10,000 MILES PER HOUR

Monkey's Return From Space Trip Was Highlight Of Week's News

By JOSEPH MACSWEEN Canadian Press Staff Writer

A couple of girl monkeys, with the unromantic names Able and Baker, flew 300 miles above the earth at 10,000 miles an hour—and lived to chatter about it.

The animal astronauts were launched in a Jupiter ballistic missile from Cape Canaveral, Fla. Soared in their nose cone, they soared 1,700 miles southward along the Caribbean missile range to the vicinity of Antigua, where they were fished from ocean waters still alive and well.

Electronic instruments radioed information on how the monkeys reacted during the 15-minute flight. The information will be vitally important to the "mercury astronauts"—the seven men now training to be the first U.S. space travellers.

Able, a seven-pound rhesus monkey, and her pal Baker, a midsize monkey at one pound, are believed to be the first animals to survive a long-distance flight through space.

The Russian dog Laika died after a week aboard Sputnik II at an altitude reaching more than 1,000 miles. Two Russian dogs were sent to an altitude of 261 miles last year and were recovered unharmed. But that rocket trip was straight up and down.

TTT FOR TAT While Able and Baker made history, two monkeys in Vancouver pulled a stunt of their own—they launched a man.

Gardener Alexander Rauk leapt into the air with a surprised yell when he looked up from a flower bed into the grinning faces of two monkeys.

The furry pranksters turned out to be escapees from the home of a neighbor and they were captured by a hastily-assembled posse, assisted by Rauk, after he came down to earth.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker and President Eisenhower announced an agreement under which Canada's armed forces will get more information from the U.S. about defensive atomic weapons.

Diefenbaker's announcement, made in the House of Commons Monday, said the agreement will enable Canada to obtain some previously restricted data regarding military uses of atomic energy.

Eisenhower's follow-up announcement in Washington Tuesday said other, more limited agreements also had been reached between the U.S. and West Germany, Turkey and The Netherlands, the aim being to strengthen the North Atlantic alliance.

The Canadian agreement provides for information on "research, development and design of military reactors."

DULLES DEATH John Foster Dulles, one of the world's sternest foes of communism, achieved in death some things that eluded him during his lifetime: a truce in the cold war; a suspension of bitter propaganda exchanges; and expressions of respect from the Communist rulers.

Dulles, 71, lost his fight against cancer last Sunday. He was buried with military honors at Arlington National Cemetery Wednesday amid tributes from the great and small around the world.

President Eisenhower, looking on during the military services, appeared near tears for the man who served as U.S. state secretary for six years of the cold war.

their Water Street home Sunday evening and on Thursday evening friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Martin where slides were shown of the Agnews' new home. The host presented them with a parting gift.

Mr. Agnew was also honored by the Y's Men's Club of which he is a past president and valued member. He was presented with a gift and flowers were sent to Mrs. Agnew who was also remembered by the Y's Menettes.

Another chief-of-staff among the mourners was 83-year-old Konrad Adenauer of West Germany. Finance Minister Donald Fleming represented the Canadian government.

IRONIC TOUCH There was a touch of irony in the fact that the day of Dulles' funeral—May 27—was the day the world had marked for a crisis over Berlin.

The Soviet Union's six-month ultimatum to the West to get out of the former German capital ran out on that date. It was, instead, a day of truce in cold war, and of tribute to Dulles, who had defied the ultimatum.

TALKS RECESSED The Big Four foreign ministers had recessed their Geneva conference on Germany to attend the Dulles funeral. Russian Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko joining Western diplomats in the Washington trip.

Gromyko termed Dulles "an outstanding statesman, outstanding diplomat" and his chief, Premier Khrushchev, also spoke in respectful terms of the former state secretary.

Eisenhower called Gromyko, Selwyn Lloyd of Britain, Maurice Couve de Murville of France and U.S. State Secretary Christian Herter to a White House conference in which he emphasized his hope that they would make enough progress at Geneva to justify a summit conference.

RETURN FLIGHT Khrushchev's Albanian tour look on increased military significance with the arrival in the small Communist country of Defence Minister Peng Teh-huai of Communist China, on a junket through Red-bloc countries.

