

The young mother's delight and joy in her beautiful baby is always accompanied by more or less care and solicitude, and a certain degree of drain on her physical resources. She needs all the strengthening and sustaining help which is possible to be obtained, in order not to fall a victim to the organic weaknesses incident to maternity.

The grandest help in the world for expectant mothers or nursing mothers is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It imparts health and strength directly to the delicate organs and nerve-centers involved in motherhood. It renders the coming of baby safe and almost free from pain. It transmits constitutional health and hardihood to the child; promotes the secretion of abundant nourishment, and fortifies the mother with permanent vital energy.

All diseases of the feminine organism are completely cured by this remarkable "Prescription." No other medicine was ever devised for this purpose by an educated, skilled physician of thirty years' experience and an expert in this particular branch of medical practice.

The marvelous effects of this medicine are more fully described in one chapter of Dr. Pierce's thousand-page illustrated book, "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," a book which every woman ought to read. A paper-bound copy will be sent absolutely free on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to pay the mere cost of customs and mailing. Address World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y. A handsome cloth-bound copy for 50 stamps.

W. R. Malcolm, of Knobel, Clay County, Arkansas, writes: "Since I last wrote you we have had a baby girl born to us. My wife took your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and also your 'Favorite Prescription' all during the expectant period and until confinement and she had no trouble to mention. A stouter, heartier child was never born. Our child will be one year of age the 8th inst. and she has not been sick a day. Has not had so much as the colic. It is a fact, sir, and we have not had to be up with her as often as twice at night since her birth."

AS TO THE LINKS

There is no more ardent evolutionist in the city and no more persistent advocate of Darwin's theory than Dr. d'Ancona. His friend, Dr. de Marville, on the other hand, is a great bird fancier and devotes all his spare time to an enthusiastic study of ornithology.

"I have a splendid specimen of a monkey in my office," remarked Dr. d'Ancona proudly. "Come in and see him," he continued, being a firm believer in the object method of demonstration. "You will admit that I have the missing link in a cage." "That's all right," replied De Marville, absorbed in his own pet hobby. "I have a cage at home myself, and something in it too. You're not in it, and neither is your monkey. I can show you something much better than your missing link. I have got a bobolink." —San Francisco News Letter.

Prileau and Calhoun.

The Pendletonians were justly proud of Mr. Calhoun and sensitive as to the impression which he made upon strangers. When Judge Prileau became a resident, they were anxious to know his impressions of their Ajax. When they first met, as soon as Calhoun left the table, the question was eagerly asked, "How do you like him?"

"Not at all," was the newcomer's reply. "I desire never to meet him again." This was a sad rebuff, and an explanation was demanded. "I hate a man who makes me think so much," the judge replied. "For the last three hours I have been on the stretch trying to follow him through heaven and earth. I feel wearied with the effort, and I hate a man who makes me feel my own inferiority." Pendleton was appeased. —Exchange.

Good, but Not Intended.

Now and then a man gets off a good thing and does not know it. An instance is noted by Sir M. Grant Duff in his "Liary."

We began to talk about the fog. "It was so bad," I said, "a week or two ago that I hear Farrar preached against it at St. Margaret's."

"It was at that church," my friend answered, "that a clergyman, denouncing Mr. Tooth, the ritualist, said, 'I will not name him, but his name is in everybody's mouth.' Then, seeing the smiles on the faces of his congregation, he turned scarlet."

The Earth's Shadow.

The earth has a shadow, but very few ever see it, except in eclipses of the moon, or else few recognize it when they see it. Nevertheless, many of us have noticed on fine, cloudless evenings in summer shortly before sunset a rosy or pink arc on the horizon opposite the sun, with a bluish gray segment under it. As the sun sinks the arc rises until it attains the zenith and even passes it. This is the shadow of the earth.

ONE DIVIDED BY NAUGHT

Four men sitting together were conferring to one another their general ignorance of the matter contained in textbooks. One said he had studied algebra for three years, but he would find it impossible to solve the simplest problem by an algebraic process. Another said he had been counted a good student in geology, and yet he doubted if he could name the principal periods in their proper order.

"Now let's see how much you do know," said one of the men. "How much is one divided by naught or nothing?"

"One divided by nothing?" repeated the man at his right. "Why, that's one. If one isn't divided by anything, it remains one."

"I think the answer is nothing," said another. "One divided by nothing is—nothing. Sure, that's right."

"You're the worst I ever heard," said the man who had given the problem. "One divided by nothing—that means how many times is nothing contained in one. It is contained an infinite number of times, and the correct answer is—infinity."

