

Worse than Dynamite

Hardly a month passes but we read of terrible explosions, and loss of life from natural gas. One writer has raked up Chinese history, wherein it appears, that away back in the time when the famous Chinese wall was building, before the use of gas wells was discovered, a terrible explosion took place. The big wells in some way got the start of the little ones, so that enormous volumes of air was sucked down into those subterranean magazines. When the air reached certain proportions, the whole thing went off like a leaky gasoline stove. The result was horrible in the destruction of lives. The same writer predicts similar conditions underlying the great natural gas belt of this country, from Toledo, through Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky, whereby that whole vast region might be ripped up to the depth of 1500 feet, leaving a chasm for the waters of the great lakes to pour down into blotting out every living human being in this now densely populated valley from the face of the earth. That writer might easily have shown further, that throughout our whole country not only in densely populated regions and cities, but in country and village houses as well, natural gases far more dangerous than is found in the lake regions, are carrying off not only "pig-tail" Chinamen, but our own families and friends, during the hot waves of July and August. Scores of people are dying daily from typhoid fever, diarrhoea, dysentery, cholera, and infant summer complaints; all caused by poisonous gases and ferments, far worse than hydrogen gas or dynamite in their explosion. Fortunately this latter danger can all be averted, by the use of a simple and fashioned remedy, Johnson's Anodyne Liniment, used internally, as explained in a pamphlet sent free to anyone, by I. S. Johnson & Co., Boston, Mass. No matter if you have used this remedy before, it will pay you to get a bottle and read the directions, or send for the pamphlet just to learn how to use it economically. a2 d6i wll
