U.S. Rocket Expert Comments On Russian Effort In Space

BATIMORE (AP)—A Martin Company rocket expert says that a manned rendezvous - in-space mission planned for launching from Cape Canaveral, Fla., will be a much greater achievement than the tandem orbits by the Russian cosmonauts.

Bastian Hello, directing the phase of Project Gemini that the Martin Company is developing here, said the National Aeronautics and Space Administration could have achieved tandem orbits in the current Mercury Program if the agency had wanted to.

"Provided that we had another launching pad (at Cape Canaveral), we could achieve this on the next launch," Hello said. "We could have two capsules orbiting simultaneously."

Martin now is engaged in modifying the Titan II intercontinental ballistics missile, making it suitable for launching the Gemini capsule which carries two astronauts.

Gemini, if all goes well, will make contact in orbit with an unmanned Agena space vehicle. The Gemini flights may last as long as two weeks.

Hello said the Gemini launching was planned for late next year. At Houston, Tex., however, officials of the Manned Spacecraft Centre gave the time as early 1964.

Informed of this, the Martin Company said it had not been told of any change by the government officials and was going ahead on the basis of a launching late in 1963.

Better Reading Habits Seen As Need To Fight Bad Books

By EDNA BLAKELY

HALIFAX (CP)—Delegates at the 42nd annual meeting of the Catholic Women's League were told "bad books are sold because there is a market for them.

Mrs. Hermon Stevens of Calgary, Alta., recommended that the league encourage good reading by its members and library membership as part of its adult education program.

In her report as national education convener, Mrs. Stevens noted that a great deal of the league's work was with retarded children. The league spent $125,472 on education in the past year.

Nearly $200,000 was spent on welfare work, Mrs. George V. Davis of Toronto, social action convener, reported.

Delegates unanimously adopted a recommendation from the Saskatchewan provincial council that "more attention be given to securing homes for the difficult, the maladjusted and physically handicapped children." Mrs. Davis reported that the league arranged 413 foster homes for 608 children and secured 116 adoption homes for 150 children in the last year. The work is encouraged among CWL members and their friends.

IMMIGRATION DOWN

In the citizenship and immigration report, Mrs. Ward Markle of Toronto said fewer immigrants to Canada meant decreased work for the committee but not decreased responsibility in visiting new families.

Much of Tuesday was spent discussing ways of overcoming a nearly $28,000 deficit accrued by the league's magazine, The Canadian League.

League president Marguerite Burns of Halifax said the deficit was caused by individual members who failed to pay the $1 yearly subscription fee.

Reporting for girl guides, Mrs. U. J. Pineau of New Glasgow, said there were 26,239 girls in 483 guide companies and 642 brownie packs under CWL auspices.

U.S. Government Displays Friendly Attitude To Jap

SAN FRANCISCO (CP-AP)—Now that Kenichi Horie is here he can stay a while as far as the United States government is concerned.

Kenichi, 23, got here by sailing alone in a 19-foot sailboat from Osaka, Japan—a trip of exactly three months.

His feat surprised authorities here and in Japan. The fact that he arrived Sunday without passport has been somewhat buried in the public reception being given the five-foot, one-inch youth with the quick, broad smile.

The U.S. immigration service thought it over and granted Kenichi a 30-day stay. But District Director Ralph H. Holton added: "He can stay here six months as far as we're concerned."

Kenichi had a vision of staying two years, to study, but that would be stretching the already stretched law to the breaking point.

"He's a fine boy and a credit to his country," Holton told reporters, "we're not going to require him to get out of the United States in a hurry."

FATHER HAS SAY

But Kenichi's father, Yoshio, an Osaka auto parts dealer, may have something to say about that. Japanese consular officials here said the father had sent them a message asking that his son be sent home as soon as possible, and promising to pay the fare.

The Japanese youth had not told his parents about his voyage plans. After worrying about him for three months they were happy to hear about his landing.

Japan had denied Horie a passport on the grounds his proposed trip was suicidal. Not only did he not have a passport but he lacked visa, immunization record, proof of financial stability and sponsor.

Talks Arranged On Lumber Trade

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada has agreed to a United States suggestion that representatives of the two governments meet here Aug. 27 to discuss trade in lumber, Prime Minister Diefenbaker announced here.

American lumber interests are seeking voluntary Canadian quotas on lumber exports to the U.S.

Mr. Diefenbaker said in a statement:

"The Canadian government expects that full consideration will be given to the long history in the trade in lumber between the U.S. and Canada and the fact that over the years it has developed into a two-way trade that has brought great benefits to both countries."

PAY CONTINUES DURING DISPUTE

BIRMINGHAM, England (Reuters)—Nineteen men who walked off their jobs after their tea urn broke, down were told here they will get full pay until their case is considered in five weeks time.

The men, employees of a Birmingham rubber firm, were disgruntled when the tea urn, built 40 years ago, let them down.

But the final straw came when they went to tell the foreman of their misfortune and surprised him "brewing up" a cup of tea for himself with an almost-new electric kettle.

A union spokesman said Tuesday that the men's case will be considered by the national joint industrial council for the rubber industry which meets in five weeks.

Meanwhile, the men have to turn up at the company only on payday to collect a full week's pay.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1♦	1♥	Pass	1♠
2♦	Dble.

Opening lead—five of spades.

I was playing in an international tournament recently in Juan les Pins, France, when this hand came up.

I was North. My partner was Mrs. Dorothy Hayden of Hastings-on-Hudson, N. Y., who has the outstanding record among women in national competition during the past three years.

Our opponents were two Frenchmen whom we had never met before. West doubled two diamonds, which was certainly reasonable, and led the singleton spade.

Mrs. Hayden took the queen with the ace and played a heart. West, afraid the heart was a singleton, went up with the ace, and East, not anxious to have any other suit led, dropped the jack. West returned a heart, which South won with the ten.

Realizing that trumps were stacked against her, Mrs. Hayden played a low diamond towards the nine. West took the ten, but was now endplayed. He could not make a play without sacrificing a trick.

Hoping against hope that East had the king of clubs, West led the ace and then the ten of clubs. Mrs. Hayden took the king and returned the five of diamonds, again subjecting West to an endplay.

If he took the five with the jack and exited with a club, declarer would ruff, play the ace and another diamond, and thus compel West to lead a heart to dummy's K-Q.

If he ducked the five, hoping East could win the trick, the outcome would be the same. West was licked, and he knew it. Actually, he ducked, and Mrs. Hayden made two diamonds doubled for a fine score.

The hand had an amusing sequel. Later that day, Mrs. Rixi Marcus, England's top woman player, came to me and said West had asked her: "Who is that tall, blonde, attractive Englishwoman who is such a good player?"

Mrs. Marcus recognized from the description that it was Mrs. Hayden, but she said: "If she's attractive and English, she's not a good player; if she's English and a good player, she's not attractive; and if she's attractive and a good player, she's not English!"

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
