

ARGUS MODEL IN GROUND DISPLAY

These young gentlemen are quite absorbed in the realistic model of the mighty Argus sub-hunter. Not only will an interesting display be available for public inspection, but several aircraft, including the Argus will be on static display at the Summerside Air Station.

JOINT PROGRAM

Armed forces display at RCAF station Sat.

The Navy, Army and Air Force will participate this Saturday at RCAF Station Summerside in the first Armed Forces Day ever to be held in Prince Edward Island.

Residents and visitors alike are invited to attend the Summerside program and are encouraged to take their cameras along.

Technical displays will be featured in addition to static displays of warships, aircraft, missiles, weapons and support equipment. The air show will commence at 3:15 p.m.

Armed Forces Day clearly demonstrates the spirit of co-operation that exists in Canada between the soldier, the sailor and the airman.

The program will include: 10:00 - Gates open to public. Exhibits open 2 and 3 hangars. Static display of aircraft and large vehicles. 1:30 - Fire fighting demonstration. Children's cartoon tent open. 1:45 - Precision drill competition. Presentation of Gallant Trophy. 2:30 - Arrival of Lieutenant Governor, 100 man Guard of Honor, Royal Salute, Official opening ceremonies. 7:45 - Band concert 2 hangar.

Tracked take-off and conduct infield display. CHSS-2 helicopter takeoff, infield display, land. Argus formation flypast. Neptune formation flypast. Single Argus-2 engine flypast. Single Argus slow speed flypast. Single Argus-sub attack. Neptune solo lavs smoke ring. Neptune formation - Prince

The Armed Forces in this region have pioneered in the development and adoption of new equipment and techniques. The RCN's helicopter equipped destroyer escorts and Maritime Air Command's Argus aircraft have gained international recognition in the field of anti-submarine warfare, while the Army's new Gagetown-based helicopter, the Voyager, is one of the most modern combat carriers in service anywhere.

Versatile addition to fleet

Four models of the CHSS-2 Sea King were built for the RCN by the Sikorsky Aircraft Helicopter Division in Stratford, Connecticut, and 20 others are being assembled by United Aircraft of Canada Limited, Longueuil, Quebec.

The Sea King, in addition to its vital all-weather, day and night features, possesses an automatic tail-folding device, winch-down equipment, hull-shaped fuselage, high speed and an automatic hovering capability. It is equipped with the most modern detection, navigation and weapons systems which enable the Sea King to search, locate and destroy any modern submarine.

These helicopters will be flown in HS-50, RCN anti-submarine helicopter squadron, for operations from the aircraft carrier Bonaventure and from platform equipped destroyer escorts. Vital Statistics:

Crew: four (two pilots, two aircrew). ASW Endurance: four hours or 500 miles. Speed: 120 knots (cruising). Gross Weight: 19,000 lbs. maximum. Dimensions: Fuselage Length - 54' 9", width - 7' 1", height over-all - 16' 8". Engines: two General Electric T-58-GE-4B twin turbines. Detection Equipment: Sonar-ranging set and self-contained navigation system. Armament: Homing torpedoes and depth bombs. With the anti-submarine warfare equipment removed, the CHSS-2 can transport up to 25 troops internally or up to 4,000 pounds of stores externally.

GROUP CAPTAIN DAGG

CO issues invite

During the past year we have seen growing evidence of the initial steps taken toward the integration of the Canadian Armed Forces. For example, in previous years each Service held its own open house in each part of the country. This year the Canadian Army, the Royal Canadian Navy and the Royal Canadian Air Force will hold a combined Armed Forces Day in each Province and the Prince Edward Island presentation will be made at RCAF Station Summerside.

All three Services will participate in the Air Show and each will display various types of vehicles and equipment on the ground. Accordingly, a diversified and interesting programme has been planned.

On behalf of all members of the Army, Navy and Air Force, I wish to invite the residents of Prince Edward Island to Armed Forces Day on Saturday, 26 June.

PART OF SQUADRON

The destroyer escort Columbia, a unit of the RCN's Atlantic Fleet is now serving with the newly formed NATO Matchmaker squadron of four anti-submarine warfare ships. Other ships in the squadron are HMS Leander, USS Hammerberg and HrMs Overyijssel of the Royal Netherlands Navy.

FIRST SHIPS

The Royal Canadian Navy was established in 1910 and its first two ships were the cruisers HMCS Niobe and HMCS Rainbow.

THIRD LARGEST

During the Second World War, the Royal Canadian Navy grew to a force of 100,000 officers, men and women, becoming the third largest Allied Navy.

FIRST COURSE

The first course of new pilot trainees for the RCAF began instruction at Camp Borden in 1923. A course member was C. R. Slemmon, who 30 years later became chief of the air staff and retired last year.

SUMMER CAMP

The 1965 summer concentration at Camp Gagetown began on June 14 and lasts until July 23.

Legion band taking part

The foundation of the Royal Canadian Legion Concert Band of Summerside was laid in September 1962 when an invitation was extended to the boys in school grades VI and VII to commence the study of a wind or percussion instrument.

In September 1963, the course was broadened to include girls in the same grades. After three years of intensive study, and hard work this group of young musicians comprise a 35 piece concert band, which is considered the finest of its kind in the Maritimes.

the band has performed in many Island communities and have been the feature band at the annual convention of the Maritime Chapter of the Canadian Bandmasters Association held in Truro last October. Their performance at Truro and their appearance at the 1965 P.E.I. Music Festival brought many plaudits from those intimately connected with the study of music.

The band, its sponsors, the George R. Pearkes, VC, Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion, and the Town of Summerside are to be commended on the excellent progress achieved in such a short time. The performance of the band, at 2:45 in 2 Hangar, on Saturday, will be a feature of Armed Forces Day at RCAF Station Summerside.

ONLY CHAMBER
The Royal Canadian Navy's Operational Diving Unit at Dartmouth, N.S. is equipped with the only recompression chamber in the Atlantic Region. The unit makes the chamber available to civilian divers who require treatment for the "bends".

FIVE SQUADRONS
Five naval air squadrons are based at the RCN Naval Air Station at Shearwater, N.S.: a Tracker anti-submarine squadron, a helicopter anti-submarine squadron, a helicopter utility squadron, and experimental squadron and a general utility squadron of fixed wing aircraft.

SUPPORTS NATO
The CC-106 Yukon long range transport aircraft began regular trans-Atlantic runs in support of Canadian NATO forces in 1962.
