Atmosphere Relaxed In Visit To West Coast

By JIM PEACOCK Canadian Press Staff Writer VANCOUVER (CP) — Smoke-belching anvils, maypole dancers and thrones of people in every imaginable attire greeted Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip on the West Coast Wednesday as they began a heavy program of formal activity. The official stops were formal throughout the 12-hour schedule, but on the streets, where more than 200,000 persons lined routes through New Westminster, Surrey, Richmond and Vancouver, a relaxed atmosphere persisted. Clothing ranged from shorts and haltered women to turbaned Sikhs, from business suits and cocktail dresses to tennis shorts and nursing uniforms.

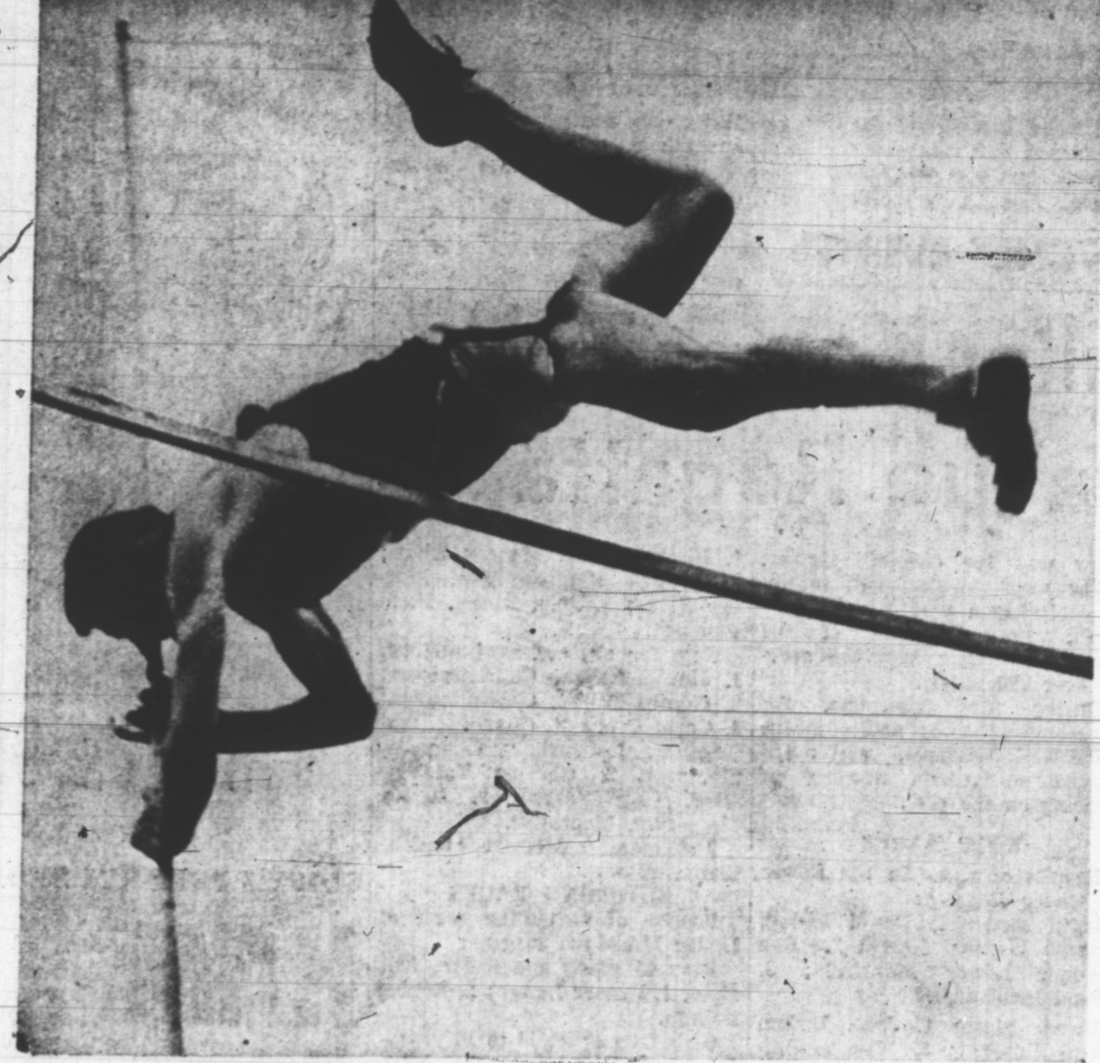

Young Summerside Man Sets New Maritime Record

Berlin Idea Is Rejected

By HERB ALTSCHULL GENEVA (AP) — The West said "no" Wednesday to the Soviet plan for a joint commission of East and West Germans as part of a stopgap Berlin agreement. Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko responded that it was not possible to reach an accord of any other basis. So it looked like a clear impasse in round two of the foreign ministers conference after only two formal sessions. But Gromyko and Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd of Britain were reported by Western sources to have made progress in a side effort to restore secret negotiations. Gromyko has invited Lloyd to a luncheon today to discuss further secret meetings.

FATAL INJURY SEEN EARLIER

BROCKVILLE, Ont. (CP) — Police revealed Wednesday that a woman whose son was injured in a two-car death accident last Friday had described the accident to them three days earlier. Mrs. Madeleine Andress, 45, called police Tuesday, July 7 after awakening from a dream in which she saw her son Gary, 20, injured in a crash near the Thousand Islands International bridge. Mrs. Andress, a patient in hospital here, was assured that no such accident had been reported. Friday night Gary's hardtop convertible slammed into the rear of a road paving machine parked on an unopened section of Highway 401. Two companions were killed and he was seriously injured. The crash scene was exactly where Mrs. Andress had dreamed it — a half-mile west of the Thousand Islands bridge.

SUMMERSIDE'S RECORD SMASHER IN ACTION

Alf Groom Is Winner

