Bank of Canada

CMHC steps out? — "If the banks find mortgage lending desirable," said Mr. Towers, "putting up $100,000,000 a year is not by any means a large figure for the banks, especially since bank loans have been increasing by $500,000,000 or $600,000,000 annually."

Suggests Fund

Solon Low, Social Credit leader, suggested the central bank should set up a revolving fund to provide housing funds to municipalities at low interest rates.

Mr. Towers suggested members are making up cheap money with the creation of new money. It would be better if the funds came from the government, which would borrow them, than the Bank of Canada. It would be "unwise" for the central bank to create money for housing alone without taking into consideration the needs of the entire economy.

Mr. Towers also said: 1. Entry of chartered banks into the mortgage lending field will not reduce money available for lending to business and industry.

Invest "Modestly" 2. Banks likely will invest "modestly" in mortgages, perhaps less than 25 per cent of their deposits.

3. It was unlikely that the new mortgage-lending scheme will attract much money from the United States.

4. Interest rates generally have tended to decline in the last few months. Mortgage rate also may decline.

5. As Canada's credit bill increased, Canada's economy becomes more "vulnerable." Their high standards of living and high demand made both Canada and the U. S. vulnerable economically.

regular Maritime Intercollegiate competition, St. Dunstan's has won nineteen victories. In addition, the local debaters have won three Maritime Championships, Two Eastern Canadian titles, and one National Championship. Their greatest success came on March 8, 1952 when Allan MacDonald and Walter Reid defeated teams from Montreal University and St. Patrick's College in Ottawa by a majority decision, and were proclaimed Canadian Champions.

All three of this year's victories in Maritime competition were won by unanimous decisions. On November 24, Richard Wedge and Charles Roche defeated the King's College team from Halifax, debating the resolution, "That Canada should join the United States to form one united country." On February 9, Miss Mary Farmer and John Walsh successfully upheld the resolution, "That increased immigration would be beneficial to Canada" against the St. Thomas College, Chatham, team. On the following evening, February 10, in Halifax, Allan MacDonald won his seventh consecutive debating victory when he joined Ian Gillis to defeat the Dalhousie debaters on the resolution, "That Communistic activities be made a criminal offense in Canada."

The American departed in the presidential plane, the Columbine, after the conference closed. Other delegates also wound up with expressions of confidence in the future.

Anthony Eden of Britain said the Korean talks next April could mark "a substantial step forward in the service of peace."

George Bidault of France said the results of the conference were "not negligible" and should contribute to relaxation of international tension.

Vyacheslav Molotov of Russia said the conference led "to a more correct understanding of the attitude of the states represented here." Ways of settling their "discrepancies" had become clearer.

The Queen and Duke return to the mainland next Wednesday with a visit to Melbourne, where huge crowds are already gathering.

Before ending their five-day visit to Canberra, the Queen and her husband planted eucalyptus trees in the grounds of government House near two others planted 27 years ago by her late father, King George VI and her mother.

An estimated 500,000 persons lined the route from the Sydney airport to a naval shore base inspected by the Queen after her arrival here. The school couple also reviewed 48,000 schoolchildren in a local park, sitting on the folded top of their open car to give the youngsters a better view of them.

Geo'town Eagles Defeat Montague To Tie Series

In the dying seconds of the overtime period at Montague last night Le scored a three-way goal to bring the Georgetown Eagles back in the running for the Southern King's hockey trophy as the Eagles won 3-2 over the Montague Shmohawks and tie the series at 4-4.

The final game will be played as the conclusion of the Intermediate B series which begins Monday night with the Eagles playing hosts to the Shmohawks at Georgetown. The winner will play off with Souris. The series is a two-game total goals to count.

Last night's game was a crucial one for the Eagles, and they put on a spectacular do-or-die effort to tie the series. Playing on ice on which it was impossible to carry the puck, both teams fought savagely to get the win. The goals were called on for almost super-human effort as they became the target of attack with long shots. The small score serves to indicate how well they met the challenge and guarded their cages.

MacRae banged in the first score of the game on a neat pass from L. Shepherd, and five minutes later Stull tied the score from Stevens. L. Shepherd put Montague one out in front before the period ended, but the second session Fowler tied the score at the half way mark. Playing fast rugged hockey throughout, the boys were tiring, and the third period went scoreless. It looked as if it would be repeated in the ten-minute overtime, but at the 9:42 mark Lee clinched the game with a smart goal from a pass from Power and MacNeill.

