Lord Beaverbrook Celebrates His 75th Birthday

By RON EVANS
LONDON, (CP) — Lord Beaverbrook celebrated his 75th birthday Tuesday amid friendly editorial salutes—spiced with some sharp criticism—from two veterans of the newspaper craft.

Beaverbrook, the press lord who became a legend in his own lifetime, gave over the feature column in his Daily Express to a guest article by the News Chronicle's A. J. Cummings, dean of Fleet street writers.

Cummings calls the Canadian born publisher a "fascinating figure" but says some Beaverbrook editorial policies are "slapdash, irresponsible and one important sense... harmful to the nation."

Percy Cudlipp, in the News Chronicle, writes in the same vein of affection frosted over with criticism.

"One of the most pungent yet endearing, personalities of our times," says Cudlipp.

NEW BRUNSWICK - RAISED
Beaverbrook born in Maple, Ont., and raised in Newcastle, N. B., is controlling shareholder of the Express group of newspapers.

He presides over his publishing empire from a big black building in Fleet street. Newspaper men generally respect his papers as slick production jobs but some use phrases like "political baby - talk" to describe Beaverbrook editorials, which hammer endlessly on the theme of Commonwealth and Empire.

Thus Cummings and Cudlipp attack the Express group's empire-first capitalism but praise the financial genius, drive and firm principles of the clergyman's son who once was described as a cross between Puck and Napoleon.

Cudlipp writes: "He has done some stupid things with his papers. Before the war he preached isolationism. When the war was clearly imminent he preached that it wasn't. Today he is conducting a wildly irresponsible campaign against Indian premier Nehru."

Longshoremen At New York Voting Today
By ARTHUR EVERETT
NEW YORK, (AP)—The boiling, bubbling New York waterfront—largest and rowdiest in the world—chose one today between two bitterly rival unions that covet its 25,000 longshoremen. A previous election came to naught.

Results of the National Labor Relations Board vote probably will not be known before late tonight or early Thursday morning.

At stake is the 62-year waterfront reign of the old International Longshoremen's Association (I.L.A.), a once-sturdy union enfeebled by internal corruption and now bankrupt and orphaned. It was thrown into receivership Tuesday.

The I.L.A. is fighting for life against a new AFL union of the same name, born during a painful labor period after the I.L.A.'s ouster from the AFL eight months ago.

2,500 POLICE ON HAND
The polls open at 6 a.m. EDT and close at 7 p.m.

There will be 191 NLRB agents supervising the election to determine which union bargains for the waterfront.

Also on hand will be 2,500 New York City police on the alert for any of the skull cracking disorders that marked a similar election last Dec. 22-23.

Dick Haymes Case To Be Re-opened

WASHINGTON (AP) — Crooner Dick Haymes, Rita Hayworth's husband, Tuesday won suspension of a government deportation order.

The board of immigration appeals lifted the order and directed the immigration service to reopen Haymes' case for further hearings.

It acted on the basis of a charge by Welburn Maycock, Haymes' lawyer, that the 35-year-old singer was the victim of "entrapment" by immigration officials when he went to Hawaii last June to court Miss Hayworth.

Haymes, a native of Argentina, was ordered deported last March 23 on the ground that he re-entered the country illegally after the trip to Hawaii.

Says Rail Unions To Take Strike Vote
TORONTO, (CP)—The Toronto Telegram said Tuesday that a strike vote will be taken among 145,000 Canadian railway workers.

The newspaper says the decision to call a strike vote—with distribution of ballots set for early June—was taken late last week at a meeting of the master negotiating committee of 15 unions involved in a dispute with Canadian National Railways and Canadian Pacific Railway.

BACK STAGE—Some members of the Tignish Players in "The Light Eternal", opening play of the Drama Festival last evening at the Empire Theatre being made up by Florence Arsenault, Mrs. Barter's Film Lab.

TIGNISH GROUP PRESENTS FIRST PLAY IN PROVINCIAL DRAMA FESTIVAL

"I appreciate the kindness of the Drama Festival Association in inviting me to your attractive province for a week of dramatic criticism," said Professor Alvin J. Shaw of the University of New Brunswick in his opening remarks following the presentation of "The Light Eternal" by the Tignish Players in the Empire Theatre last night.

"If you want just flattery and praise, your friends will probably supply it, but it is well to remember that an adjudicator is looking at you with a very critical eye."

"It is only by healthy, constructive criticism that standards can be improved, and such criticism must be accepted and acted on to achieve the desired goal. I do not favour competition," Professor Shaw said. "I prefer a good play, reasonably well done, showing team work and sincerely presented."

Speaking particularly of the Tignish presentation he said "By no stretch of the imagination can the play be called great. It is sermon in dramatized form, showing faith and trust in God's mercy—the humor is only incidental."

"Action is limited and the plot develops slowly and with the exception of Maggie O'Brien, played by Mrs. Trainor and Mrs. Conway, played by Mrs. Gallant, there was very little chance to develop a part. We leave them as we find them, factors in the theme of God's love and forgiveness."

Professor Shaw said that the play was over simplified, lacked punch but was treated by the cast just as the scrip was presented to them. It is basically a one-act play with the dialogue a little stilted. I feel that it was a play worth doing, he said in concluding his criticism of the story.

In speaking of the cast, Mr. Shaw said, there was a great deal of sincerity by the people and he liked the performance of Michael (Joseph Walsh) very much. "There was very much punch in his laugh lines and his shading was good."

"Mrs. Mary Conway, (Mrs. Gallant) gave a very enjoyable performance and held her audience when on stage with a fine piece of acting," he said of Father Nolan (Valmore Arsenault) he said, "This performance had a good base and I would like to have seen his inner compassion played up as he has rare good diction."

Professor Shaw believed that the attempt at Irish dialect should be avoided except when there is a natural brogue. He also regretted the absence of pronounced gestures, pointing out that superficial motions do not carry far out from the foot-lights. He also stressed the need of speaking up at all times, so that the entire audience may understand and follow each speech and incident without strain. He was pleased with the sound effects but mentioned how they might be effectively added to.