SUMMERSIDE BUREAU OF THE GUARDIAN A brilliant young Summerside athlete, Alfred Groom, broke the Maritime open record in the pole vault at the Highland Games at Antigonish. The 21-year old Groom cleared the bar at 13 feet, 4 inches to better the existing mark made by an American athlete some years ago. Vaughan held the former Highland games record of 12 feet, 8 1/2 inches which he made in 1957. The young Summerside man hopes to fly to the Pan American games in Saskatoon Saturday. It was learned last night. A son of Mr. and Mrs. Vaughan Groom, with whom he is employed in operating the Garden of the Gulf motel, Alfred graduated from Rothesay Collegiate in 1955. He got the idea of pole vaulting from his father who was himself an athlete, and it was R. O. Moran, track coach at Rothesay, who gave him his first tutoring. While at Rothesay he won the senior aggregate trophy given to the best all-around athlete on the campus. Alfred participated in football and hockey as well as in track and field. In more recent years Alfred had the benefit of top coaching efforts from Doug Raymond at Boston University and Frank Savine at Nebraska university which he attended last year. Groom tried for a new Canadian mark at Antigonish yesterday but just failed in his try at 18 feet, nine inches. To make his achievement all the more remarkable, the Summerside athlete was jumping with a fibre-glass pole he borrowed from Gordon 'Vits' MacDonnell of Antigonish, a fellow competitor. Groom's pole was broken recently and a new one, ordered from California, did not arrive in time for the Antigonish meet. He jumped 13 feet six inches in the Centennial meet at Victoria, B.C., in June 1958 and placed second. He also was second in the Olympic tryouts at Toronto.

CROSS-FIRE OF SPIRITED DEBATE

Contentious Newfoundland Act Gets Stormy Passage In House

OTTAWA (CP) — The government's contentious Newfoundland Grants Act ending special fiscal assistance in 1962 and providing a special review of problems thereafter — finally cleared the Commons Wednesday in a lingering cross-fire of spirited debate. The bill, blasted by Liberal Premier Smallwood of Newfoundland as a "betrayal" of the 1949 terms of union with Canada, was present siding with the Liberals. The bill now goes to the Senate after receiving the last two readings in the final day of the three-day Commons debate, an unusual occurrence prompted by the drive to finish House business Saturday. WILD STATEMENTS "We have heard... wild statements, frenzied statements, irresponsible statements in this House about a breach of faith, a breach of trust, betrayal," said Finance Minister Fleming in replying to the main Liberal criticism that the 1962 cutoff date for special Confederation grants was a repudiation of federal obligations. No one drafting the terms of union had ever contemplated that these special payments would be paid in perpetuity, he said. "The violence of the minister's language does not conceal the hollowness of his argument," retorted Opposition Leader Pearson. The bill itself provides payment of the $36,500,000 plus special consideration thereafter for Newfoundland fiscal problems.