Line-ups: Georgetown: Goal, Sullivan; defence, MacPhee, Johnston, MacLean; forwards, Power, Lee, MacNeill, MacLeod, Stevens, Stull, Landry, Murphy, Matheson, McConeil. Montague: Goal, MacDonald; defence, Shepherd, MacRae, Nicholson; forwards, Nelson, Hughes, B. Stewart, L. Shepherd, MacLean, R. Shepherd, C. Stewart, Bell, Arsenault.

SUMMARY First Period 1—Montague, MacRae (L. Shepherd) 5:23 2—Georgetown, Stull (Stevens) 11:50 3—Montague, L. Shepherd (MacLean) 13:06 Penalties: None. Second Period 4—Georgetown, Power (MacNeill) 9:28 Penalty: Nelson. Third Period No score. Penalty: MacRae. Overtime Period 5—Georgetown, Lee (Power, MacNeill) 9:42 Penalties: None.

Charge Russians Interfered In Ski Race

FALUN, Sweden, (AP)—Finland's ski team charged Thursday the Russians interfered with a Finnish contestant in the world championship 15-kilometre relay race Wednesday.

The Russians won the women's relay Wednesday. Heika Ristolainen, leader of the Finnish skiers, claimed one of the Russians blocked the path of a Finnish girl and produced a picture to prove it.

The photograph, taken by a Falun ski enthusiast, showed Skirkka Polkunen of Finland apparently having to leave the cross-country track to pass Lubov Kosyeva of Russia.

Under international rules a skier ahead must move over on signal to allow another skier to pass. Finland took the lead after the incident but lost it to the Russians in the second of the three legs of the relay. Russia won over Finland by the narrow margin of 23 seconds.

Miss Ristolainen said she was making no official protest. The Russians are participating in the world championships for the first time.

Martin served six months in the service in 1950-51 but was discharged for hardship reasons. Last month he was reclassified 1-A and he appealed, claiming as dependents his estranged wife, two daughters, his mother, a sister and step-father.

There was no indication when he is to report for induction but it might be for the March quota.

Nursery Club Meeting Held

The regular meeting of the Nursery Club of the King's County Hospital was held at the home of Mrs. H. M. Smith Wednesday evening, with the vice-president, Mrs. Leon Johnston, presiding. There were ten members present. The meeting opened with the minutes of the last meeting. A good report was given on the results of the carnival sponsored by the club. It was moved that all outstanding bills be paid. The evening was then spent in sewing. Lunch was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Gerald McCarron and Miss Florrie Beaton. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. D. M. MacDonald, the lunch committee to be Mrs. Leon Johnston and Mrs. Scott.

The United States waived here its demand that Russia not be classed as a neutral in such a Korean conference. Molotov dropped his promotion of Red China as sponsoring power. The wording of the communique sidestepped the disputed classification of any power as a belligerent or neutral. In effect, there will be no neutrals present.

Satisfied French By agreeing to have the Geneva conference take up Indo-China at the same time as Korea, the Big Four satisfied urgent French wishes. Eden brushed away French wishes of a terribly costly jungle war against Ho Chi Minh's Communist-led guerrillas for eight years.

The ministers granted another French wish—to have the three associated states of Indo-China at the conference table when Indo-China is discussed.

The closing hours of the conference swept only a few crumbs of comfort to partitioned Germany. Austria's lot remained bitter gall. Eden brushed aside Molotov's proposals of Wednesday for setting up all-German committees to improve trade and cultural relations between the East and West zones. Instead, he said, the West's three high commissioners would get in touch with Soviet High Commissioner Vladimir Semenyov to attempt to free interzonal traffic and communications from obstacles.

Austrian Dejected Austrian foreign minister Leopold Figl dejectedly walked from the conference Thursday afternoon empty-handed and with 7,000,000 countrymen facing indefinite military occupation. Molotov refused two Austrian overtures for ultimate independence.

First Figl proposed that the independence treaty be signed now, but its 90-day military evacuation clause roared to stay on Austrian soil until June 30, 1955.

Then, as a forlorn last hope, he suggested that the troops leave as stipulated in the treaty, but that control authority over Austria continue indefinitely in the hands of the Big Four's diplomatic chiefs in Austria.

Molotov would not budge from his demand that the Soviet army be given the right to remain in Austria at least as long as neighboring Germany is divided.
