Self Censorship Urged By Youth

SACKVILLE, N. B., — (CP) — The Maritime Tuxis and Older Boys Parliament Wednesday favored a policy of "constructive" consorship and resolved that the Parliament "maintains a spirit of independent censorship of self in our choice of such things as reading material and entertainment."

The parliament also advocated that the problems of racial and other prejudices "be counteracted by the promotion of education, understanding and truly witnessing for Christ."

In another resolution the teenagers decided to set an example by obeying all traffic regulations as a means of reducing the highway accident rate.

Penal rehabilitation was also the subject of resolutions. Changes in the physical conditions of corrective institutions were recommended, with a greater emphasis on development of "trades and psychiatric rehabilitation so as to better prepare the inmate for social acceptance."

Hugh MacLean, a member of Trinity United Church, Charlottetown and a student at Prince of Wales College, was elected premier-elect for the 36th parliament.

Other officers elected were: Bill Sommerville, St. Andrew's United Church, Halifax, deputy premier; James Crooks, St. John's United Church, Halifax, speaker; Chalmers Doane, First United Church, Truro, alternate speaker; representative to leadership camp, Graham Mifflin, Gower Street United Church, St. John's, Nfld.; exchange member to some other Canadian youth parliament, Brian Brown, Bethany United Church, Halifax.

Good Year For Island, Nation Says John A. Macdonald, MP

The following message was released to the Guardian last night by John A. Macdonald, MP, for Kings. It follows:

"With the ending of the year 1959, a brief reflection on the past 12 months reveals a good year for our Island province and the nation in general.

"The tension of the cold war seems to have decreased greatly and the festive season had a more truly peaceful atmosphere than has been evident for a number of years.

"Our economy has shown a definite upsurge which has benefitted all segments and areas of our vast country. We look forward with renewed hope and courage to 1960 and trust that we may be favored with peace and prosperity in ample measure.

"At this time I wish to extend my very best wishes to all your readers, and in particular to the people of Kings County, for a very happy and successful New Year.

John A. Macdonald,
M.P. for Kings.

School Figures Are Corrected

In regard to regional high schools, the Department of Education is prepared to pay 60 percent of the building costs not exceeding $5,000 per classroom in the case of a frame building and $6,000 per classroom in the case of a building made of brick and steel.

In addition they will pay 40 percent of the operational costs of such a school.

In yesterday's report of a proposed regional high school for Wellington, these figures were wrongly reported.

Canadian Stock Exchanges Are Quiet, Colorless In Year

By GREG MacDONALD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

In a year of economic recovery, 1959 was quiet and colorless on Canadian stock exchanges.

Unlike their United States and European counterparts the Canadian markets recorded no booms and remained at generally low levels throughout the year.

Industrials, investors' champions in 1958, lacked spectacular action except for a brief flurry in early summer that followed an upward move on Wall Street.

Observers say the outlook for 1960 appears almost as dull unless more pops up in the way of business news and mining field development.

DOLLAR VOLUME UP

While share volume was down, however, dollar volume rose higher and was comparable with 1957's record. Price movements, though, were without vigor.

Investors quoted many reasons for the situation. They included tight money; lack of participation by American investors in view of the big year on Wall Street; high interest rates on bonds which contrasted with comparatively low stock yields; and not much in the way of development in mining fields.

C. P. Lailey, chairman of the board of the Toronto Stock Exchange, said "each of these factors alone were capable of bringing about a definite trend, but all of them coming practically at once, were too much for the market to absorb and remain buoyant."

But economically 1959 was a good year. Unemployment declined, spending for capital and government purposes rose and quarterly earnings and dividends increased.

STRONG MONTHS

Two of the strongest months on the market were March and July. In March the U.S. Federal Reserve attempted to tighten the money supply as well as credit rates. But industrials shot higher and base metals began a quiet boom with copper gyrating on the London market. The base metal activity sent share volume in Toronto over 112,000,000 shares, the only time during the year when monthly volume topped 100,000,000 shares.

