

Now! Proof that BRUSHING TEETH RIGHT AFTER EATING WITH COLGATE DENTAL CREAM HELPS PREVENT TOOTH DECAY!

2 Years' research by LEADING UNIVERSITIES proves that test groups brushing teeth right after eating with Colgate Dental Cream showed amazing reduction in tooth decay!

Under the direction of eminent dental authorities, one group of college men and women always brushed their teeth with Colgate Dental Cream right after eating—while another group followed their usual dental care. The average of the group using Colgate's as directed, and using Colgate's exclusively, was a startling reduction in the number of new cavities—far less tooth decay. The other group developed new cavities at a much higher rate.

FURTHER PROOF FROM SCHOOL CHILDREN

Leading Canadian dentists examined and directed over 8,000 school children in corrective dental habits. In addition to diet changes where required, the children were asked to brush their teeth after each meal.

The results! 16% fewer children with tooth decay! Cavities dropped from an average of 5 per child to just over 3! 53% more children received dental care that prevented either loss of teeth or serious dental troubles later in life! The number of children with no defects—increased by 200%!

HELP YOUR CHILDREN AVOID TOOTH DECAY!

Insist that your children always brush their teeth right after eating with Colgate Dental Cream. They'll love Colgate's delicious doublemint flavor, so it's easy to get them to use Colgate's correctly.

CLEANS YOUR BREATH AS IT CLEANS YOUR TEETH!

Scientific tests prove that in 7 out of 10 cases, Colgate's instantly stops bad breath that originates in the mouth! Colgate's active penetrating foam gets into hidden crevices between teeth—helps clean out decaying food particles—stops stagnant saliva odors—removes the cause of much bad breath!

KELLY'S CROSS C. W. L.

The regular monthly meeting of St. Joseph's sub-division of C. W. L. Kelly's Cross, took place on July 9th with a more than average attendance. In the absence of president and first vice-president, the chair was occupied by Mrs. William Murphy, second vice-president.

Meeting opened by League Prayer in unison led by the chaplain, Rev. W. A. Keefe. After roll call the minutes of previous meeting were read, approved and signed. There being no correspondence the treasurer read a very favorable report.

It was decided that each lady in the parish donate an article for the C. W. L. booth at the coming parish picnic. A suggestion that Fr. Eugene Murray of Summerfield be invited to give a lecture descriptive of his recent Holy Year pilgrimage to Rome. As Fr. Murray has also made an extensive tour through Ireland, visiting the scenes and places from which his grandparents came and from which places most of the ancestors of Kelly's Cross parishioners also came, the C. W. L. looks forward with pleasure to hearing Fr. Murray's description of them.

It was also decided to change the hour of meetings for August and September to 7 p.m. the Holy Name Sundays, after which the meeting adjourned.

Barbara Brent's BUYS WHYS

MONTREAL, July 20th — Let's keep cool! And, one very sure way I've discovered to guarantee a cool start on a Summer's day is to serve the family crisp-light QUAKER SPARKIES PUFFED WHEAT one day and PUFFED RICE the next! Yes, Quaker Sparkies come in both Wheat and Rice varieties — so you have a turnabout treat for every day in the week! You should try them with fresh fruit on top, smothered in milk and sprinkled with sugar — so flavoured, so nourishing, so cool and satisfying! Treat the family from tomorrow on with refreshing Quaker Puffed Rice Sparkies and Quaker Puffed Wheat Sparkies — the best hot weather breakfast idea yet. Save the box tops from Quaker Sparkies. Get a set of Tudor Plate for less than half price. Full particulars on the package.

"No More Bother About Making Apple Sauce since I've discovered canned 'Scotian Gold'!" writes a reader. She says quite frankly, that SCOTIAN GOLD APPLE SAUCE is better than any she has ever made herself! What gives Scotian Gold that extra-good flavour? Well — it's Sauce made from specially selected varieties of the Annapolis Valley's famous apple trees. With 15% sugar added, they are quick-cooked in a process which retains every bit of the natural flavour and aroma of the fresh fruit. Scotian Gold Apple Sauce is not strained! — you'll really appreciate its complete natural goodness! Try it soon for breakfast — as a dessert — as a special treat for your family — as a tasty side-dish with pork or sausages — or as a delicious topping for ice-cream!

You've Never Seen Anything like it before! The new FRIGIDAIRE "Thrifty-30" Electric Range! It's a completely new idea in electric ranges! It's amazingly compact... only 30 inches wide... yet it has enough cooking capacity for the biggest family meals! And... this new "Thrifty-30" Range is really a "budget-watcher's" dream. It has a Thrifty Giant Oven... that stretches clear across the range and cooks more food with no more current. New High-Speed Waist-High Broiler... with unit recessed in oven top. New 6-Speed Radiant Cooking Units... for faster, better "top-side" cooking with less current. New Switch Knobs out in front... easy to reach and use. Take a tip from me... take a trip to your Frigidaire Dealer without delay... and see the amazing value in the Frigidaire "Thrifty-30" Electric Range!

