

Lesage Has Two Solutions To French-English Problem

By STEPHEN SCOTT

VANCOUVER (CP)—Premier Jean Lesage of Quebec has suggested two possible ways to bring about political evolution acceptable to French- and English-Canada.

At the same time he told an overflow audience that the vast majority of citizens of Quebec have "ruled out" two other possibilities—separatism and the status quo.

And in a press conference later he answered a question about a threat to Confederation by saying that he expected that his two possibilities would be accepted by the people of Canada.

The first possibility was far greater French-Canadian participation in the federal government. The second was a "particular" status for Quebec in Canada which would allow it to do such things as make cultural agreements with other countries.

He said the two possibilities complement each other. He was asked at the press conference what would happen to Confederation if his two possibilities did not come to pass.

For Quebecers the central government could always be considered primarily an administrative structure, while the Quebec government "seems called upon to serve as a level for our people."

He said there are those who consider it urgent and important that French-Canadian participation in the administration take place. This would include giving French-Canadians a chance for jobs traditionally held by English-Canadians.

For Quebecers the central government could always be considered primarily an administrative structure, while the Quebec government "seems called upon to serve as a level for our people."

He said there are those who consider it urgent and important that French-Canadian participation in the administration take place. This would include giving French-Canadians a chance for jobs traditionally held by English-Canadians.

For Quebecers the central government could always be considered primarily an administrative structure, while the Quebec government "seems called upon to serve as a level for our people."

He said there are those who consider it urgent and important that French-Canadian participation in the administration take place. This would include giving French-Canadians a chance for jobs traditionally held by English-Canadians.

"They will," he replied. "I am confident of that."

FAITH IN FUTURE
"This is why I have faith in the future of Canada."

He said he did not think a new constitution was needed immediately although one must come eventually.

There must be improved dialogue between the founding races before the new constitution could be drawn up.

Reporters with him since the start of his tour of the West to explain Quebec's aspirations said his talk to an audience of 750 at a Canadian club luncheon was the toughest yet.

After mentioning the possibility of greater French-Canadian participation in Quebec, Mr. Lesage went on to say that it would be very difficult to achieve.

He said there are those who consider it urgent and important that French-Canadian participation in the administration take place. This would include giving French-Canadians a chance for jobs traditionally held by English-Canadians.

For Quebecers the central government could always be considered primarily an administrative structure, while the Quebec government "seems called upon to serve as a level for our people."

He said there are those who consider it urgent and important that French-Canadian participation in the administration take place. This would include giving French-Canadians a chance for jobs traditionally held by English-Canadians.

For Quebecers the central government could always be considered primarily an administrative structure, while the Quebec government "seems called upon to serve as a level for our people."

He said there are those who consider it urgent and important that French-Canadian participation in the administration take place. This would include giving French-Canadians a chance for jobs traditionally held by English-Canadians.

For Quebecers the central government could always be considered primarily an administrative structure, while the Quebec government "seems called upon to serve as a level for our people."

He said there are those who consider it urgent and important that French-Canadian participation in the administration take place. This would include giving French-Canadians a chance for jobs traditionally held by English-Canadians.

For Quebecers the central government could always be considered primarily an administrative structure, while the Quebec government "seems called upon to serve as a level for our people."

He said there are those who consider it urgent and important that French-Canadian participation in the administration take place. This would include giving French-Canadians a chance for jobs traditionally held by English-Canadians.

For Quebecers the central government could always be considered primarily an administrative structure, while the Quebec government "seems called upon to serve as a level for our people."

He said there are those who consider it urgent and important that French-Canadian participation in the administration take place. This would include giving French-Canadians a chance for jobs traditionally held by English-Canadians.

For Quebecers the central government could always be considered primarily an administrative structure, while the Quebec government "seems called upon to serve as a level for our people."

He said there are those who consider it urgent and important that French-Canadian participation in the administration take place. This would include giving French-Canadians a chance for jobs traditionally held by English-Canadians.

For Quebecers the central government could always be considered primarily an administrative structure, while the Quebec government "seems called upon to serve as a level for our people."

He said there are those who consider it urgent and important that French-Canadian participation in the administration take place. This would include giving French-Canadians a chance for jobs traditionally held by English-Canadians.

For Quebecers the central government could always be considered primarily an administrative structure, while the Quebec government "seems called upon to serve as a level for our people."

