

MR. AND MRS. JOSEPH TRAINOR
JUNE BRIDE AND GROOM

The marriage was solemnized recently at the Church of the Most Holy Redeemer, of Mary Marjorie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Curley, Charlotteville, and Joseph Eugene Trainor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Trainor of Emerald, P. E. I. A reception followed at the Basilica Recreation Centre, where the newlyweds left for a honeymoon in Cape Cod and the White Mountains. The young couple are now residing at 42 Victory Avenue, Charlotteville.

Fredericton N.B. Wedding Is Of Interest To Islanders

St. Dunstan's Church, Fredericton, was the setting for the recent wedding of Alice Claire Best, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Best, Charlotteville, P. E. I., and Constable John Ernest Dunn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Dunn, Trenton, N.S. The altar contained vases of white lilies. The ceremony was performed by Reverend Father McGrattan. Mary O'Brien was the organist and the soloist was Jack Saunders.

able Richard Dentinger and Constable David Holts. The bride's mother chose a beige lace dress with light brown chiffon bow, matching chignon hat, beige accessories and a corsage of orange delight roses. The groom's mother was gowned in a green, embroidered, linen dress worn under a matching green coat, white accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

The bride was attended by her sister, Gloria Best, Fredericton as maid of honour. The bridesmaids were Marilyn Spencer, Toronto, and Judy Sturdy, Fredericton, cousin of the bride. Little Lori Carpenter, Fredericton, was the flower girl.

Following the double-ring ceremony, a reception was held in the Ball Room of the Lord Beaverbrook Hotel. The bride's uncle, Mr. Roy MacKenzie proposed, a toast to the bride to which the groom responded. Constable Anthony Kozij proposed a toast to the bride's attendants. Linda Babbit circulated the guest book.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing a floor-length gown of white organza and swiss lace, featuring a scoop neckline. The sleeves were long ending in points over the hands. The straight sheath skirt was highlighted with three lace inserts and a full back. A detachable wattle train fell gracefully from the shoulders ending in a gentle sweep. Her headpiece was a Roseman crown of crystals and pearls attached to a bouffant French illusion veil. She carried an arm bouquet of crimson carnations with a red satin ribbon.

Later, Constable and Mrs. Dunn left for a honeymoon in the eastern states, Quebec and Ontario, the bride travelling in a lobster terebene suit worn with a navy picture hat and navy accessories. Her corsage was a white glabella.

The bride's attendants were gowned identically in floor-length, gold crepe dresses with straight skirts, bow-attached to floating panels in the back, and white lace overlay to Empire waist. They wore gold picture hats with white lace trim, white gloves and slippers, and carried bouquets of white and gold mums. The flower girl was in a slipper-length frock of white peau de soie on Empire lines with white lace overlay at waist. She wore a crown of baby mums and carried a basket of gold Fuji mums.

The groom was attended by Constable Anthony Kozij as best man. The ushers were Constable

South Queens District WI District Convention Is Held

The South Queens District Convention was held in Hampshire Hall recently with Mrs. Horace Willis presiding, and Mrs. Ralph McDonald as secretary.

frey of Marshfield. Other panelists included Mrs. Hazen Howard, Mrs. Harold Donahue of Cornwall, and Mrs. Clifford Chappell of York. Mrs. Donahue spoke on highway safety, stressing (1) the quickest way to obtain assistance in the event of an accident is to call the R.C.M.P. (2) Pedestrians should wear illuminated arm bands at night, and (3) the importance of following rules when driving on a highway.

The address of welcome was given by Mrs. Robert McCloskey of Hampshire WI and the reply was given by Annie Boyle of Clyde River. The minutes of the last annual meeting were read, and approved, and following roll call the reports of each institute's year's work were read by the secretaries. These showed that a great deal of individual effort had been made in order to accomplish so much for home and country.

Mrs. Howard spoke on home safety, stressing that many accidents happen in the home to the very young. Poor house keeping was the cause of many accidents, and carelessness in storing medicines, acids or household cleaners, is a special danger.

Letters of thanks were received from two pupils who had won scholarship awards in Grade 8 examinations in 1965.

Farm safety was discussed by Mrs. Chappell. Slow moving vehicles should have a "Slow-Moving" sign attached. Electric wiring should be checked often, and old wells should be filled. Safety practices should be taught in the schools by having the pupils draw safety posters. Bicycle rules should be enforced and the R.C.M.P. should visit the schools at different times to give instruction.

A very impressive memorial service was conducted by Mrs. Victor MacPhail in memory of members who had passed on since the last annual convention. Flowers were placed in their memory, and an appropriate hymn was sung by Mrs. Stewart Drake and her daughter Barbara.

Mrs. Godfrey summarized the discussion by giving advice on how to start a safety program, first by appointing an active committee to stress safety to children. No one is immune to accidents, she stated. A very informative talk was given by Anne Hamilton of the WI branch on the proper kind of material to purchase for different sizes. An invitation was extended from the Women's Institute office staff to visit them at their new location.

