec, is a busy place. But it will be busier still all winter as the railway-building program takes shape.

The 360-mile railway, a job costing about $100,000,000, will be known as Quebec North Shore and Labrador Railway. It will link this St. Lawrence port with the iron ranges of the north where 400,000,000 tons of high grade iron ore have been charted.

Building of the railway is one segment of the over-all-iron mining program mapped out by the Iron Ore Company of Canada for which Jules R. Timmins, president of Hollinger-Hanna Ltd., the managers of the Iron Ore Company of Canada, last week announced a successful $200,000,000 financing.

Floods Chase 10,000 From California Homes

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21 — (AP)—Rioting flood waters from the mountains of North Central California chased another 10,000 residents from their lowland homes today.

The new area of devastation — in the fourth day of the floods — lay in unincorporated districts not far south of Marysville, near where the Yuba River joins the Sacramento.

Across the Sierra Nevada range, the glittering little city of Reno was squirming out of its worst flood in history. The Truckee River, normally a quiet stream, had gone on a rampage that left unbelieveable destruction in the centre of the city and muck and debris in the streets and adjacent buildings.

Pilgrims To Return By T.W.A. Plane

MONTREAL, Nov. 21 — (CP) — Forty-seven Canadian pilgrims who were still in Rome following the crash of the "Canadian Pilgrim" in the French Alps last week will be returning to Montreal aboard a Trans-World Airlines plane, it was announced today.

The plane is scheduled to arrive here about 2:20 A.M., EST., tomorrow.

The 47 were part of a group of 50 who flew to Rome aboard the "Canadian Pilgrim" to attend ceremonies marking the beatification of Canada's Marguerite Bourgeoys.

Leased by Curtis-Reid Airtours of Montreal, the plane crashed in the French Alps on its return trip last week with loss of its 51 passengers and crew of seven. The passengers had gone to Rome by an ocean liner.

The group of 50—mostly Quebecers — had been unable to find accommodation for the return trip following the loss of the Curtiss-Reid plane.

U. S. Cities Not Ready For Atomic Attack

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 —(AP) —If the atom bomb should fall tomorrow, most United States cities could put into action only a small part of the civil defence effort needed to save lives and rally from the attack.

Mostly, the cities blame the Federal Government for this state of affairs.

They complain that the Government hasn't told them in detail what to do—that they can't get a real civil defence organization going until they learn who's going to pay for it.

These are the highlights of a report made public today by the American Municipal Association, made up of 10,500 cities and towns.
