LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

NEW LONDON AND RUSTICO RAILWAY EXTENSION.

SIR,—Having some time ago directed the attention of the New London and Rustico electors to the resolutions passed in re railway extension at Clifton, I now ask you to publish the same for the information of said electors:

Whereas, In January, 1885, an attempt was made by the people of New London to obtain a survey and estimates for the extension of the Cape Traverse branch railway to Stanley Bridge as a central deep water terminus and commercial centre for New London; and,

Whereas, At a public meeting held at Stanley Hall in said year it was unanimously agreed and resolved that the said extension was a question of vital importance to the agricultural, commercial and fishing interests of this community; and,

Whereas, A petition was then forwarded to the Minister of Railways through our representative Dr. Jenkins, setting forth in clear terms our demands and requirements in this respect; and

Whereas, The project of tunnelling the Straits of Northumberland is a duty incumbent upon the Dominion Government as the only feasible solution of a contract made by the said Dominion of the one part, and Prince Edward Island of the other part; and

Whereas, The matter of cost should be no barrier to the literal fulfilment of the solemn covenant then made—the project stands solemnly before us as an unfulfilled contract on the part of the Dominion and must not be regarded in any way to interfere with the other duties devolving upon the Government, and in view of the great trade to be developed by the building of the tunnel, the said branch railway should be extended to Stanley Bridge and Rustico at an early date; and,

Whereas, The North Side Harbors of New London and Rustico have to be maintained as a charge upon the Dominion Government, which will require at least one hundred thousand dollars to build anything like an approximation to first-class harbors, and the large yearly expenditure which will be required in this respect will, to a very great extent, be obviated by the extension of the Cape Traverse branch to the aforesaid ports, thus opening up the fisheries of the Gulf as the agricultural and commercial trade of these much neglected sections of the Province; and,

Whereas, We are deprived of steam communication summer and winter, we earnestly require that our candidates do pledge themselves to carry forward this project of railway extension at any early day.

Therefore Resolved, That in the opinion of this meeting the Government should extend the railway to Stanley Bridge and Rustico at an early date, and we desire our representatives to push the matter with vigor and energy.

Resolved (2), That we will positively refuse our support to any candidate who will oppose railway extension and desire our representatives to support the Government in carrying it forward.

It cannot be said this this is a visionary or election dodge with the people of New London, Hope River and Cavendish. But it can be said with great truth that Mr. Davies and Mr. Walsh neglected their interests and failed in doing what was solemnly entrusted to their care as the chosen representatives of the people. Now, the signs of the times do not indicate that the new policy of the Liberals is any more likely to be successful than the policy of that party was in the past. And it is rather barefaced to ask the electors of this riding to exchange their chances for railway extension for the honor of having Mr. Davies in Parliament—a man who has not attained to the eminence of Mr. Laird, either as a debater or a parmentarian. What has Mr. Davies done for his constituency that he should be idolized by his party that they should now support him against their own interests and the interests of the people generally.

With a Conservative Government in power at Ottawa—if the people elect Mr. Davies for West Queen's, it will be construed directly as an argument that we do not want public improvements—that a man who has decried the credit of our Province and its influence more than any other—could not reasonably expect to influence the Government that he was declaiming so furiously against. However great an honor it may be for Mr. Davies and Mr. Walsh to be returned to Parliament—it would be a greater honor for New London, Rustico and Belfast to have the railroad extended for their accommodation, and I mistake the public spirit and influence of these localities unless they will show now, by their choice, that their influence will go in that direction. A maximum of revenue from a minimum of taxation is a theme which Mr. Davies nor his leader has not demonstrated yet. The average citizen reasons from few premises and is affected by simple catch words. The outcry against trusts and monopolies are catch words which the Maritime so-called leader cannot prove as the normal working of protective duties; but taking advantage of the unrest which seizes the minds of some of the Liberals on account of being out in the cold or in opposition so long, he deals in catch phrases. It needs no great acquaintance with economic history, and no great skill in general reasoning, to show that the tendency to combination has deeper causes than protective legislation, and presents problems more difficult and more important than those involved in the tariff controversy. The people who are bent upon seeing public improvements extended should renew their exertions, and show Messrs. Davies and Welsh that they are able to think for themselves and exercise the reasoning faculties with which God has endowed them.