ELLEN'S DIARY

Sunshine And Showers Make Meadows Green

A day lightly overcast, this was. One to remind us that even in our lives and living, not every hour is sunny. That into them, it is true sooner or later, "some rain must fall, some days must be dark and dreary."

And farmers come by said, "This is a good summer, a remarkable one with its sunshine and showers." And James smiling, agreed he "never saw the crops in general look better this day of the year." And folks on holiday from another province looked off to the fields, where the cattle grazed, and the green of the grainlands spread away prettily and were pleased with what they saw. And the children this evening, the pair of lads not yet come to adult affairs, happy with the feel of a shower, lifted young faces toward the damp, laughing when heads and cheeks became wet.

A day to transplant last seedlings of annuals, this was. To fill those spaces in the border left bare in the wake of the early blossoming, so welcome and bright.

"We should" we planned, "setting down a snapdragon firmly, lift and divide and replant the iris by and by, and..."

"...be sure" Peter nodded, "to plant more crocuses when the time comes, because there is nothing prettier in the spring-time, now is there?"

Gentle the day was. Still, softly summer-blest, the air. "We should cut away those willow branches that reach out above the service wires one of these days," James commented surveying those overhead in the yard. "It wouldn't be too pleasant to have to climb up there in the middle of some silver thaw!"

He is the best one to prepare for such eventualities. "After all it's only good sense to be prepared," he will say. So all about us he removes hazards to safety, and altogether takes that "ounce of prevention" which in many a direction does often "save the pound of cure." This habit we think has become infectious, though we find we are more concerned, as is womankind, with the little things that harm. We watch out for the upturned nails and spikes that in boards invite disaster. We pick up the fragments of glass taken down when installing a new window-pane.

And may a time the sharp of broken bottles on a favorite beach or left to catch the bare-foot of summer-shod small one, who walks on this Queen's way. Will the thoughtless one who throws out the empty flask or other container from his car, one day, when at length he grows lame, lament over past actions? Or will he perhaps have to learn the hard way, by suffering a hurt himself from the like, or seeing a loved one thus harmed?

So we watch out, and pick up, and turn aside the small hazards: the axe or such fell tools of our trade. And advise that no hoop or tricycle or twine of playtime, be left to catch a wary steps in the dark, and so keep our Safety Week all the time.

"Oh, I know" Alex grinned today when an inquiring glance reminded him of a slip. "Hang up the scissors don't leave them lying about!"

"Well if we, when walking up the road-hill, had just had a way that stoned your bicycle struck, see what we mean!" we said.

A stillly day - this. And a night a little misty and damp, with-out star or moon. But listen! "Sunshine tomorrow" - the forecast how comes in.

Until tomorrow - - - Diary Good-night.

Rehabilitation Is Tougher For Female Offenders

CALGARY (CP) — When a woman is released from jail a "type of rebuilding process" is necessary before she can successfully join society, says Don Maers.

"Women often have a low opinion of themselves if they have been convicted of a criminal offence," says Mr. Maers, executive secretary of the John Howard Society here. "They feel others regard them as second-class."

Female offenders often locked themselves in a room and stayed there after their release from jail because they were not willing to meet people.

"In many cases family relationships have been severed. It is difficult for them to function without assistance so they often re-enter a life of criminal activity."

Such women are not accepted in the community as readily as former male prisoners, Mr. Maers says.

The John Howard Society tried to help former women prisoners as quickly as possible because "they find it difficult to survive."

BEACHES CLOSE BRIEFLY
CHICAGO (AP)—The threat of a seiche in Lake Michigan closed Chicago beaches and piers for several hours Monday. The water disturbance alternately lowered the lake level as much as six feet and then forced it three feet above normal. A seiche is a sudden rise of water along the shore line apparently caused by barometric pressure variations over the inland body.

TREES MIGHT SPRING UP
Planting trees on five per cent of the unused land in Latin America and Africa could produce 10 times Europe's lumber output.

Hazelbrook WI Meeting Held
The most recent meeting of Hazelbrook WI was held at home of the secretary, Mrs. Harry Fraser. In the absence of the president and vice-president Mrs. Carl Wood chaired the meeting. The treasurer reported on funds from the district convention.

Mrs. Charles Hyde, Cornwall WI, scholarship convener, reported that three prizes would be presented in the future to pupils of grade 8. Mrs. Victor MacPhail reported for the nominating committee. Nominations were as follows: president, Mrs. Mrs. Richard MacPhee, secretary, Mrs. Ralph McDonald.

North River WI extended an invitation to the district Women's Institutes to meet in North River in 1967.

A question box was conducted by Mrs. Lionel McNevin of St. Catherine's, which proved very interesting and entertaining. Resolutions were conducted by Mrs. Victor McNevin and Mrs. Lillian Beaton, Bonshaw.

The collection received at the meeting will go towards the shop.

A conclusion of the business meeting a turkey salad supper was served by the New Hampshire WI members.
