Father Huntington.
We clip the following from the New York correspondent of the Detroit Free Press:—
Fr. Huntington, the Episcopal clergyman who presides over a mission church, that I called the Church of the Holy Cross, on Avenue A, in the vildest part of New York, has declared his intention to go summing with his poor among the rich. Last Summer I spoke of the noble work done by this young man, who is no kid-gloved, dainty dilettante playing at mission work one day and gracing a dinner or reception the next, but who has gone down to live among the poor, making himself one of them. I intend no aspersion on the social relaxations which the clergy whose lives are cast in pleasanter places permit themselves in dining with their parishioners, or taking part in their social life they are only doing exactly what Fr. Huntington does. They try to get close to their flocks and to know them well; only the circumstances and environments vary so must the means vary. Called to work among the lowest and most vicious class in New York, perhaps, in order to gain influence with them Fr. Huntington found it necessary to live with the people. Assailed by all kinds of abuse and profanity and occasional missiles at first, this slender boyish-faced son of the celebrated Dr. Huntington, of Grace Church, has become a tremendous clearing agent in this apparently irredeemable slum of filthy vice festering in the heart of the city, and through many of the results of his untiring labors and loving work are observable now, at the great day we shall know even more of the wonders he has wrought among the sin-sick, reckless, wretched denizens of Avenue A. I do not think there is a clergyman of any denomination in New York but what has a sincere admiration for Fr. Huntington and his work, whatever his views on the monastic life and the rites and ceremonies he adopts.
"Fr. Huntington might wear a green silk gown if he fancied it, said one warm admirer of his, a clergyman of a different denomination. "It would not affect my admiration of him. Such a life would make me forgive and forget all the capes and cassocks in Christendom."
Just what this apostle of the poor means by his promise to take the poor stammering among the rich we shall probably learn later. There is something startling and titillating about the idea. Everyone knows how many parties have been made up to go "slumming" in the worst quarters of the city. The idea of a complimentary return visit from the occupants of the tenement houses and Chinese districts is rather delicious. Imagine an Astor ball invaded by a band of those ragged starvelings with someone to point out to them the depravity of decollete gowns and indulgence in champagne. Imagine a men's dinner party at Delmonico's, where some of our social knights have been over-indulging in wine, suddenly started by a "slumming" contingent from Avenue A, bent on seeing the vices of the rich at their worst, and accompanied by an ascetic young priest with pallid, gentle face. John Lawlor the court of Mary Stuart would be nothing to it for making the frivolous uncomfortable. Well, we are not likely to hear of quite so startling a thing, for Fr. Huntington is not a sensationist, but we are interested to know just how he will go "slumming" among the rich with his poor.
Supreme Court.
The court met Monday forenoon, according to adjournment.
Jas. D. Taylor and ano. vs. W. E. Dawson and others.—Action of damages for illegal seizure of goods under bill of sale. Trial by jury. Verdict for plaintiff entered for plaintiffs for $245. Rules nisi were granted to both parties same term. That to the plaintiff called upon the defendant to show cause why the verdict should not be increased by certain sums therein mentioned; and that to the defendant called upon the plaintiff to show cause why the verdict should not be entered for the defendant or a new trial granted. These rules were fully argued last term, when the court took time.
Yesterday the court delivered judgment ordering that the verdict as entered for plaintiffs for $245 do stand; and that both rules be discharged with costs.
Davies & Hazard for plaintiffs; Peters and Peters for defendants.
Geo. Forbes vs. Fenton T. Newbery, an absent debtor. Mr. W. S. Stewart for plaintiff moved that the Bank of Nova Scotia be declared an agent or trustee of the defendant for the amount of plaintiff's claim, viz. $1900; or that the Bank be declared in contempt for disobeying the summons to appear before the Court served upon the agent in Charlottetown. Court took time to consider.
Court adjourned sine die.
Woman Suffrage and the Right of Suffrage.
From Harpers Weekly.
The argument that voting is a natural right, however, is a dangerous basis of the claim of suffrage, because, if the community may restrict the right at all in the interest of the community, it may restrict the right to the degree which it thinks necessary to secure that interest. A law providing for equal suffrage will be passed whenever the present electorate is convinced that such a law is desirable for the common welfare. The common remark that women will vote whenever they prove that they wish to vote is foolish, because that can never be done. They will vote whenever men think that the common interest will be promoted by their voting. It cannot be assumed that a majority of the late Legislature, however courteous to women, were of that opinion.