He said there are those who consider it urgent and important that French-Canadian participation in the administration take place. This would include giving French-Canadians a chance for jobs traditionally held by English-Canadians.

For Quebecers the central government could always be considered primarily an administrative structure, while the Quebec government "seems called upon to serve as a level for our people."

He said there are those who consider it urgent and important that French-Canadian participation in the administration take place. This would include giving French-Canadians a chance for jobs traditionally held by English-Canadians.

For Quebecers the central government could always be considered primarily an administrative structure, while the Quebec government "seems called upon to serve as a level for our people."

He said there are those who consider it urgent and important that French-Canadian participation in the administration take place. This would include giving French-Canadians a chance for jobs traditionally held by English-Canadians.

For Quebecers the central government could always be considered primarily an administrative structure, while the Quebec government "seems called upon to serve as a level for our people."

He said there are those who consider it urgent and important that French-Canadian participation in the administration take place. This would include giving French-Canadians a chance for jobs traditionally held by English-Canadians.

For Quebecers the central government could always be considered primarily an administrative structure, while the Quebec government "seems called upon to serve as a level for our people."

He said there are those who consider it urgent and important that French-Canadian participation in the administration take place. This would include giving French-Canadians a chance for jobs traditionally held by English-Canadians.

For Quebecers the central government could always be considered primarily an administrative structure, while the Quebec government "seems called upon to serve as a level for our people."

ACTRESS TURNS HERO WORSHIPPER

Actress Carol Channing turns hero worshipper as she meets astronaut David R. Scott backstage after a performance of "Hello Dolly" in the Los Angeles Music Centre. Earlier Scott was chosen co-pilot of next year's Gemini 8 flight during which he will take a walk in space lasting 36 minutes, approximately for one full orbit of the earth.

Two national opinion polls show support for the Liberals has slipped by the equivalent of up to 800,000 votes since the 1964 election, when the party polled a postwar record 3,000,000 votes out of 27,600,000.

Although the polls show Labor with a lead over the Conservatives, the Tories are not ruled out of the race. Many Liberals, notably the younger people, believe the defeat of the Labor government would be almost as great a disaster as the total losses in a sudden election. The program would exact a levy in tax from the portion of land value acquired by governmental development approval or other community-made advantages. It would also establish a commission that could compulsorily purchase land for development.

At the same time he told an overflow audience that the vast majority of citizens of Quebec have "ruled out" two other possibilities—separatism and the status quo.

And in a press conference later he answered a question about a threat to Confederation by saying that he expected that his two possibilities would be accepted by the people of Canada.

The first possibility was far greater French-Canadian participation in the federal government. The second was a "particular" status for Quebec in Canada which would allow it to do such things as make cultural agreements with other countries.

He said the two possibilities complement each other. He was asked at the press conference what would happen to Confederation if his two possibilities did not come to pass.

For Quebecers the central government could always be considered primarily an administrative structure, while the Quebec government "seems called upon to serve as a level for our people."

He said there are those who consider it urgent and important that French-Canadian participation in the administration take place. This would include giving French-Canadians a chance for jobs traditionally held by English-Canadians.

For Quebecers the central government could always be considered primarily an administrative structure, while the Quebec government "seems called upon to serve as a level for our people."

He said there are those who consider it urgent and important that French-Canadian participation in the administration take place. This would include giving French-Canadians a chance for jobs traditionally held by English-Canadians.

For Quebecers the central government could always be considered primarily an administrative structure, while the Quebec government "seems called upon to serve as a level for our people."

He said there are those who consider it urgent and important that French-Canadian participation in the administration take place. This would include giving French-Canadians a chance for jobs traditionally held by English-Canadians.

For Quebecers the central government could always be considered primarily an administrative structure, while the Quebec government "seems called upon to serve as a level for our people."

He said there are those who consider it urgent and important that French-Canadian participation in the administration take place. This would include giving French-Canadians a chance for jobs traditionally held by English-Canadians.

For Quebecers the central government could always be considered primarily an administrative structure, while the Quebec government "seems called upon to serve as a level for our people."

He said there are those who consider it urgent and important that French-Canadian participation in the administration take place. This would include giving French-Canadians a chance for jobs traditionally held by English-Canadians.

