S'side Youth Is Injured In Lecky Hill Collision

SUMMERSIDE BUREAU OF THE GUARDIAN

A 17-year-old Summerside youth, Barry Champion, was seriously injured in a head on collision yesterday morning at North Bedeque.

The youth, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Champion, suffered the injuries when the car he was driving was in collision with a three-ton truck.

The attending physician, Dr. A.R. Grant, said last night the youth's injuries included a fractured skull and severe lacerations to the head. Dr. Grant said the accident victim had required multiple blood transfusions after having been admitted to Prince County Hospital.

The accident occured at approximately 10:45 in the area of Lecky's Hill, near North Bedeque.

The 1962-model vehicle, owned by Harold Champion and driven by his son, sustained damages amounting to more than $1,000.

Damage to the 1961-model truck, owned by H.A. Fawcett and Sons, Petcodiac, N.B., also were approximately $1,000.

Heavy drifting was responsible for the poor visibility conditions in the area.

A third vehicle was reported to have collided with one of the other vehicles, but the third vehicle received only minor damages.

The Champion youth, a student at Summerside High, was returning from Borden where he had taken his mother who was travelling to Halifax to visit her husband in hospital in that city. Also a passenger in the car on the trip to Borden was Canon Mark Ferguson, also travelling to the Nova Scotian city.

'COST OF LIVING'

Doctors Raise Fees For Home, Office Calls

Fee increases for doctors' house and office calls announced recently have been made to keep pace with the increase in the cost of living, it was stated last night.

Dr. Clarence Coady, chairman of the public relations committee of the P.E.I. Medical Society, said in a statement that the adjustments have been "minor" and that "minor adjustments of any fee schedule become necessary from time to time in order to maintain a relationship between the schedule and the cost of living as reflected in the cost of living index."

He said too that the increase brings fees here more in line with those of the other eastern provinces.

Dr. Coady said it was for these reasons the medical society decided at its annual meeting in August that a review of the fee schedule was necessary in regards to several items which had not been adjusted for many years.

The fee changes which became effective Jan. 1 increase the price of office calls by $1 to $4 and house calls by $1 to $5 in the daylight hours and $8 at night.

The obstetrical fee has also been increased by $20 and "minor changes" have been made in the fees for anaesthetics. There are changes also in the fees for service at public health clinics and for insurance medical examinations.

"It becomes obvious", Dr. Coady said, "that the adjustments represent only a very slight change in the P.E.I. schedule of fees when it is realized that there are 60 pages in the schedule with up to 40 items listed on each page".

Freighter May Dock At Georgetown Today

GEORGETOWN — The MV Fossheim from Baltimore, Md., with a cargo of 3,000 tons of superphosphate for the Island Fertilizer plant in Charlottetown, arrived at the mouth of Georgetown Harbor Tuesday morning after diverting here when she met heavy ice in the Northumberland Strait. Georgetown harbor is still relatively ice free.

The severe snowstorm yesterday cut visibility to near zero at times and the accompanying high winds prevented the ship from docking last night. If weather permits arrangements have been made to bring her into port at noon today.

The ship's cargo is to be discharged at Georgetown and transported by a fleet of some 20 trucks to Charlottetown. It is expected that the unloading operations would be on a shift basis around the clock.

INVASION

and desire this can and must be achieved by and in the best interests of the dairy farmers themselves, without any bureaucratic action of anything like the magnititude proposed."

The reference, apparently, was to some type of suggested marketing legislation or price control, but Mr. Hartwick did not elaborate.

Ways and means adopted to accomplish the objective "are solely the prerogative of the producers.., and not the concern or business of processors" Mr. Hartwick stated.

TONE CONCILIATORY

Though this part of his speech is highly controversial, the general tone of the council president's remarks was conciliatory. Much of it was in praise of dairy farmers actions, but this strong exception referred to what he suggested is "a small number who .. support monopolistic legislation designed ... to regiment the total activities of dairy farmers .. and invade and control the business of manufacturers, processors and distributors under an authoritarian system .. in lieu of the present system which, despite its faults, has given rise to one of the most efficient dairy industries and one of the highest and fastest growing consumptive levels of dairy foods of any country in the world."

The efforts have encountered strong resistance from "a very sizeable percentage of dairy farmers," as well as from processors, Mr. Hartwick charged.

The council president praised the work of the dairy foods service bureau which is being headed by an Island man, J. Lincoln Dewar, for the second year in a row. "It appears to have developed an advertising and sales promotion program which should do much to accelerate sales growth for dairy foods ... with an extremely competent staff and the necessary facilities to justify the full confidence and support of the industry."

DOWNWARD TREND

Earlier the council spokesman had noted the trend to slightly lower dairy production in the past year and the tremendous upswing in population and suggested Canada might fall 600 million pounds short of meeting consumer requirements for milk in Canada in 1964. He suggested a food bank be considered to maintain adequate supplies of such things as butter, cheese and milk powder in future.

Dairy foods are Canada's best consumer purchase and people can buy more than three times as much butter and three and one-half additional quarts of milk per hourly earning then they could in the period 1948-50, he stated.

Five Missing From Schooner

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)— Air and surface vessels searched heavy seas 160 miles east of Jacksonville Tuesday for five persons forced to abandon a sinking schooner.

The U.S. Coast Guard identified them as Mr. and Mrs. John Pelton, their two children, and Capt. Christopher de Grabowski, skipper of the schooner Enchantress owned by Pelton. Pelton is from Whittier, Calif. De Grabowski is believed to be from Florida. The vessel left Charleston, S.C., Jan. 10 for St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands.

