Dry Weather Aids Potato Harvesting

Aided by the bright dry weather during the last two weeks, Island potato producers have almost completed the harvesting of the crop with very few fields remaining to be picked. W. P. MacLeod of the Dominion Fruit and Vegetable Inspection Service, reported yesterday. Several factors have combined to make this year's crop a good one, he said. Due to the production being nearer to consumer demand, the grower is receiving more money for a smaller crop and has more time to exercise care in the digging. Field inspectors report the amount of mechanical damage to be small in the potatoes graded to date, reducing the danger of fusarium rot developing in the period of storage prior to shipping. Apart from the extra care, the moisture in the ground at digging time provided a cushion of soil to protect the potatoes, and the ensuing dry weather made it possible for the growers to comply with the suggestions of the Department to leave the crop on the ground for a ten day period to dry out thoroughly before picking. In contrast to conditions last year, potato producers did not have enough storage space for the large crop and had to dispose of the surplus hurriedly and at reduced prices, the majority of farmers this year are putting the smaller yield into storage in anticipation of more favorable prices later in the season. Mr. MacLeod reported the turnip crop this year to be a good average, with some excellent quality harvested and showing high quality throughout an overall picture cannot be given until the bulk of the crop is in and damage due to the turnip maggot fully assessed. Shipments to date total approximately 180 carloads. Stewart MacFarlane, Canning Inspector with the Department, said yesterday that present indications are that this year's cranberry crop will be very large, and the local market much more favorable than last year when large quantities were picked but never marketed.

Royal Couple On Holiday

VICTORIA, B. C., Oct. 23 (CP) — Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip tonight are on holiday. They are at Eaglecrest, a vacation retreat, 130 miles north of here in a setting of landscaped gardens, deep virgin forest and a private beach on Georgia Strait. Bad weather washed out Philip's flying duck shoot today on mainland marshes. Now, the Royal Couple will stay at Eaglecrest until Friday morning, leaving from Nanaimo that day for Vancouver on the destroyer-transporter. The corps of newspaper men and photographers covering the tour will remain in Victoria. The correspondents agreed to give the couple privacy and to accept daily reports sent into press headquarters here from a member of the royal staff. There will be two reports each day—for evening and morning newspapers.

Old Family Bibles As Proof Of Age

OTTAWA, Oct. 23 (CP) — Thousands of old family Bibles with birthdate notations are reaching the Health Department in Ottawa. They come as proof of age from persons entitled to the new $40-a-month old-age pension for those 70 and over to begin January next. And Health Minister Martin told the commons today, they are not only being accepted as proof of age, but are returned to their owners expeditiously. He told David Croll (L-Toronto Spadina) that the Old Testament was not ruled out. The department would accept any record which clearly indicated the birth and the date of birth of the applicant. "The Old Testament, as well as the New, certainly would be in that category." No one would be ruled out because they did not have a birth certificate, Mr. Martin added.

Seamen Offer To Back N. Y. Dock Workers

NEW YORK, Oct. 23 (AP)—C.I.O. seaman today offered to back rebel A.F.L. dock workers whose wildcat strike has crippled the vast port of New York. Joseph Curran, president of the National Maritime Union (N.M.U.), threatened to tie up every American flag vessel in the world's largest harbor. "If the ship owners load with scabs," he told an N.M.U. convention, "our seamen on those ships will not tolerate that activity." The nine-day-old strike of the Longshoremen's Association (A. F. L.), aimed at upsetting a new labor contract, already has made more than 100 ships idle. The rebellious stevedores have shaken off their leaders' efforts to get them back to work. Federal mediators are trying to get peace talks going. An estimated $11,000,000 worth of cargo-including some military supplies for Korea and other army outposts—has piled up on the clogged but deserted docks. However, passenger vessels have come and gone, subject only to minor inconveniences. The liner Queen Mary got away during the day. While collar ships helped loaded passengers' baggage. One of the few open piers in the harbor held the liner Ile De France. About 150 longshoremen ignored pickets there to start unloading the big ship.

Give Advice On Crossed Eyes In Babies

By Frank Carey (Associated Press Science Reporter) TORONTO, Oct. 23 (AP) — Two Philadelphia physicians today warned baby doctors against "the all too prevalent attitude" that most babies with crossed eyes will outgrow them. Doctors Robert Trueman, an eye specialist, and Joseph Ritter, a pediatrician, said it is true that about 25 per cent of cross-eyedness in infants is transitory. But if evidence of it remains after six months, there is a high probability that the affliction is an "established" one, necessitating immediate treatment. The doctors said in a report to the 20th annual meeting of the American Academy of Pediatrics: "It has been found that many times the parents are told by their pediatrician to disregard a case of crossed-eyes in a young child, in that the child, as it develops, will outgrow it. "We are stressing the fact that a child will never outgrow an established abnormality of this kind."

S., Oct. 23 (CP)—Blaise Atwood, 18-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Cantwell, was crushed to death here today when run over by a truck operated by Keith Cantwell, uncle of the tiny victim. The child was sitting in front of the truck when Cantwell came out of the house and started away.