For Quebecers the central government could always be considered primarily an administrative structure, while the Quebec government "seems called upon to serve as a level for our people."

He said there are those who consider it urgent and important that French-Canadian participation in the administration take place. This would include giving French-Canadians a chance for jobs traditionally held by English-Canadians.

For Quebecers the central government could always be considered primarily an administrative structure, while the Quebec government "seems called upon to serve as a level for our people."

He said there are those who consider it urgent and important that French-Canadian participation in the administration take place. This would include giving French-Canadians a chance for jobs traditionally held by English-Canadians.

For Quebecers the central government could always be considered primarily an administrative structure, while the Quebec government "seems called upon to serve as a level for our people."

He said there are those who consider it urgent and important that French-Canadian participation in the administration take place. This would include giving French-Canadians a chance for jobs traditionally held by English-Canadians.

For Quebecers the central government could always be considered primarily an administrative structure, while the Quebec government "seems called upon to serve as a level for our people."

British Liberals Ease Talk Of Tough Stand With Gov't

By CARL MOLLINS

LONDON (CP)—Britain's Liberal party, which opened its annual conference amid belittled talk of being drunk with power, was showing signs of morning-after depression as the convention was winding up here.

Bold talk of getting tough with the Labor government unless its program was tailored to a more Liberal line gave way to sober second thoughts about the dangers of forcing a general election.

The Liberals, whose 10 seats look important in a 630-seat Parliament where only two votes separate government and opposition, might be the biggest losers in a sudden election. Two national opinion polls show support for the Liberals has slipped by the equivalent of up to 800,000 votes since the 1964 election, when the party polled a postwar record 3,000,000 votes out of 27,600,000.

Although the polls show Labor with a lead over the Conservatives, the Tories are not ruled out of the race. Many Liberals, notably the younger people, believe the defeat of the Labor government would be almost as great a disaster as the total losses in a sudden election. Two national opinion polls show support for the Liberals has slipped by the equivalent of up to 800,000 votes since the 1964 election, when the party polled a postwar record 3,000,000 votes out of 27,600,000.

Although the polls show Labor with a lead over the Conservatives, the Tories are not ruled out of the race. Many Liberals, notably the younger people, believe the defeat of the Labor government would be almost as great a disaster as the total losses in a sudden election. Two national opinion polls show support for the Liberals has slipped by the equivalent of up to 800,000 votes since the 1964 election, when the party polled a postwar record 3,000,000 votes out of 27,600,000.

Although the polls show Labor with a lead over the Conservatives, the Tories are not ruled out of the race. Many Liberals, notably the younger people, believe the defeat of the Labor government would be almost as great a disaster as the total losses in a sudden election. Two national opinion polls show support for the Liberals has slipped by the equivalent of up to 800,000 votes since the 1964 election, when the party polled a postwar record 3,000,000 votes out of 27,600,000.

Although the polls show Labor with a lead over the Conservatives, the Tories are not ruled out of the race. Many Liberals, notably the younger people, believe the defeat of the Labor government would be almost as great a disaster as the total losses in a sudden election. Two national opinion polls show support for the Liberals has slipped by the equivalent of up to 800,000 votes since the 1964 election, when the party polled a postwar record 3,000,000 votes out of 27,600,000.

Although the polls show Labor with a lead over the Conservatives, the Tories are not ruled out of the race. Many Liberals, notably the younger people, believe the defeat of the Labor government would be almost as great a disaster as the total losses in a sudden election. Two national opinion polls show support for the Liberals has slipped by the equivalent of up to 800,000 votes since the 1964 election, when the party polled a postwar record 3,000,000 votes out of 27,600,000.

Although the polls show Labor with a lead over the Conservatives, the Tories are not ruled out of the race. Many Liberals, notably the younger people, believe the defeat of the Labor government would be almost as great a disaster as the total losses in a sudden election. Two national opinion polls show support for the Liberals has slipped by the equivalent of up to 800,000 votes since the 1964 election, when the party polled a postwar record 3,000,000 votes out of 27,600,000.

Although the polls show Labor with a lead over the Conservatives, the Tories are not ruled out of the race. Many Liberals, notably the younger people, believe the defeat of the Labor government would be almost as great a disaster as the total losses in a sudden election. Two national opinion polls show support for the Liberals has slipped by the equivalent of up to 800,000 votes since the 1964 election, when the party polled a postwar record 3,000,000 votes out of 27,600,000.

