

APPEARANCE DELAYED

Cosa Nostra biggie Amelio Dellacross, left, and Joseph Gallo, second from right, leave Queens County courthouse yesterday after they, with 10 others, were excused grand jury. Thirteen who were picked up last week at a "Little Apalachin" meeting were to have appeared but a telephone fake bomb scare brought about postponement. Seven were told to return Friday, the others next Monday. At right is attorney Joseph Panzer and in background is a court attendant. (AP Wirephoto)

Waterfowl Licence Sales Have Passed 190,000 Mark

OTTAWA (CP)—Sales of the new $2 federal licence for waterfowl hunters have passed 190,000 and acceptance of the idea has been encouraging in every region, Dr. David Munro, chief of the Canadian Wildlife Service, said Monday. The licence, being sold by post offices for attachment to the regular provincial hunting permit, is chiefly designed to provide statistics on waterfowl hunting in Canada. Dr. Munro said there is no breakdown available on licence sales by province. Information on an incoming permit stubs was being fed into a data-processing machine that would produce complete statistics in about a month. However, he said a "good proportion" of the returns are coming from Quebec where the provincial government has refused to co-operate with the program. SEASON STILL EARLY Hunting of ducks and geese has not yet started in two major regions — southern Ontario and the lower mainland of British Columbia. Sales were expected to soar when those areas report. The Maritime provinces are also still to come. The federal law that established the new licence makes it mandatory for all persons hunting migratory birds. An RCMP headquarters spokesman said there have been no reports as yet of prosecutions in any part of the country. Other informants said federal authorities had agreed that rigid enforcement of the regulation would not be attempted in the first year. The main concern was to educate hunters about the existence of the licence and its use in hunter research. Until now it has been impossible to get a firm estimate of the number of waterfowl hunters in Canada. Provincial hunting licences cover a wide range of hunting activity in addition to waterfowl.

U.S. Soldier's Foster Child Is Forced To Live In Canada

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP)—Sgt. Robert Snyder's adopted daughter can see the United States from the family's home in Canada, but she is not permitted to enter the U.S. Immigration laws prohibit it. Snyder, of Middletown, is stationed at McGuire Air Force Base, N.J., but lives with his wife, June, a nine-year-old son, Vincent Roy, and an adopted daughter, Irene, 1, at Fort Erie, Ont., just across the U.S. border from Buffalo, N.Y. The sergeant and his English-born wife adopted Irene from a poor Greek family when she was five months old. Then, after completing a six-year tour overseas, including four years in Greece, he and his family returned to the United States. When they reached New York June 30, they were told that Irene could not stay in the U.S. LAW RESTRICTS Immigration laws restrict bringing adopted children into the U.S. while the child's natural parents are still living, unless the child has lived with the new parents at least two years. To be as close to his family as possible, Snyder got an apartment at Fort Erie, and his wife, son and Irene have been living there for three months. The family's plight was made known by Representative Rodney Love (Dem. Ohio). However, it soon may be over. A bill, known as the Irene Snyder Bill, sponsored by Love and Senator Frank Lausche (Dem. Ohio) has been approved by Congress. The bill, which is expected to be signed Friday by President Johnson, would permit Irene to enter the U.S. The family's passport to Canada expired Aug. 30 but it was renewed until Sept. 30. The passport can be extended, but there's a possibility that if the bill is not signed, the Snyders will have to move to England.

Cattle Disease Emergency Over

NEWCASTLE, England (Reuters) — England's two-month foot-and-mouth disease emergency, during which almost 45,000 farm animals were slaughtered, was ended officially Monday. The emergency, which covered farms in more than 2,000 square miles stretching north of here, was one of the worst ever recorded in Britain. All movements of livestock in the area were banned by the British ministry of agriculture. Most of the animals slaughtered were not infected, but the step was taken as a precaution against the highly-infectious disease. The British government will pay out more than £1,000,000 ($3,000,000) in compensation to farmers. The outbreak was characterized by foot-and-mouth blisters accompanied by fever, salivating and lameness.

Anti-Patriotism Is New Pastime

HAMILTON, Ont. (CP)—Anti-patriotism in North America has become a popular pastime among the youth, the past president of the international Kiwanis clubs said Monday. Ed Keefe, president last year, said anyone who dares to act patriotic today receives nothing but criticism. He was speaking to Kiwanis delegates from Ontario, Quebec, the Maritimes and the Caribbean meeting here. Historians don't treat historical figures, as heroes, he said, but instead try to downgrade their actions by giving them ulterior motives. He also said morality is suffering in Canada and the United States. "Morality is constantly reaching and plumbing new lows," he said. The new thinking, says Keefe, says that good and evil can only be measured according to what the society as a whole thinks, he told the delegates. By following the opinion of the mob, each individual loses his own standards, said Mr. Keefe. He urged adults to stand up for their beliefs. If they don't something else will fill the void and democracy will fail in the end, he said.

Martin, playing a busy part. Martin, who returned to UN headquarters from Ottawa Monday for two days of private consultations, met Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, Goldberg, and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville.