In June industrials improved and the ground was laid for an upsurge in July. The action began with a flurry in specialities and spread to utilities, foods, steels and motor stocks. Wall Street moved ahead quickly when the U.S. government announced a record budget deficit for a peacetime year. Another factor in the upsurge was the signing of a bill by President Eisenhower raising the U.S. national debt ceiling to $295,000,000,000.

This was the cue needed for the Canadian markets. Industrials acted quickly and strongly. Steels became increasingly active with the approach and start July 15 of the U.S. steel strike.

However, July gains were lost in August when Wall Street ran into a sudden reversal with easement in the cold war and selling in electronic stocks. Tight money was another factor.

OIL, GAS STOCKS MOVE

The market improved in November when the U.S. Federal Power Commission authorized importation of Canadian natural gas. Pipe lines and gas stocks swung upward and western oils gained sharply.

Then came announcement that the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission wouldn't exercise its options to buy Canadian uraniums after current sales contracts expire. Uranium stocks fell immediately and at the end of the year were still weak.

In December, trading picked up a little in response to increased dividends and year-end bonuses, although the latter were few and far between.

VOLUME DOWN

Yearly volume on the Toronto Exchange was nearly 760,000,000 shares with an estimated value of $1,847,000,000. Last year's volume was higher at 828,599,059, but dollar volume was down at $1,505,862,397.

Index changes at Montreal: banks remained steady at about 61 all year; utilities started at 148.9, rose to 162.1 and closed at about 145.

Industrials began the year at 297.6, rose to a high of 334.4 in July and closed around 320. Combined began at 248.0, hit a high of 274.4 and closed about 262. Papers started the year at 475.5, rose to a high of 494.8 and closed at about 494. Golds began at 89.06, rose to 92.77 and closed around 81.

Volume for the year at Montreal was nearly 144,000,000 shares with an estimated value of $895,000,000 as compared to a turnover of 134,160,033 shares in 1958 valued at $740,906,793.

Canada's External Relations Progressed, Says Prince MP

Following is the New Year's message from Dr. Orville Phillips, Member of Parliament for Prince:

"As we stand at the threshold of the new year, I feel that all Canadians can look back with a great deal to be thankful for during the year 1959. It has been a good year for Canada and the Canadian people.

"The past year has been an active one in international relations and Canada played a big part in international affairs during this past year. In this respect we lost one of the best loved Canadians who I am sure would have contributed to international affairs with the same measure of success as he contributed to federal affairs, namely the Hon. Sydney Smith.

"We were most fortunate, however, in having a man like the Hon. Howard Green to step in to this post and establish himself and Canada as leaders in international affairs. During the year we were pleased to have many international leaders visit our country and to have been able to play our part in the arranging of a summit conference in 1960—a conference designed to ease international tension.

"We were, of course, exceedingly happy that the year 1959 saw our Queen visit Canada from coast to coast and to cement our ties of the Commonwealth.

"The past year was again a record year in as far as the gross national product of our country is concerned. It was a year of record prosperity in all fields and it is with pride that we can say that our economy continued to expand and that the average Canadian enjoyed even greater prosperity.

DR. O. H. PHILLIPS

Locally the people of this province experienced a good year with employment being at an all time high, good crops and increase in income. We have indeed a great deal to be thankful for in this province. As we continue to expand I feel that we are only standing on the threshold of continued expansion and prosperity for our province.

"As we look forward to 1960 I trust we will do so with hope and faith and that this year will bring even mre joy and prosperity to each and every Islander.

Dr. Orville H. Phillips, MP.

Review Of Nfld's. Legislation Will Not Affect Decertification

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Premier Joseph Smallwood says any review by the Newfoundland legislature of labor - curbing laws passed this year will not touch those decertifying the two provincial locals of the International Workers of America (CLC).

"When the legislature closed last year, the speech from the throne stated that some of the labor legislation enacted at that session would be reviewed at the next session," he said in an interview.

"That review will not include legislation decertifying the IWA."