BRITISH ACTION Britain cancelled import controls on a wide range of dollar products in an important step toward eliminating the economic division between Canada and the rest of the Commonwealth.

Effective June 8, dozens of varieties of consumer goods will be free from import controls, including cheese, canned fish, vegetables and soup, plastic goods, household appliances, radios and shoes.

COMMUNIST REFUGEES In London, Mrs. Nina Dmitriev, 35-year-old runaway wife of a Russian diplomat, asked British authorities to grant her and her five-year-old daughter political asylum. She turned up at the British foreign office after being missing four days.

Her husband, Capt. Aleksander Dmitriev, 38, a Soviet naval attaché, flew back to Moscow aboard a jet airliner.

THE MARITIMES WEEK A reported submarine sighting off Newfoundland that sent a destroyer hurrying from Saint John, N.B., topped news headlines on the Atlantic seaboard. Defence Minister Pearkes confirmed at Ottawa that the Nooka was on a submarine hunt but did not disclose the results of her search.

Forest fires kept volunteers and forestry service personnel busy in New Brunswick, and in Nova Scotia where the woods were closed to unlicensed travellers.

A four-hour $150,000 fire in Dalhousie, N.B., Thursday night destroyed four apartments and other premises.

New Brunswick celebrated the 80th birthday of Max Aitken, who was born in Ontario, raised in New Brunswick and moved to England to become Lord Beaverbrook and build a powerful press empire. He attended a military parade at Fredericton and visited his boyhood home on the Miramichi. His gifts to New Brunswick can be found throughout the province.

George Kinsky, 29, a Czech building surveyor, found a new way to escape Communist rule—he slithered into Austria in a glider after battling ill winds for four hours.

Before leaving Geneva, the minister had decided that remaining sessions would be held in secret and the return trip—with all four aboard the same aircraft—provided a unique opportunity to begin.

The 17-hour flight provided the setting for the first full-scale international conference session to be held, literally, in the clouds.

KHRUSHCHEV'S VISIT Premier Khrushchev, in the midst of a 12-day tour of Albania, urged neighboring Greece to cut loose from NATO and become a neutralist country.

In one of many speeches, Khrushchev said the Soviet Union is ready to set up rocket bases in Albania and Bulgaria to match any the United States may establish in Italy or Greece. He called SUMMERSIDE — The May meeting of the Summerside WMS was held recently at the home of Mrs. Wallace Harding. Mrs. Harry Linkletter led the devotion on the theme "God in His Heaven". She was assisted by Mrs. Garth Linkletter and the scripture lesson was from the 46th psalm.

It was emphasized in the meditation that in these days of deep unrest people are prone to let fear and distrust prevail and forget that God is still in His heaven. The president, Mrs. Vernon Matherell conducted the business. In connection with the collection of used clothing, Mrs. Lucy MacKay was appointed to work on this committee instead of Mrs.

RELIGION AND LIFE

BY VERY REV. GEORGE C. PIDGEON, D.D., LL.D. First Moderator of the United Church of Canada

VALUE IS IN PRICE PAID A devout Roman Catholic once said to a protestant friend—"You Presbyterians give Christ such a high place in your religion that I wonder why you do not make more of the Cross."

His friend replied—"We do not regard the cross in itself as an object of worship, but Christ crucified is for us the foundation of our faith."

I can never forget the profound reverence with which one of Canada's professional men spoke of what the Cross had meant to him as he turned to Christ.

It was the price Christ had paid for his salvation that had taught him the value of his own soul and had revealed to him the love of God.

What does Jesus Christ mean to you? Your answer to that question will indicate what you mean to the world.

VITAL FAITH The inventiveness that finds new worlds to conquer is also one of the products of a vital faith.

To carry one's Christianity with him wherever he goes is the task of a Titan. But it is a far greater thing to go under Christ's direction into the unknown future. It is the young believer's calling to bring every realm into which Christ leads him under Christ's dominion.

I know Christian men who worked their way up to command far-reaching enterprises and immediately began to apply their principles and work toward their ideals in the transactions entrusted to them.

It is not easy to see the place of the Divine Law and of holy love in the public and private affairs of our time, but they have a place, and it is the Christian's duty to put them there.
