St. Veronica's Guild helps nursing cause

Founded in 1939, the St. Veronica's Guild is an organization of all Catholic nurses and licensed nursing assistants residing in P.E.I. It forms a component part of the Atlantic Council of Catholic Nurses, the Catholic Nurses Association of Canada and the International Council of Catholic Nurses.

The object of the Guild is to study, develop and advance the standards of the Catholic nursing profession and to bring together Catholic nurses for the purpose of carrying out a program of Catholic action.

In the past the Guild has done such needy work as sewing and knitting for refugee children and for the hospital, and donating money to many charitable organizations.

Present membership is 96; 20 religious sisters, 65 registered nurses and 11 licensed nursing assistants; 85 of these are enrolled in the CNAC and ACCN.

During the past year the Guild did a study project "The Catholic Nurse—Her Role in Society."

In May, Nurses Rededication Day was commemorated with a holy hour given by Rev. Walter Reid followed by a social hour in the nurses residence.

Also in May, St. Veronica's Guild was host to the convention of the Atlantic Council of Catholic Nurses, the theme of the convention being "Nursing in a Scientific Age". Approximately 150 members from the four Atlantic provinces attended this convention.

A number of books were donated to the library at Riverside Hospital by the members, who also visited and helped provide entertainment for the patients.

On Dec. 6th, 1964, the 25th anniversary of the founding of the Guild was celebrated with a Mass in the hospital chapel offered by Rev. Walter Reid followed by a social evening and buffet luncheon in the lounge of the Nurses Residence.

Mrs. Edward McGuigan is beginning her second year as president of the Guild.
