

Baby Literature.

An Irish Priest wishing to explain the nature of a miracle to a skeptical parishioner gave the wretch a tremendous kick.

"Did it hurt ye?" asked the reverend father.

"Hurt!" exclaimed the victim, tenderly solacing the aggrieved region with his hand.

"Well then," said the clergyman complacently, "it would have been a miracle if it hadn't hurt ye!"

RATHER HARD ON HIS BUTCHER.—"Uncle Enoch, what made the cats yow so last night? I couldn't sleep I was so afraid!"

"Ahem! Ah! Yes. The meat the butcher sent us yesterday, you know, was so bad we couldn't eat it, so we threw it to the cats and dogs, and I suspect it gave the cats the cholera."

"Well, why didn't it give the dogs the cholera too?"

"True, but don't you remember the dogs wouldn't eat it?"

Hic, Hec, Hoc.—When the Rev. Dr. Patton was in England he dined with several gentlemen who used a great variety of arguments to make him give up his cold water principles.

"Now here," said one—"here, Doctor, is some good old hock; surely you can't decline this!"

"Can't?" replied the doctor; "why, Sir, I learn to decline it when a boy; hic, hec, hoc." The table was in a roar, and the Doctor came off triumphant.

A clergyman, one Sunday, at the close of his sermon, gave notice to a congregation that, in the course of the week, he expected to go on a mission to the heathen.

One of his parishioners exclaimed "Why, my dear sir, you have never told us one word of this before! What shall we do?" "Oh, bother," said the minister; "I don't expect to go out of town."

"There are some things which will never be hurt by falling," growled an old man in Washington Market the other morning. "What's them?" inquired a hukster. "Prices," said the old man; "they're so awful slow in falling that they'll never get smashed."

A correspondent writes to ask if the brow of a hill ever becomes wrinkled?—The only information we can give him on that point is, that we have often seen it furrowed.

An old bachelor remarks that though the Scripture says "the glory of a woman is in her hair," it nowhere says that the glory of any woman is in any other woman's hair.

The young lady who gives herself away loses her self-possession.

Why is a kiss like the creation of the world? Because it is made of nothing and all very good.

Agricultural.

WHEN A HEN WILL AND WILL NOT LAY.

When a hen is satisfied it will lay. It is satisfied when it has enough to eat and drink, and that of a good quality.

It is satisfied when it has warm quarters (in winter). It is satisfied when it is unmolested. It is satisfied when it has a safe, retired place to lay, for a hen does not want to be annoyed with doubt in regard to its future progeny.

It is satisfied when it has room enough. It is satisfied when it has a place to wallow in. It is satisfied when it finds gravel and bits of lurnt bone strewn where it is.

It is satisfied with a variety of food, animal and vegetable, and vegetables from the garden, such as cabbages, onions, etc. It is satisfied when it feels the warming influence of pepper mixed with its food.

It is particularly satisfied when it has somebody to give it these things daily, and be a daily friend to it—for the hen is social and companionable. And, lastly, it is satisfied with a rooster.

But it is not satisfied when it suffers for the want of food. It is not satisfied with dirty water. It is not satisfied with shivering in the cold. It is not satisfied with disturbance and danger. It is not satisfied when thrust with a great number of hens and jostled about. It is not satisfied when it has a hard, naked ground, where its bright eye cannot detect a grain of sand to form a shell for its egg.

It is not satisfied when it has no safe place to lay. It is not satisfied when it is neglected. And, last of all, it is greatly dissatisfied when forsaken and left to shift for itself, as is usually done in barns, often trodden upon, at least its toes, if not frozen off.—Colman's Rural.

HOW TO EXHAUST A FARM. Sell hay, and by doing less stock can be kept; consequently a smaller amount of manure will be made.

Plant and manure the same land year after year, except the land in question, and for all other land this involves the same principle as selling hay.

I have known at least one farm exhausted in fertility by this method. Engage in the cultivation of fruit, tobacco or hops on an extensive scale; manure highly; this will have the same effect as selling hay in diminishing the productive capacity of the farm.

Practice universal fall ploughing, that the finer and richer portions of the soil may be blown or washed away, leaving only the coarse or poorer soil remaining. For the sake of employment, whether profitable or not, keep an undue proportion of working oxen and horses; devote almost the entire winter to teaming; this will leave a large proportion of the manure on the road, lost to all agricultural purposes. Keep the same land for a garden year after year. Practice indiscriminate ditching, even on the meadows and runs not infested with flags. Allow the wash of the side hills and the droppings of calves to run through barnyards and wash off more or less manure.

Just in Time FOR THE SPRING TRADE!!

The Subscriber has opened a Tailoring Establishment! in Mr. H. J. RICHARDSON'S Old Stand, which he trusts will be the real Fashionable one of Summerside. In an accurate fit, a stylish cut, and superior workmanship can ensure custom, he flatters himself he shall not be without patronage from the busy and discerning. Every trade requires pains, and none more so than the art of cutting and making up a garment to fit every variety of the human form; but some people seem to imagine that it requires no more judgment to cut a coat than to hew a log,—an erroneous idea, the effects of which are seen in the tasteless and ill-fitting garments we every day behold in the streets. There is no earthly reason to prevent us Provincialists from being as elegantly and fashionably dressed as the Americans, and the subscriber will use his best endeavors to reach a "consummation so devoutly to be wished."

Mrs. S. A. Allen's PREPARATIONS FOR THE HAIR.

Mrs. S. A. Allen's World's Hair Restorer

is suited to both young and old. It strengthens the Hair, prevents its falling or turning grey, and imparts to it a beautiful glossy appearance. It never fails to restore GREY HAIR TO ITS ORIGINAL YOUTHFUL COLOR.

It is not a Dye, but acts directly upon the roots of the Hair, giving them the natural nourishment required, producing the same vitality and luxuriant quantity as in youth. It will restore it on bald places, requires no previous preparation of the hair, and is easily applied by one's self. One bottle will usually last for a year, as after the hair is once restored, occasional applications once in three months will insure against grey hairs to the most advanced age.

The Restorer Reproduces and the Hair Dressing Cultivates and Beautifies. Principal Sales Office, 198 Greenwich Street, New York City. August 1, 1867.

Mrs. S. A. Allen's World's Hair Dressing, or ZYLOBALSAMUM, is essential to use with the Restorer, but the Hair Dressing alone often restores, and never fails to invigorate, beautify and refresh the Hair, rendering it soft, silky and glossy, and disposing it to remain in any desired position.

FOR LADIES AND CHILDREN, whose hair requires frequent dressing, it has no equal. No lady's toilet is complete without it. The rich glossy appearance imparted is truly wonderful. It cleanses the Hair, removes all dandruff, and imparts to it a most delightful fragrance. It will prevent the Hair from falling out, and is the most economical and valuable Hair Dressing known. Millions of bottles sold every year.