WILL SEE OTHERS He also will see, among others, India's Foreign Minister Swaran Singh and Polish Minister Adam Rapacki before returning to Ottawa today.

Asked what he and Gromyko had discussed, Martin said: "Viet Nam, just Viet Nam. Nobody wants to talk about anything but Viet Nam." A Canadian source said that Martin, "while moving heaven and earth to get something started" on Viet Nam, also had hoped to make progress on resolving a UN dispute about the authorization and financing of peacekeeping forces.

For some time Canada has been trying to work out a fresh approach to the Viet Nam problem with India and Poland, its partners on the International Control Commission, charged with the duty of observing and reporting true violations in Viet Nam.

SEEK ASIAN SOLUTION Malaysia, the Philippines and Thailand have been continuing to do what it can "on a comprehensive, all-Asian basis, to seek an Asian solution to the problem" on Viet Nam.

David, the Czech spokesman, told the assembly the U.S. had usurped the right to intervene in various countries to force them "to live in accordance with the concepts and interests of the United States."

Goldberg said last week the United States would stop bombing North Viet Nam if it got an assurance, publicly or privately, that Hanoi would reduce its military activity in South Viet Nam, and would accept an internationally supervised withdrawal of all external forces from the south.

David said he doubts the U.S. has any intention of giving up his position in Viet Nam. A U.S. spokesman said later his country doesn't regard David's speech as a considered Soviet-bloc reply to Goldberg's proposals. "We're still watching and listening."

DENOUNCES U.S. Gromyko denounced U.S. aggression in Viet Nam the day after Goldberg spoke.

"The aggressor has come to Viet Nam the aggressor should leave," Gromyko said then. When debate swung over late Monday to the issue of South Africa's rule over South-West Africa, a South African speaker found himself talking to a half-empty assembly. Some African and Asian delegates walked out and others were absent.

Among those who stayed were the full delegations of Ethiopia and Liberia, two African countries that made an unsuccessful attempt to get a World Court ruling on the legality of South Africa's refusal to recognize a however, are being felt in the car industry, which is itself a major exporter.

The strikers all are members of Cousins Transport and General Workers Union. Cousins returned to the union leadership this year after quitting his cabinet post in disagreement with Wilson's attempt to freeze pay and prices.

Even before the delivery men's strike, thousands were on short-time. They will be joined in a four-day work week next month by 5,000 employees of Vauxhall Motors, a wholly-owned subsidiary of General Motors. The company blames a decline in orders for cars and small trucks.

Town Centennial Meeting Extremely Well Attended

SUMMERSIDE — Charles Hogan presided over a meeting in the Canadian Legion Home here last evening to discuss centennial plans in Summerside, answer questions and gather new ideas for the town's centennial celebrations. The meeting was exceptionally well attended, with the crowd overflowing from the room.

MR. HOGAN

In his report to the meeting, Mr. Hogan ran down the list of centennial activities being planned or already booked. Already committed to appear in Summerside in 1967 are the Armed Forces Acrobatic Display Team, on June 17; the RCMP Musical Ride and the RCMP Band during Lobster Carnival Week; a visit from centennial commissioner John Fisher during carnival week; a Joe O'Brien day during carnival week, honoring an island native who is one of the world's great harness racing drivers; the Canadian Armed Forces Tattoo on September 16; a motorcycle display team during September; the centennial train on October 24; a fly past on July 17, the opening day of Lobster Carnival Week; the Holiday Children's Theatre October 5.

Mr. Hogan brought up at the meeting were one for a clean-

Top Conservatives In B.C. Support Camp On Leadership

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia's top Conservatives have stepped gingerly into the national party leadership issue with a decision to back national President Dalton Camp's right to call for a leadership vote this fall. In a carefully worded statement that came after five hours of debate among 50 Conservative policy makers here, they said: "The numbers of the federal executive committee of the Progressive Conservative party of B.C. affirm the right of their national president to direct the attention of the party to its right under article 11 of the constitution of the party to elect the leader of the Progressive Conservative party of Canada and to call any convention for that purpose." Their statement also noted

Five Killed In Explosion Of Small Jet

PLATTE, S.D. (AP)—A small jet plane exploded in the air Monday and the five occupants, including a Detroit industrialist, his wife and son were killed. The victims are James Robbins, 50; his wife, Frances, 45; their son, Leslie 17, and two employees of Robbins — Clair Curry, about 60, and an unidentified man. Witnesses said the plane had just taken off from the private field when an explosion was heard. The wreckage landed in a field about two miles from the runway. Robbins owned a plastics manufacturing firm and a seat belt company.

Yanks Hit Rail Line

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Air Force planes tore up 500 feet of track and knocked out 10 anti-aircraft guns on a rail line from Hanoi to China while other planes blasted boats, barges and missile sites in the north, the U.S. command reported Monday. One U.S. plane was downed. The air attacks took the spotlight from dwindling ground action in the south after a week-end of sharp fighting near the demilitarized zone and in the Mekong Delta.