Although the polls show Labor with a lead over the Conservatives, the Tories are not ruled out of the race. Many Liberals, notably the younger people, believe the defeat of the Labor government would be almost as great a disaster as the total losses in a sudden election. Two national opinion polls show support for the Liberals has slipped by the equivalent of up to 800,000 votes since the 1964 election, when the party polled a postwar record 3,000,000 votes out of 27,600,000.

Although the polls show Labor with a lead over the Conservatives, the Tories are not ruled out of the race. Many Liberals, notably the younger people, believe the defeat of the Labor government would be almost as great a disaster as the total losses in a sudden election. Two national opinion polls show support for the Liberals has slipped by the equivalent of up to 800,000 votes since the 1964 election, when the party polled a postwar record 3,000,000 votes out of 27,600,000.

Although the polls show Labor with a lead over the Conservatives, the Tories are not ruled out of the race. Many Liberals, notably the younger people, believe the defeat of the Labor government would be almost as great a disaster as the total losses in a sudden election. Two national opinion polls show support for the Liberals has slipped by the equivalent of up to 800,000 votes since the 1964 election, when the party polled a postwar record 3,000,000 votes out of 27,600,000.

Although the polls show Labor with a lead over the Conservatives, the Tories are not ruled out of the race. Many Liberals, notably the younger people, believe the defeat of the Labor government would be almost as great a disaster as the total government of the majority—the English-speaking segment of the country.

His second possibility "purports to give Quebec the status it needs to possess all the means necessary for the full development of our culture in Canada, even if it means particular status for Quebec."

"It is not a question of obtaining undue privileges for Quebec but of enabling it to fill its roll as the mainstay of French-Canada."

Victory Scored For Stewardess

CHICAGO (AP)—The Air Line Pilots Association has announced a "significant victory" over airline executives' edict that only a single girl is suitable to be an airline stewardess.

A court-appointed arbitrator has ruled that Mrs. Betty Bateman of Dallas, Tex., a stewardess fired by Braniff International Airways when her secret marriage was discovered, must be given her job back.

There was no indication of Mrs. Bateman's plans of Braniff's reaction.

Mrs. Bateman was Betty Green when hired by Braniff in 1959. She was fired in November, 1964, when the airline learned she had been married more than 18 months but had continued to use her maiden name.

Ottawa Reveals August Deficit

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal treasury spent $602,400,000 and took in revenues of $595,700,000, leaving a deficit of $6,700,000 in August, the finance department has reported.

The August deficit cut into the treasury's surplus earlier this fiscal year, leaving it at $468,000,000 for the first five months.

The treasury frequently piles up large surpluses early in the fiscal year, and they are usually cut when higher expenditures are made near the end of the fiscal year, March 31.

During August last year, the report said, revenues amounted to $528,700,000 and expenditures to $462,000,000, leaving a deficit of $17,300,000. At the end of the first five months of the last fiscal year there was a surplus of $422,300,000.

In his budget speech to the Commons April 26, Finance Minister Gordon said he expected revenues for the current fiscal year to amount to $7,350,000,000, and expenditures running to $7,650,000,000, leaving a deficit of $300,000,000 for the 12 months.

The deficit in the 1964-65 fiscal year, which ended March 31 was $38,000,000.

Red Charges U.S. Aggression In Viet Nam

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko has accused the United States of aggression in Viet Nam and said there is no place in international affairs for aggression.

He told the 20th session of the United Nations General Assembly the "heroic struggle" of the population of South Viet Nam led by the National Liberation Front, more commonly known as the Viet Cong.

The Soviet Union had rendered and would go on rendering the necessary "fraternal

If You Are Now Taking A Laxative Once, Twice or Three Times a Week

... THEN YOU SHOULD BUY TODAY! the Laxative Tablet with the GENTLE DIFFERENCE

Take gentle-acting NR... Nature's Remedy! There is no letdown, no uncomfortable after-feeling. NR is an all-vegetable laxative. For over 70 years, NR has been giving folks pleasant, effective relief overnight.

NR tonight... tomorrow alright! Helps you feel better... and look better!

REGULAR - CHOCOLATE COATED - JUNIORS

aid" to North Viet Nam. Gromyko added.