The legislature passed unanimously last March bills which put the IWA out of business as a bargaining agent for 11,000 Newfoundland loggers, barred general strikes and secondary boycotts and empowered dissolution of unions in which it appears a substantial number of international officers have been convicted of "heinous crimes." The latter bill, Mr. Smallwood said at the time, was aimed at the Teamsters.

SEES NO TROUBLE

The premier, picked in a recent poll as one of Canada's biggest newsmakers of 1959, said he anticipates no further trouble from the IWA except, perhaps, "a few puerile propaganda efforts."

The Newfoundland Brotherhood of Woods-Workers, promoted as a replacement for the IWA during a bitter loggers strike which also gave birth to the labor legislation, now claims about 14,000 members.

Of a feud with Ottawa over what Newfoundland is entitled to under term 29 of the Confederation agreement, Mr. Smallwood said it is his greatest hope to settle the family squabble, quit politics and write a book.

WANTS TO SETTLE

He said he thought it was clear in speeches made recently in central Canada that he wants to settle the feud that started when Prime Minister Diefenbaker said special aid to Newfoundland would end in 1962 and the province's fiscal position would be reviewed then.

"I made a very strong suggestion. . . that I wanted it settled," Premier Smallwood said. "I want it buried, settled once and for all."

Confederation of Canada and Newfoundland had been a success. Practically every result was good for the province.

Red Accepts Summit Date

By VINCENT BUIST

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Premier Nikita Khrushchev Wednesday night informed Western leaders he will be glad to meet them in Paris May 16 for four - power talks.

His reply came only a day after the May 16 date was proposed in personal letters from President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Macmillan and President de Gaulle.

Khrushchev's letter said: "It can be noted with satisfaction now that the date and the venue of the summit meeting have been definitely agreed upon as a result of consultations among the governments of the four powers."

It will be the first East-West summit conference since the four powers met in Geneva in July, 1955. Of the four men, Eisenhower is the only one who attended as head of government.

Council Rehires S'side Manager

SUMMERSIDE— At a special meeting of the Summerside Town Council last evening J. A. Brophy was re-hired as town manager for another year.

The only change made in the town manager's contract was an additional clause indicating that the contract would automatically be renewed from year to year. His present contract expires Dec. 31.

In reviewing Mr. Brophy's record as town manager during the past years, Coun. MacCausland stated "It was a wonderful step the town took when they hired him. He deserves a lot of credit."

All councillors were present with the exception of Councillors Dewar and Arsenault.

Scully Hearing Set For Jan. 6

Several court hearings are slated for Jan. 6 at Georgetown, the most important being that of Joseph Scully of the Morell Indian Reserve. He is charged with attempting to murder his son Peter Scully with a .22 calibre rifle on or about Dec. 15.

Several cases under the Excise Act are to be heard as well as several cases of where drivers have been found under the influence of liquor.

All these cases were to have been heard on Dec. 30, but have been adjourned till Jan. 6.

Lieut.-Gov.

"The quotation reminds me that all the machinery of government, from top to bottom, has so far been unable to eradicate this evil from our midst. Obviously it is a problem that can only be solved with the earnest cooperation of every citizen.

"That is why I am making this matter the subject of my 1960 message. I appeal most fervently to each and every citizen, old or young, rich or poor, driving or walking on the highways, to exercise courtesy, caution, and common sense at all times.

"The "King's Highway" suggests freedom for all to enjoy its convenience, but no freedom should be granted to those who carelessly turn it into a death trap.

"I appeal to all citizens to think of this matter, and not to leave their good sense behind them, when they step into an automobile, or on to a highway, at any time during 1960.

"I ask those connected in any way with law enforcement,—the judiciary, the magistrates, the police, coroners and witnesses, to carefully and impartially investigate, and act as may be necessary, in all accident cases in which they may be involved, and thus impart to our citizens a realization that automobile accidents can be serious business.

"In view of the seriousness of this unpleasant situation I do not wish to detract in any way from it, and will therefore add no further comments, other than to wish one and all a Happy, Healthy and Prosperous New Year.
