Picture in Wholesaling

Is Changing On Prairies
The list of several factors contributing to the change in the pattern of pure or proper wholesaling is gradually changing...

The growth of population across the Prairies has brought about the development of wholesale operations in other western cities...

Winnipeg's location in the distribution of the Prairies has brought about the development of wholesale operations in other western cities...

The "pure or proper" wholesaler has been replaced by the "retailer-wholesaler" who handles merchandise to land under favorable conditions at the west coast. More efficient railroads services, the greatly expanded use of trucks for long-haul hauling, the development of improved air cargo and air express were other factors...

Warehouses located farther west can draw easily and quickly on stocks of manufacturers in the east...

There is an increasing tendency to buy direct from the retailer reduced the cost of distribution for the manufacturer and benefits for both the savings. This, in turn, are passed on to the consumer...

Wholesalers, meanwhile, have decreased in number by consolidating with small firms and large firms have grown even larger...

Some have become associated with retail chains in voluntary associations and some have branched out into retailing as well as wholesaling for the drive and talent...

"Happily for Manitoba, and for Winnipeg in particular, another form of wholesaling is expanding. This concerns agents and sales branches located away from the plant...

Their share of business has grown well in the past decade and is predicted to grow well in the future...

Improved transportation has reduced the significance of Winnipeg's location in the distribution of the Prairies...