R. MACNEILL.
Stanley Bridge, Feb. 26, 1895.

The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

CRAPAUD WEST NOTES.

O. B. Wadman, Esq. proprietor of the "Farmer's Grocery" has obtained not only a widespread reputation as an auctioneer, but has gained for himself a praiseworthy name on account of the prominent part he has taken in furthering educational interests in the Crapaud West School district. It is rumored that Mr. Wadman and others will give the public the pleasure of another entertainment in the near future equal to any that have thus far taken place.

The Crapaud Creamery under the management of Messrs. Moore & Head is still running in full blast even at this unfavourable season. Messrs. Moore & Head are men who thoroughly understand their business and have proved themselves worthy the confidence of the people.

We regret to learn that Miss Nellie Nicholson, student in the senior branches has not been able to study for some time on account of having contracted a bad cold.

Another lecture from Dr. Covey, M. A., would be greatly relished by the people in this section. His last lecture given at Tryon was quite an intellectual treat, and was abreast of the ideas expressed by the leading educationalists of the day.

Dr. Robertson is indeed to the front in his profession, and on account of his successfulness he has obtained a practice unsurpassed by any.

Political affairs are becoming the leading topics of conversation in this place. The Liberal-Conservative policy is quite easily upheld, and will be, without doubt, supported by a large majority at the next election.

THE DAILY EXAMINER is a welcome visitor here, and does not contain, like some papers, an entire dose of politics, but is at all times replete with ideas indispensable to the welfare and prosperity of any place.

AGRICULTURE IN BRITAIN.

In referring to the resumption of its sittings by the Royal commission appointed to enquire into the agricultural depression prevailing in Great Britain, the London Times remarks that profound changes have taken place in the condition of agriculture in the United Kingdom since the last Royal commission was appointed fifteen years ago. In 1856 there were 4,213,851 acres under cultivation with wheat in Great Britain, and the average price per quarter was 59 shillings, but since that period the area devoted to this crop has steadily been reduced. In 1879 it was 3,056,400 acres; and last year only 1,912,743 acres were devoted to the growing of wheat, while the price has fallen to 21 shillings per quarter. These figures reflect the desperate condition of agriculture in Great Britain under an operation of a policy of free imports, and they show how futile was Mr. Cobden's prophesy that the British farmers had nothing to fear from the remission on the duty on wheat because, as he thought, they would always be protected by the cost of freight of the foreign product, which he estimated at 10 shillings a quarter, but which has actually declined to less than a shilling a quarter. Taking the whole agricultural land of Great Britain the following changes are found to have occurred during the last fifteen years:

	1893-4. Acres.	1879-80. Acres.
Corn crops	7,755,356	8,930,468
Green crops	3,293,837	3,515,485
Grass land	16,478,818	14,196,841

In the fifteen years the area devoted to grain has decreased 1,175,112 acres, that devoted to roots and green crops has decreased 221,648 acres, while the area of permanent grass land has increased 2,181,977 acres. As the Times remarks, the most striking figures are those which record an increase of upwards of two million acres in the area of permanent grass land (permanent pasture, or grass not broken up in rotation.) More than half of the entire cultivated area of Great Britain is now occupied by permanent pasture, though there are the strongest grounds for the suggestion that much of land—particularly in parts of England—which has been described as "out of cultivation" really lies hidden amongst the 16½ million acres denoted as permanent pasture. Whatever free trade may have done for other industrial pursuits in Great Britain, it assuredly has ruined the agricultural interest.