He said a reasonable and fair basis on which the war could be ended would be the termination of bombing of North Viet Nam and a complete U.S. military withdrawal from South Viet Nam.

Gromyko spoke before Paul Martin, Canada's external affairs minister, delivered his address to the 17-nation assembly. Martin called for a negotiated settlement of the Vietnamese crisis at the United Nations.

Martin said that if the cease-fire provision of 1964 had been fully kept the "tragedy and danger we now face" could have been avoided.

Sample Shoes By White Cross

Size 5 1/2 Only Mostly Walking Heels Reg. to $13.95

$7.98 WRIGHTS SHOE CO. 164 Queen Dial 4-9521

WE SPECIALIZE IN

Camera REPAIRS

Taylor's JEWELLERS LTD THE CAMERA EXPERTS

Saint Dunstan's University Additional Night Course

SOCIAL ANTHROPOLOGY will be offered by Jean Halliday MacKay, Ph.D. This course will consist of a comparative study of human societies, including the concept of culture, culture and personality development and culture and change. It will study various societies, largely primitive, regarding such universals as adaptation to the environment, acquisition of food, family organization and kinship systems, social organization and control (including ways of handling life crises), language and supernatural beliefs.

This is a full-credit university course with no pre-requisites except junior matriculation. Time: Monday and Thursday from 7-8:20 p.m. Fee: $60. Registration and first period: Monday, Sept. 27, classroom No. 2, Kelley Memorial Library.

What's your stand on life insurance paying for a college education?

Mrs. Powell
I've never connected the two—life insurance and college, I mean.

Interviewer
Thousands of Canadian parents have provided college educations for their children this way through The Mutual Life.

Mrs. Powell
Some kind of special insurance policy? I still don't see how...

Interviewer
A policy purchased when your child is young guarantees that—come what may—the money will be available when it is needed.

Mrs. Powell
You really should be talking to my husband about this. Where could he find out all about it?

Interviewer
Have him call The Mutual Life of Canada representative nearest you.

The Mutual Life
ASSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA
HEAD OFFICE: WATERLOO, ONTARIO, ESTABLISHED 1869

CHARLOTTETOWN BRANCH OFFICE: Dominion Bldg., Ph: 894-8513

The Rogers Hardware ... Your

New C-I-L Firearms

Gives You A Lot For Your Money ... Outstanding Features, Moderate Prices...

No. 621
Deluxe slide action repeater with ventilated rib in 12, 20 and 410 gauge. Chambered for all 2 1/2", 3" and 3 1/2" shells. Available as 12/28" modified or full, 12/20" full, 20/28" improved cylinder, 20/28" full 410/28" full. Hammerless, side ejection action. Magazine takes four 2 1/2" shells or three 3" shells. Length 45" - 49". Weight 7 1/2 lb. Walnut finish stock; full pistol grip. $102.95

No. 607
Slide action repeater in 12, 20 and 410 gauge. Chambered for all 2 1/2" and 3" shells in five combinations of gauge, barrel length and choke—12/30" full 12/28" modified, 12/28" full, 20/28" full, and 410/28" full. Hammerless, side ejection action. Four shot magazine, with 3" shells one less. Length 45 1/2" - 47 1/2". Weight 7 lb. Walnut finish stock with pistol grip. $87.25

No. 710
Standard double barrel hammerless, in 12, 20 and 410 gauge. The 12 gauge is chambered for all 2 1/2" shells; 20 and 410 gauge for 3" shells. Available as 12/28" modified and full 12/30" modified and full, 20/28" modified and full, 410/28" full and full. Length 43 1/2" - 45 1/2", taken down 28" - 30". Weight: 12 gauge 7 lb., 20 and 410 gauge 6 1/2 lb. Checkered walnut finish stock and fore-end, matted rib. $99.25

No. 121
Deluxe bolt action, single shot rifle chambered for 22 Long Rifle, Long or Short cartridge. Barrel 22". Length 39". Weight 4 1/2 lb. Walnut finish Monte Carlo type stock with pistol grip. Hooded foresight; open, adjustable rear sight. Loading platform. Receiver grooved for scope mounting. $24.95

Model 310 Bolt Action Deluxe Repeater RIFLE

Deluxe bolt action repeater chambered for 22 Long Rifle, Long or Short cartridges. Barrel 24". Length 42". Weight 5 1/2 lb. Walnut Monte