In Memoriam.
James William Williams, Lord Bishop of Quebec, died April 20th, 1892, aged 67 years.
To those found faithful, oft the call to rest Comes in the glory of the later noon, Ere evening falls and with declining day The mind has darkened and work lost its zest. So now, though first our sad hearts cried "too soon," We see God's angel did in heavenly way His finished work and Master's love attest. And now he wins, withdrawn from human eye, A good man's two fold immortality. To live forever near the Master's throne, And here in lives made better by his own.
FREDERICK GEORGE SCOTT

The Constitutional Question.
(St. John Sun.)
The legislatures of the provinces of Canada have power to amend the constitution of the provinces. By virtue of that power, the legislature has made certain changes. But the Legislative Council and the House of Assembly of this year cannot limit the power of the Legislature of next year or the year after, to make further changes. As the present Legislature of Prince Edward Island has no power to repeal the British North America Act, the Legislature any time in the future may further amend the constitution in the way the British North America Act provides. A majority vote will do it next year, or five years hence, as easily as it did this year. We doubt very much if the assent of Lieut. Governor Carvell, followed by that of the Governor-General, would in the end prevent a majority of the Prince Edward Island House from abolishing party franchise. A measure passed by a majority vote in the Legislature repealing the act of this year, or so much of it as was necessary, would probably receive assent in due course and the thing would be done.
(Halifax Herald.)
It appears that this preamble and the provision respecting a subsequent repeal of the act in whole or in part were added to the bill after it passed the assembly, as the only condition which the legislative council would agree to their own abolition. But if the bill had received the lieutenant-governor's assent, it is extremely doubtful if it would have had the legal effect of restricting the power of a majority of any succeeding legislature to amend or repeal its provisions. If so, it would be quite competent for the parliament in one legislature to enact that its measures should be unalterable like those of the Medes and Persians. This attempt to bind a succeeding legislature was utterly ridiculous; and if the lieutenant-governor had any doubt as to its effect, he acted wisely in reverting his assent.
It is competent for the Imperial parliament alone to impose such restrictions upon the legislative freedom of any provincial legislature; and this is only one of many ridiculous acts which go to show that the grit governments of the provinces are all alike sorely afflicted with what is familiarly known as "swelled head."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.
Is This True?
SIR,—My attention was to day drawn to an item in a recent issue of one of our dailies, stating that the Methodist Church had been given to the Salvation Army for next Sunday and Monday evenings.
If the Trustees think the majority of the pew-holders (who sustain this handsome building) are in sympathy with this act they are very much mistaken.
I for one (and I speak for many) do not wish to contribute the loan of my pew to such a pack of adventurers; and if the Church should be placed to such a disgrace, I hope the Trustees will have well house-cleaned and fumigated afterwards.
PEW-HOLDER.
P. S.—Do you think I could get the Church for Uncle Tom's Cabin?

Literary Notes.
A very neat pocket schedule of the National League Baseball games for 1892 has been issued by the proprietors of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment as one of their "Pleasure Series." The schedule is arranged after the plan of the New England League schedule, published last year by the same firm, for which they own the copyright. It shows at a glance where each game for any day of the season is to be played. The price of this schedule is ten cents, and ought to be obtainable of any news dealer. If not, by courtesy of the publishers, I. S. Johnson & Co., 22 Custom House St., Boston, Mass., the reader of this paper can obtain a copy by enclosing five cents in stamps with their address in an envelope, directed to Johnson's Anodyne Liniment, Boston, Mass. Everybody will want one for daily reference.
DIED.
At Argyle Shore, of diphtheria, on the 19th and 20th February, Ethel Blanche and Effie Margaret, aged 9 and 13 years respectively, dearly beloved children of Catherine and Angus Macdougall.
At Somerville, Mass., on the 28th day of April, ult., John Costello, in the 77th year of his age.
The deceased was a resident of Clyde River, in this Island, for many years previously to his moving to Charlottetown, where he resided with his family until they left for Boston a few years ago. The deceased was an honest, upright man, and an influential member of the community. By industry and prudence he provided ample means for the comfort of old age. He was indeed a true friend, a kind husband and a loving father. To his aged widow (now in her 75th year) and family we extend our deep sympathy in their sad bereavement.

Physicians and Nervines BOTH FAILED! NERVOUS PROSTRATION 61 Years' Standing CURED BY SKODA'S!
GENTS—Your President, Dr. G. C. Killip, will recall the fact that last June when in the City Drug Store in your City, I told him that on account of extreme nervousness I had been unable to attend to business for several years, and resting from all labor—mental and physical. I was trusting in Nature as a last resort, as Physicians and Nervines had utterly failed in my case. At that time I was troubled with Nervousness so badly that I could not sleep an hour some nights. I would have a crawling or creeping sensation in my limbs, that was more unendurable than any pain. My brain was in a state of confusion. If I tried to think upon any subject for ten minutes, I felt as if I were being scolded. Dr. Killip gave me six bottles of SKODA'S DISCOVERY, and three boxes of LITTLE TABLETS, telling me they would greatly help me and he thought would cure me.
I took the medicine according to directions and have seen no symptoms of Nervousness since. I sleep well. Nerves are strong. Eat heartily, and am well. I have told scores what SKODA'S DISCOVERY has done for me. Respyr yours, I. M. HARMON, Portland, Me.