A Thoughtful Mother I know always keeps a supply of lemons on hand so her family can have a delicious refreshment of cool lemonade whenever they want it! And she makes sure that the lemons she buys are SUNKIST CALIFORNIA LEMONS... they're the finest, juiciest grown. Just try this sometime when you're feeling hot and "sticky"... make yourself a glass or two of "Sunkist" lemonade. So wonderfully refreshing — so full of zest and lively flavour! You'll feel better in a jiffy! But remember to ask your grocer for Sunkist lemons to get the plump, ripe juicy lemons you want for truly delicious lemonade!

There's Nothing Like The Fiquant, true fruit flavour of some made jams and jellies to please the man in your life. No matter what your favourite is — strawberry, raspberry, grape, plum, cherry — jams and jellies have a deeper, more satisfying appeal when you "do them down" yourself. With CERTO FRUIT PECTIN at hand, along with my favourite fruits and sugar, it's so easy to have a wonderful, sure result every time! I simply follow the easy directions on the booklet under the label of each Certo bottle and do my jams and jellies in about one-third of the time of the long boil method. I actually find with Certo that I get up to 50% more jam or jelly from the same amount of fruit.

Everyone Will Tell You how lovely you look when you wear wonderful NEW WOODBURY DREAM STUFF! It's glorious!... and it does glorious things for you! Dream Stuff is a tinted foundation and powder magically blended into one make-up. No drying cake — nor greasy cream... no "powdery" look. Pat it on with its puff and it clings for hours. Tuck it in your purse to carry with you wherever you go — it can't spill! Only 65c in four-ounce tins. The "Tropic Dream" shade is particularly lovely for a suntan complexion.

Such A Marvelous Bargain In Beauty!... you can buy a cake of lovely WOODBURY FACIAL SOAP for just one penny! Doctors' tests among women show no "skin-while" with Woodbury's mild, mild lather! This amazing offer good only while 1c sale units last!

There Are three things I couldn't start the day without: brushing my teeth, washing my face AND putting 2 drops of MURINE in each eye! The last is as important as the others... for I work my eyes hard. So naturally, even though they seldom complain, they must get tired. I never fail to "treat" them to Murine — for it rests and refreshes tired eyes instantly! There's a good reason why this is so. The seven ingredients of Murine blend perfectly with the natural eye fluids and soothe delicate eye tissues ever so tenderly. Just use Murine regularly for one week. See how fresh your eyes feel!

It's So Easy And Quick to open your favourite corn starch package now! Yes, DURHAM CORN STARCH is now available in a new package that's just what you need! All you do — just break the seal and inside you'll find Durham Corn Starch neatly protected in a paper bag. No fussing "n" fuming with a knife or other sharp instrument to open the package. And when you've used as much "Durham" as you need at the time, simply replace the package top. It fits snugly — keeps out dust and keeps the starch from spilling. You'll be delighted, too, with the recipes on the new Durham Corn Starch package. They're Ann Adams recipes — so, of course, they're delicious!

Here's A Real Bargain In Silverware!... Yes, you can get a set of famous Wallace Brothers Silver Plate for half price and less! U. S. Ground Troops Make Assault

A BEACHHEAD IN KOREA, July 19 — (AP) — United States ground troops have made their first amphibious assault landing of the Korean campaign.

The landing was made in strength in front of the enemy line. It was in an area where North Korean guerrillas have been active but not a shot was fired against the Americans.

The troops landed from a convoy protected by American warships and covered by an air umbrella of British and U. S. fighter planes.

The Golden Girl

By AGNES LOUISE PROVOST AND LADBROKE BLACK continued

A little twist of the lips was Sara's only betrayal of emotion. "I'd rather be here," she said, "than any other place on earth. I've found my work and my work's found me. Now, Glory dear, do go and answer that telephone. That French maid of yours has been calling up every ten minutes to find if you are back yet. She wants to implore your forgiveness for being away when your message came, but she was busy eloping with Monsieur Edson, and will mademoiselle ever forgive her? I told her I was pretty sure you would, but she and Edson keep calling. I think they work in relays."

"Poor Cecile!" Gloria went, laughing. She felt on wings.

A moment later Cecile's excited chatter came to her, a Cecile "desolated" because she had not been there to receive mademoiselle's orders, but —

"I understand Cecile, and I am delighted to hear your good news. And it is all right about the trunk—I have changed my mind about having them sent to the station. Tell Edson to take the car for your honeymoon and charge all expenses to me. Tell him that my husband, Mr. Moreland—remember the name, Cecile—joins me in congratulating him. We hope that you will both want to stay with us here at Beechwood. And Cecile, take plenty of time for I shall be away on a honeymoon too. Good-by."

