

Above: Tired from their journey, the explorers stop for a sandwich and some 7-Up. They are happy to have found conclusive evidence of the Mole People, but they are saddened by having not found a one to photograph. Perhaps it is for the best, for the surely would be torn to pieces.

Left: The explorers continue to make a full circle tour of the tunnels, but they find no more evidence of the Mole People. They decide to return to the surface.

Right: Agent S is the last to emerge from the Mole People's domain. He is happy be alive.

