

Nursing Assistant Testifies At Capital Murder Trial

LUNenburg, N.S. (CP) — A nursing assistant testified Friday at the capital murder trial of James F. Fleming, 23-year-old finance company executive, that he told her he went out after supper on the night his wife and two children were slain and returned to find the door locked.

Mary Lou Bolivar, who said she talked to Fleming that night at Dawson Memorial Hospital, told the court "he said he tried twice to break the door down to get in."

Mrs. Bolivar said he told her he went to his nearby Hebbville home from work and had supper with his 21-year-old wife, Ann. "He said she wanted him to go for milk."

Fleming told Mrs. Bolivar he went out and also stopped at his office in Bridgewater. He said when he returned home he found the doors were locked.

Fleming is charged with capital murder in the deaths of his wife and two daughters—both under five years of age. All three died March 2, 1965.

Fleming was convicted last October and sentenced to hang but was granted a re-trial by the Nova Scotia Supreme Court on grounds that the jury had not been properly instructed by the trial judge.

When Fleming asked whether any attempts were made to associate anyone other than Fleming with the crime, he replied that inquiries were made in all directions. He said he had been in charge of the investigation.

FOUND RIFLE

He was asked if he knew of any strange persons seen walking along the Hebbville Road the night of the crime. He said he did not know.

Ross Slaunwhite told of finding the barrel of a rifle where he was cutting bushes for the highway department along the road to Bridgewater, April 23, 1965. He said he went to the nearest phone and called the RCMP.

Roy Whynol, an oil burner service man, testified that he inspected the furnace in the Fleming home March 7, 1965. He said that from the outside it appeared to be in "first class shape."

He got the furnace going by laying a new piece of copper tubing to the oil supply and breaching the thermostat relay. "The thermostat wasn't working. The heat had cut it off completely," he said.

Dale McElwain, formerly a surologist with the crime detection laboratory at Sackville, N.B., testified that he found blood on a rifle stock he examined but there was an insufficient quantity for regrouping and he was unable to say whether it was human or animal blood.

Elmer Murphy, Summerside; and the MacNeills, a C.F.M. couple from Antigonish.

Out-of-province delegates will attend Mass at 11 a.m. at St. Dunstan's, and there will be a Mass at 5 p.m. for Island delegates, followed by supper in the St. Dunstan's dining hall. Business sessions will be conducted in Kelley Memorial Library.

The Christian Family Movement is concerned primarily with the Christian formation of husbands and wives. The movement started in Chicago some 20 years ago and has spread through North and South America, and into some European countries. It was introduced in Prince Edward Island 10 years ago and is well established in 12 parishes in the Charlottetown Diocese.

C.F.M. Conference Opens Here Sunday

Statement Fleming made to police in hospital after the fire at his home were ruled admissible Friday by Mr. Justice T.H. Coffin, but have not yet been read to the jury.

Most of Friday's session was taken up with identification of crown exhibits including a blood stained rifle butt found in the basement of the Fleming home and a rifle barrel found a month later at the side of the road to Bridgewater.

RCMP Constable Robert Stephens identified a stained pillow case taken from the Fleming house and chips of wood he found on the bed in the master bedroom.

He also identified samples of what he believed to be blood, which he took from the doorstep.

Beef Cattle Price Scene Said Good

NORTH BATTLEFORD, Sask. (CP) — There are indications that beef cattle prices may drop this summer but the long-term outlook for the beef market is bright, federal agriculture Minister Greene said Friday night.

When all factors are considered, "it seems evident that we are rapidly approaching the point where it will be virtually impossible to over-produce beef," he said.

Speaking to the annual meeting of the Saskatchewan Stock Growers Association, Mr. Greene said conditions in the United States, remain the key to future cattle prices in Canada.

"With our fathers, we still would agree that no matter how much authority is given to a single individual for the effective administration of the church, he must never assume himself to be vicar or sole confidant of Christ."

Speaking to the committee report, Dr. J. W. L. MacLean of Victoria, agreed that the church should continue to recognize the Westminster Confession as a doctrine of inspiration.

The group voted to hold its 1967 assembly at Knox Church, Ottawa.

Rev. A. Donald MacLeod, a United States citizen, opposed a resolution calling for U.S. withdrawal from the war in Vietnam.

Mr. MacLeod, now a minister in New Glasgow, N.S., said a petition submitted by the church's international affairs committee to the Canadian Council of Churches and the federal government in 1965 was "implicitly critical of the U.S."