Then he had to talk to them for five minutes in order to convince them. —Chicago Record.

The Heliograph.

With all its superiority in distances the heliograph is too uncertain for sole reliance. A passing cloud is sufficient to interrupt the clearest signals, perhaps in the critical moment of a battle, or a sun haze may render invisible the rays from the largest mirror, so that at any time without a clear atmosphere the system is useless.

It is not known that the heliographic system has ever been in use on ship-board, and the sea service has nothing for daylight signaling that approaches its accomplishment in dry atmospheres. For night service at sea the flashlight appears to be the best system of signaling in all weathers, though on rare occasions the long beam of the electric searchlight thrown up on the sky has proved effective for communication when it was possible by no other means. An instance of such use was reported a few years ago by two British ships, which while on opposite sides of a high promontory nine miles in width opened communication with each other by means of dot and dash flashes on the sky from their searchlights. —Lippincott's.

Gladstone's Doings and Undoings.

Mr. Gladstone began as the defender of the Irish church; he ended by demolishing it. No one ever opposed more vehemently the extension of British influence in Egypt, but it was under his government we bombarded the Alexandrian forts, fought the battle of Tel-el-Kebir and reduced Egypt to the condition of a British satrapy. He was the most conspicuous advocate of peace with Russia when Lord Beaconsfield was in office, until Constantinople was in danger. Five years later he left office, after having brought us to the very verge of war with Russia for the sake of Penjdeh. One year he clapped Mr. Parnell into prison, the next he proposed to make over to him the government of Ireland, and then again he deposed him from the leadership. Yet he was always consistent and anxious for his consistency. Circumstances alter cases, and Mr. Gladstone was not above being taught by events. —W. T. Stead in Review of Reviews.

True to Principles.

A New South Wales country school teacher recently gave a boy a question in compound proportion for home work which happened to include the circumstance of "men working ten hours a day in order to complete a certain work." Next morning the unsuspecting teacher in looking over the little pack of exercises found Jim's sum unattempted and the following letter in closed in the page:

Sir—I refuse to let Jim do his sum you give him last nite has it locks to me to be a slur at 8 hour sistum enny sum not more than 8 hours he is welcum to do but not more. Yours truly, ABRAM BLAKE, Senr.

Could Be Used Often.

The following anecdote illustrates Donizetti's susceptibility and quick wit. During his long stay at St. Petersburg he played by command before the Czar Nicholas, who entered into conversation with a bystander in the course of the piece. Donizetti at once broke off the performance.

"Why have you stopped?" asked the autocrat.

"Sire," was the reply, "when the czar is speaking everybody else should be silent."

Pessimism.

"There is a great deal of difference," she said with sarcasm, "between the way a man parts with his money before he is married and afterward."

"Yes," said Mr. Pennywise. "Before marriage, when he gives her a $3 bunch of flowers, she says: 'Thank you, George. You are so good and kind and generous.' But after, when he gives her three-fourths of his salary, she merely looks hurt and says, 'Is that all?'" —Washington Star.

There are no "professional jurors" in Mexico. Nine of a man's peers try him, and a majority is a verdict. If the nine are unanimous, there is no appeal. To serve on a jury one must have a diploma in law, medicine or some other profession, or an income of $100 a month, or he must be a member of a family whose head has an income of $2,000 a year.

Hardly a family in the country is free from Diabetes. Great thirst, failing sight, numbness in the thighs, bleeding gums, swollen ankles, emaciation, nervousness, pale or turbid urine, loss of sexual power, decaying teeth, pains in the loins or small of the back, are all positive signs that Diabetes is in the system.

Do you know how it ends? IN DEATH. A premature, horrible, agonized, pitiful death. The victim has no peace, no ease in life. His days are filled with tortures. His nights are waking dreams of agony. He longs to die, yet fears the terrors of his end. He lies, a bloated, fetid, repulsive mass of corruption. That is the only end of unchecked Diabetes. Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure it. They drive it out of the system thoroughly, create new, clean blood, rebuild the diseased kidneys, and restore robust health.

Men's Chains

A man has opportunity of showing only these articles of jewelry in his external dress. A ring, studs or stick pin, and a watch chain. The chain the conspicuous item. It is important, therefore, that its quality should be as good as the man can afford, and its style be distinguished for taste and character.

I have taken special pains in selecting a large stock of men's Chains, I am sure you will say that the patterns are the most tasteful ever shown in this city and the prices have sufficient range to fit every pocket book.