The last word from the 58-foot schooner was a distress message radioed at 4:25 p.m. Monday that water was knee-deep in the cabin and that the passengers and skipper were going over the side in two dinghies. All had life jackets.

Seventeen minutes earlier, the schooner had radioed she was in sinking condition and asked assistance.

Cutter Stands By Ship In Distress

NEW YORK (AP) — A U.S. Coast Guard cutter Tuesday reached the side of a British freighter that reported she was in danger of breaking up in the North Atlantic.

The coast guard said the cutter Rockaway met the dry cargo carrier, Middlesex Trader, 430 miles southeast of Halifax and was escorting her to port.

The Middlesex Trader, a 14,-683-ton vessel, radioed Monday that nine steel hull supports had fractured under high seas and she might break in two if the weather got worse.

A coast guard spokesman said the crew was believed to number about 40 men.

A second cutter, the Cook Inlet, also is expected to reach the freighter late today and will relieve the Rockaway of further escort duty.

Winds in the area were reported of near gale force and seas were running 14 feet high. The weather was expected to get worse as the storm that hit the U.S. east coast moved northward, the coast guard said.

Tax Evasion Charges In S'side Set For April

SUMMERSIDE BUREAU OF THE GUARDIAN

Charges have been laid against Maritime Asphalt Products Limited, J. Arthur Clarke and Ralph G. Somers, officers of the company. J. Arthur Clarke individually, in a case of income tax evasion involving an alleged $300,000 of unreported income. The case was adjourned to April 6 in Prince County magistrate's court at Summerside on Monday.

The adjournment was requested by defence counsel George McMahon because senior defence counsel Angus L. MacDonald of Halifax is unable to be present until that date. Counsel for the prosecution F. A. Large, QC, agreed to the adjournment.

The charges, filed under the Income Tax Act, allege that the company filed false and deceptive statements in income tax returns for the years 1953 - 1961. Officers of the company are charged with participating in the offence.

Flames Destroy Bedeque Home

SUMMERSIDE — Fire of unknown origin yesterday destroyed the small home of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison MacFarlane, Bedeque.

All the building's contents and the elderly couple's personal effects were lost. The MacFarlane home was partially covered by insurance.

No one was injured and no other persons lived in the house.

Raging winds fanned the blaze, which broke out about 1 p.m., and drifting snow delayed the arrival of the Kinkora fire department until 2 p.m. The fire trucks were escorted by a snow plow from Summerside.

No other buildings in the area were in danger from the flames as the wind was blowing the sparks towards an open field.

ACTION SEEN

than we have in Canada. It is largely a question of who does the regulating that concerns me. If the farmer has a strong hand, I see no reason to fear regulations.

"I am not suggesting that we should turn back the economic clock — I'm suggesting we exercise our good judgment to ensure that time works for us and not against us," Mr. Dickson urged.

Other speeches included one by Dr. S.C. Barry, federal deputy minister of agriculture, and one by J.M. Bentley, president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture which holds its annual session here next week. Neither man was able to be present and the speeches were read in their absence.

A talk on "The dairy situation" was given by Miss Veronica McCormick agricultural economist for the DFC. The work of the association during the year was reviewed briefly by John T. Monkhouse, the executive secretary.

The annual banquet was held in the evening.

The principle of "equal pay for equal quality milk," whether it be used in manufacture of cheese or butter, or sold as fluid milk was endorsed by Mr. Dickson.

A man who sells his milk on the fluid market — the price ranges here, for example, from roughly 70 cents per pound butter fat for milk going into butter and cheese to $1.20, or almost twice as much, on the fluid milk market — should receive the same price, Mr. Dickson said. "I do not know how any producer is able to sell milk at less money than I get for mine — if his milk is as good as mine he should get as much money."

"This is one problem that we are going to have to consider and contend with," he said, as he suggested his listeners might tell him dairy manufacturers cannot possibly pay the same price as fluid milk distributors. "It's one of the many things we have to. . . contend with," Mr. Dickson emphasized.

NO COMMON PURPOSE

"There's not nearly as much common purpose among us as there might be," observed the president who said dairy farmers themselves are partly to blame for the "poor image" that has been created of them mostly by large city newspapers whose writers paint a one-sided picture of farm operations and the treatment they receive from governments.

"That's one reason why agriculture doesn't speak more effectively — we are not necessarily in agreement with what should be said — we pursue our own narrow goals which — in the long run will only hasten the elimination of more and more of us from the field.

"If we haven't moved farther in the solution of not only our public relations problem, but the vastly more important problem of bringing our marketing situation to a point where as basic producers we have a considerable influence on the price we receive for milk, I suggest that lack of common purpose has been our biggest stumbling block", Mr. Dickson observed.

"We'll not solve these or other problems on a provincial basis, though we have a very good chance of resolving them on a national basis", he suggested.

BUTTER BALANCE

Dr. Barry's speech noted an improvement in the balance between butter supply and demand and said that some in reserve now might be drawn to fill 1964 demands. It was read by Dr. J.R. Sherk, assistant director dairy products, dairy division, Canada department of agriculture.

Miss McCormick said the butter picture is considerably brighter than a year ago with several million pounds of butter and butter oil exported, and 20 million additional pounds of cheese manufactured with a drop of some 12 million pounds in butter production. But, she added, consumption of butter was a bit disappointing despite the 12-cent subsidy that offered that margin of reduction in price to the consumer.