She hung up the receiver and came out smiling to herself, to find a big Packard at the door and most of the Dalmer family in it. She heard Bill speaking.

"And when the afternoon papers came out with all the scare-heads about Gorham's arrest and suicide, and how he had been mixed up with Parsons in swindling your aunt, we started out to hunt for you, and found from the Garrett-Hudson people that you had answered a hurry call to Beechwood. So we posted after you."

Jack saw Gloria coming.

"It was mighty fine of you to be so interested," he said simply. "And because you are the best friend I have I want you to be the first to meet my wife."

For an instant Bill Dalmer whitened, but he was too good a sportsman not to lose gallantly. He held out his hand.

"You are a lucky man, Jack. And, Gloria, I don't need to tell you that there isn't a better fellow in the world."

Her quick glance begged forgiveness for any hurt she might have caused him, but Sophie, only half aware of her brother's feelings for Gloria, was chattering excitedly as she sprang out of the car.

"Gloria, I think, it is the most romantic thing I ever heard of! When were you married, and why didn't you tell me!"

"Last May."

There was a moment of silence. Even Sophie, in her astonishment, had nothing to say. Gloria could imagine what that stately Mrs. Dalmer would think of a secret marriage.

"You see," said Jack quietly, "there were reasons why the marriage could not be announced at once. But we are going to do that now."

Mrs. Dalmer rose majestically to the occasion. In her secret heart she was fond of both of them.

"I will give a reception for you as soon as the honeymoon is over," she announced firmly, solidly conscious of her own power to introduce this pair of babes in the wood properly. "And if you have not already arranged for your announcements, Sophie and I will attend to that at once. Come, Sophie. It's getting late. Good-by, my dears."

The automobile slipped away amid a chorus of good-bys and Jack and Gloria looked at each other and smiled.

Sara had considerably disappeared, and they were alone again.

"Gloria, have you been to the apartment since the first time?"

"Only for mail. But I went there the day that you were hurt. I couldn't bear to go anywhere else after I left you."

"Let's go now. The roadster is here and I dare you to elope with me."

Gloria's eyes shone.

"I'd love to. It is the only place that is just ours, but people would think we were crazy to leave a place like Beechwood and go to a city apartment."

"Let them. It's our honeymoon, not theirs."

"I'll be ready in five minutes!" A little later, trim and ready for travel, Mrs. Moreland appeared again. Jack helped her into the roadster with a gentle touch on her arm, slipped in beside her and they were off, out of the Beechwood gates, down the long grey road, with the autumn air brushing their faces and the roadster humming its steady song.

They were eloping again, but with a difference.

An ocean liner went down the bay and out through the Narrows with the afterglow of sunset on her funnels. There had been dock troubles and the Nivernaise had been late in sailing. On the promenade deck Mrs. Dick Payne sat apart from her fellow passengers, looking back at the dimming outlines of towers and tall buildings, a dream city in the fading lights, inexorably slipping away from her. In her lap lay several afternoon papers.

The line of Mrs. Payne's pretty lips hardened, but she looked down at the papers with a shudder. She hated them, but she had read every word. Jack Moreland's name had figured largely in the story, as had Miss Edgcomb's and that of the unspeakable Parsons who had murdered her, but there was no mention of her own. Jack had kept his word.

Still she had not dared to stay. She could not stay and meet Jack's level quiet glance again, nor see him on the street, in the houses of his friends and hers, and with Gloria. Sooner or later, she knew, she would have to take up a morning paper and open it to read: "Mr. and Mrs. John Moreland—"

No, she could not endure that. And the growing conviction that he had never cared greatly for her outside of the affection of mere propinquity only added to the bitterness. There had been a time when his aunt had assiduously thrown them together. He had liked her; he had been interested enough to be flatteringly attentive that was all. There had not been a moment since her return when she could strike the faintest spark from him.

The paper crumpled under her hand. Beaten, trapped, saved from humiliating exposure only by the generosity of a man she had failed to win, she was now a restless exile on a paltry income.

Mrs. Payne closed her eyes.

When she opened them again the city of a million lights was only a handful of stardust against the night.

On the road between Beechwood and New York the roadster hummed steadily. It was growing dusk, and Jack showed a genius for finding shadowy and little frequented roads.

"Gloria,"

"Yes, Jack."

"I can drive with one hand."

"Jack! There comes a Ford with a nice old farmer in it. I think you've scandalized him."

"Glory, here's a roadster with a bride and groom in it. Bet you a dime the farmer feels twenty years younger and remembers to kiss his nice old wife when he gets home."

"Will you remember to kiss me when I'm a nice old lady?"

"I'll remember now."

"Jack!"

The roadster slowed down. It almost seemed to stop itself in friendly sympathy with young love and lovers. It was a shady stretch, with high bushes by the roadside and trees above it with flaming autumn foliage.

"You and I together, Glory, down the long road, rich or poor, from sunrise to sunset. That's all I ask of the world."