"As a church our responsibility is not to dictate political or diplomatic policy to the government. Our first responsibility is to seek a peace in South Vietnam which would guarantee freedom to the church in that country."

The debate was cut when time ran out. It will be resumed before the assembly ends.

J.C. Curtis To Conduct Programs

John C. Curtis, son of Mr. and Mrs. F.W. Curtis, Charlottetown, is among four Canadian university students who will conduct summer programs under the auspices of the Middle East YMCA Leadership Training Centre, with service to refugees in Jordan, Lebanon, and the Gaza Strip.

John left yesterday for Toronto, thence to Trenton leaving on the fifth of June for France; then Italy, Cyprus and Lebanon.

John, a 24-year-old second year medical student at Dalhousie University, who previously received his BS, at the same university, had spent three years in H-Y in Charlottetown. His past experiences in the Halifax YMCA include one year as a Gra-Y leader, a year on fellowship, a week as youth secretary and full charge of the department, two years as H-Y adviser. He has worked as a cabin councillor at the Shelburne School for Boys, and has been active in sports while at school.

Union President Issues Statement

Yesterday morning Allan MacLeod, President of Local Union 501 of the Canadian Union of Public Employees, issued the following statement to the press:

"The report in this morning's Guardian of City Council or Ivan Doherty's sweeping condemnation of organized labor, is beyond doubt, one of the most arrogant suggestions of a complete and unmodified attitude of scornful contempt for the whole labor union movement that he could have voiced. If it does not surpass, then it at least appears to equal the harshest and most unfounded criticisms that unionists' bitterest and most thoughtless critics has ever levelled at it. It is almost unbelievable that an elected representative of the citizens, by whose judgment and prudence the welfare of the working man can be so significantly affected, could display such bitter animosity towards organized labor."

Holy Scripture Reiterated As Faith Practice Standard

TORONTO, (CP) — The general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada has reaffirmed its belief that the standard of faith and practice must always be the Holy Scripture.

In his report to the assembly, Friday, Scarth MacDonnell, chairman of the articles of faith committee, said "recent popes have demonstrated a changed attitude from that of their predecessors."

He noted that "effective control" of the Roman Catholic Church has widened in the last few years.

"With our fathers, we still would agree that no matter how much authority is given to a single individual for the effective administration of the church, he must never assume himself to be vicar or sole confidant of Christ."

Speaking to the committee report, Dr. J. W. L. MacLean of Victoria, agreed that the church should continue to recognize the Westminster Confession as a doctrine of inspiration.

Learn English, Moderator Says

SACKVILLE, N.B. (CP) — The moderator of the United Church of Canada suggested Friday that Quebecers should follow the people of the Orient in developing a command of the English language.

Dr. Ernest Marshall Howe told the Maritime conference of the United Church here that education is the most important thing in the Orient today and English seems to be said "children surround you by its symbol."

"Everywhere you go," he called "hello, hello, hello." Often, especially in Japan, someone would ask politely, "I speak to you, I would like to practise my English." "They should try this in Quebec."

Dr. Howe, who could not be reached for elaboration on his statement, said one young man in Japan had really been around and learned his English. He greeted the United Church moderator as he stepped from a taxi on an official visit by calling out, "Hello, ok, goddam."

N.S. Development Will Be Studied

OTTAWA (CP) — The forestry department announced Friday approval of a $16,000 grant under the Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development Act (ARDA) to study potential development of four rural industries in Nova Scotia.

The money will go toward studying means of producing and processing milk, pest moss, cranberries and blueberries.

"SHERINGHAM, England (CP) — Norfolk county council granted a petition from Miss R. G. Wentworth to change her house number to 11A. She said the old number, 13, depreciated its sale value.

Gold, Dollar Holdings Up

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's official holdings of gold and U.S. dollars at the end of May were $2,412,200,000 — down from $2,469,100,000 April 30, the financial department announced Friday.

Gold and U.S. dollars are officially held by the exchange fund, the finance minister and the Bank of Canada.

The department said a $47,500,000 gold payment was made in May to the International Monetary Fund. Canada's May 31 net creditor position in the IMF regarded as equivalent to exchange reserves was $263,800,000 up from $254,800,000 at the end of April.

The department also announced it converted another $50,000,000 worth of gold in the exchange fund account into U.S. dollars this month. It had done this also in January and February.
